Turk and British Reports on Mesopotamia in Direct Conflict.

GERMANS LAUNCH DRIVE IN WEST

And Its Success is Very Promptly Disputed from Paris.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Reports on the progress of the campaign in Mesopotamia are widely divergent. Constantinople advices, through Berlin, declared the British main army was retreating from Kut-el-Amara, where a force of 10,000 men had been left to cover the retreat. It was announced in the British house of commons on the other hand that after heavy fighting on both banks of the Tigris, on Jan. 7, the Turks on Jan. 9 were in full retreat, with the British pursuing.

The British announcement recorded the capture of two Turkish guns and 700 prisoners. It was also made known that Lieut. Gen. Sir Percy Noel Lake had been appointed to succeed Gen. Sir John Eccles Nixon in command of the British Mesopotamian forces.

Berlin and Paris likewise give varying accounts of the result of the German offensive movement in the Champagne district. Berlin declares that about 700 yards of French trenches were taken and held against a counter attack. The French statement asserts that the German attacks broke down and that after securing a temporary foothold in the French positions at some points the Germans were afterward driven out, except from two small sections of advanced trenches.

The fighting in the Champagne, which evidently was of a violent character, was on ground which the French had taken in the great allied drive of last September.

Interment at Toulon, France, of the consuls of the Teutonic allies, who were arrested at Saloniki, is reported in a Paris message. The consuls have been placed on the French auxiliary cruiser Savoie.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—(Via Sayville.)—The British army at Kut-el-Amara, in Mesopotamia, has now been surrounded completely by the Turks, according to

FRED LANDIS IS BACK ABOARD G. O. P. WAGON

Eloquent Logansport Mooser Asks to Be Enrolled as Republican.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 10.—Frederick Landis, of Logansport, former congressman and one of the most prominent progressive leaders in Indiana, today wrote to Republican State Chairman Will H. Hays, asking to be enrolled again as a republican.

"In order that your poll books may be accurate in this respect," wrote Mr. Landis, "I wish you would enroll me as a republican."

Mr. Landis made the speech seconding the nomination of Hiram Johnson as the progressive candidate for vice president at the Chicago convention in 1912.

TROOP NO. 2 HERE; NO. 3 COMING SOON

Enthusiasm for Boy Scout Work Immense, Says L. O. Wetzel.

Boy Scout troop, No. 2, was organized last Saturday evening by State Scout Commissioner L. O. Wetzel, at the First Presbyterian church with a charter membership of nineteen boys. The next meeting of troop No. 2 will be held next Friday evening at which time Mr. Wetzel will be busily engaged at Trinity Episcopal church in bringing about the formation of troop No. 3.

Troop No. 2 is composed of a very enthusiastic group of young boys and each one promised to bring a new member to the meeting this coming Friday evening. F. B. Bradley and A. L. Pape were chosen scout masters of this new troop.

Mr. Wetzel states that the various churches of the city are becoming very much interested in the work and that he is getting calls daily when he is at home from various pastors, asking him to hurry up and get around to "our" church. Mr. Wetzel believes that the Boy Scout movement is firmly established and that the coming summer will see Fort Wayne with a troop which can be counted one of the best and the largest in the state.

Next Friday evening the state scout commissioner will be present at Trinity Episcopal church, where the enthusiasm is also running high. Messrs. Farrell and Patterson will be in charge of troop No. 3. Troop No. 1 was organized at the First M. E. church before the holiday season.

BIG AUTO SHOW OPENS TUESDAY

Half Million Dollars Worth of Cars Will Be on Display.

SOCIETY WILL HAVE NIGHT ALL ITS OWN

Meeting of Automobile Owners' Association is Held.

Northern Indiana's most elaborate, most spectacular and greatest automobile show will open Tuesday with the largest display of automobiles ever in Fort Wayne. The finishing touches are now being put on, the cars are being put in place and everything will be in readiness for the opining day.

Northern Indiana will be privileged to see practically the same display of cars as are shown in the big automobile shows in New York and Chicago. The total display of cars will aggregate a half million dollars, the cars ranging in price from $5,000 down. There will be 40,000 square feet of floor space, providing plenty of room to show the cars to advantage and to take care of the tremendous crowds. The Auto Trade association, under whose auspices the show is being given, is expecting a total attendance of 10,000. Last year there were 7,000 paid admissions.

Besides the display of automobiles, there will be the government's good roads' display of sixteen road models, which in itself will be well worth the price of admission. L. E. Boykin, assistant in road economic investigations of the United States office of public roads, will be in charge and explain the different models. The question of good roads is of great interest to every automobile owner. Music by a band and orchestra will be provided every afternoon and evening.

Elaborate Decorations.

The decorations are gorgeous and most artistic and will be entirely completed by evening. Green and white is the color scheme, with hundreds of red and white chrysanthemums scattered here and there throughout both the Riegel building and the building formerly occupied by Myers' livery. The lighting effect is also beautiful and well arranged. The entrance to the show will be on Jefferson street.

Society Night.

Society night will be observed on Thursday evening, for which special vaudeville acts have been engaged. Souvenirs will be given to the ladies. At the close of the show a banquet will be given at the Commercial club to the visiting representatives.

Company E will have two booths on the mezzanine floor. The Anti-Tuberculosis league will have another, and an effort is being made to get Boy Scout officials to make still another.

The Overland Show.

There is another automobile show in Fort Wayne this week of no little importance and one that will doubtless attract much attention. The Overland company will have a show all its own and independent of the show being given under the auspices of the Auto Trade association, in its mammoth garage and sales rooms on Washington boulevard, west. Overland cars of every kind will be displayed, with representatives from the factory on hand to explain in detail every part of the Overland car.

Owners' Association Meet.

A meeting of the directors of the Allen County Automobile Owners' association was held at noon Monday, at the Commercial club, at which time action

COURT DENIES WOMAN'S PLEA

No Separate Trial for Mrs. Mohr, Accused of Husband's Death.

SELECTION OF A JURY IS BEGUN

Widow of Physician in Good Spirits as She Faces Court.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr, accused of having instigated three negroes to murder her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, a physician well known in this city and Newport, was placed on trial before Judge Charles F. Stearns in the superior court today. Mrs. Mohr is being tried jointly with Cecil V. Brown and Henry H. Spellman, who are charged with actual commission of the murder while the doctor and his secretary, Miss Emily O. Burger, were motoring toward Newport on the night of August 31 last. Mrs. Mohr was indicted as an accessory before the fact.

The three defendants pleaded not guilty when arraigned and the selection of a jury was begun. Owing to the reluctance of many veniremen to sit in a murder trial it is expected the work of empannelling the jury will be slow.

Mrs. Mohr, who has been at liberty under bail, entered the room dressed in mourning. She was pale, but appeared in good spirits.

Attorney Cushing asked for a separate trial for Mrs. Mohr, claiming that as alleged confessions by the negroes were to be introduced by the prosecution his client could not obtain a fair trial, but the court denied the motion.

Indictment against Dr. Mohr's negro chauffeur, George W. Healis, was quashed last week, when Healis was brought into court and did not contest a charge of manslaughter. It was disclosed in the preliminary hearings, the state will seek to show that Mrs. Mohr instigated Brown and Spellman to shoot her husband and induced Healis to stop the automobile in which Dr. Mohr was riding at the spot on a country road in West Barrington, where the murder took place.

LAST TRIBUTES PAID TO GEORGE L. ASHLEY

The Scottish Rite cathedral was filled Sunday afternoon to pay their last respects to George L. Ashley, who passed away suddenly a few days ago. Mr. Ashley was widely known as he had held many important positions, such as former Allen county recorder, treasurer of the Real Estate exchange and one of the best known business men in the city. The Scottish Rite Masons and Eastern Stars had charge of the services. The exchange members met at the Commercial club and marched to the cathedral, where seats were reserved for them. All other lodges to which Mr. Ashley belonged also attended in a body.

Rev. James Stewart, pastor of the Fort Wayne M. E. circuit, delivered the opening prayer, which was particularly impressive from the fact that it was largely through Mr. Ashley's influence that the speaker was reclaimed and converted at the Columbia street mission years ago, and he referred with deep feeling to the influence of Mr. Ashley upon his own life. Rev. C. Claud Travis, pastor of Wayne Street M. E. church, conducted the religious service, reading the twenty-third psalm and speaking briefly from the text, "I will fear no evil, for thou art with me." The interment occurred at Lindenwood.

LAST MINUTE NEWS

ONE OHIO REGIMENT IS ORDERED HOME.

Youngstown, O., Jan. 10.—The Fourth regiment of Ohio national guard, called here by the steel strike rioting, was ordered home today. It is said that between 600 and 700 men of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company have returned to work.

ROOSEVELT'S NAME OFF MICHIGAN BALLOT.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 10.—Secretary of State Vaughan announced today that he will notify former President Roosevelt that the latter's name will not appear on either the national, progressive or republican presidential primary ballots in Michigan at the spring election. The secretary's announcement was made immediately after he had received a letter from Col. Roosevelt requesting him to withdraw his name from the national progressive ballot.

WILL CARRY CAUSE DIRECT TO PEOPLE

Wilson May Make Speeches to Secure Laws for National Defense.

Washington, Jan. 10.—President Wilson possibly may put the question of national defense before the country in a series of speeches as one means of getting the necessary legislation through congress. The president today received several invitations to speak at banquets here, in Baltimore and New York within the next month and other invitations are known to be coming.

Officials indicate today that the president might take advantage of the invitations to lay the administration plan for defense directly before the people. As soon as the submarine controversy is entirely cleared up the president intends to devote his whole attention to getting the national defense plans through congress.

Beginning tomorrow the president will confer frequently with house and senate leaders on the subject.

THREE BODIES TAKEN FROM SUNKEN PACKET

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Three bodies were recovered today from the wreck of the Pittsburg and Charleston packet Kanawha, which sank in the Ohio river near here last Wednesday night. Two were identified as Mrs. E. C. Atkinson and Mrs. Ulysses Begle, of Racine, Ohio, but the searchers were unable to identify the other, also a woman.

The bodies were found huddled together in one of the state rooms. The women apparently fled there when the storm struck the boat. The river began to fall more rapidly today, and it was expected that before night fall search of the entire boat would be completed.

TWO HURT IN MORNING FIRE

Gasoline Tank in Automobile Explodes Causing Disastrous Blaze.

ESTIMATE TOTAL LOSS AT $3,000

Fireman Schulz Receives an Electric Shock and Falls from Ladder.

A fireman was hurt and a jitney driver was painfully burned about the hands and narrowly escaped with his life when the gasoline tank in a Ford automobile exploded about 6:10 o'clock Monday morning in a barn in the rear of 1526 East Creighton avenue, burning the barn to the ground, together with the machine, ruined the home of Mrs. Christine Himbert, 2316 Winter street and did damage estimated at $3,000.

Fireman Fred Schulz fell from the top of a ladder when he came in contact with a live wire at the home of Mrs. Himbert. His injuries, however, were not serious and he soon revived from the shock.

Harry Dome, 1524 East Creighton avenue, was painfully burned about the hands and as he was but a few inches from the automobile when the explosion occurred, it is little less than miraculous that his injuries were not more serious. The barn in which the automobile was stored belonging to Gus Weichle, residing on Lillie street.

Spark Ignites Gasoline.

Dome had been operating the jitney bus for several weeks and Monday morning, when he started to pull his machine out, he found that he did not have sufficient gasoline. He had started the engine, which was running when he poured in more gasoline. Suddenly there was an explosion, the gasoline having been ignited by a spark, it is believed, from the engine, as no other cause can be assigned. Dome was between the machine and the side of the barn and he is still wondering how he got out. In a very few seconds the entire barn was in a mass of flames. Dome attempted to push his car out, but found that he couldn't. It was then that he blistered his hands.

Flames Spread Rapidly.

The flames spread rapidly and soon the home of Mrs. Christine Himbert, a few feet east of the barn, had caught and before the arrival of the fire department the blaze had made rapid headway. An alarm was immediately turned in, but something was wrong and it didn't work. Mrs. Himbert's telephone also was out of commission. For that reason it was some little time after the fire had started that the department arrived. However, it did valiant work and succeeded in saving the surrounding buildings, all of which were scorched more or less. The damage to the Himbert property, together with contents, is estimated at $1,500, fully covered by insurance. The house and barn of E. Inman and a barn belonging

"WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH," SAID NOTE LEFT BY GIRL.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 10.—John Robart, wealthy head of the Robart Welding works here, was shot today at his office by Lillian Piper, a waitress, who then shot herself through the head, dying soon afterward. Robart's recovery is doubtful.

The young woman claimed she had been wronged by Robart and that he had cast her off. A note pinned to her clothing read: "The wages of sin is death," and gave her father's name as Wm. Ogden, of Richmond, Va.

Very Near a Settlement in the Lusitania Case

Washington, Jan. 10.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Secretary Lansing today had another conference in the Lusitania negotiations which both agreed should be described as confidential.

The ambassador expects to confer with the secretary again inside of a week and not again on the subject. That fact is taken by those conversant with the status of the case to mean that Germany and the United States have approached a point in the negotiations where only one more exchange between Washington and Berlin will be necessary before the long controversy is ended.

American officials in all quarters described the situation as "very hopeful" and reflected the view that a satisfactory settlement is in sight which will include indemnities for the 115 American lives lost and some expression of regret or disavowal which will be mutually satisfactory to Germany and the United States.

President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and the German ambassador are practically the only officials in the secret of the negotiations, but it is known that the principal point which has been delaying the final settlement was the phraseology.

Germany has contended that the best disavowal she could offer was her orders to the submarine commander not to repeat such an incident and that she could not disavow the action although she regretted the loss of so many American lives. The United States has been contending that the disavowal should be expressed in some way.

DIES TWELVE HOURS AFTER ILLNESS CAME

Mathias F. Kagg, Prominent Business Man, Expires Suddenly.

But twelve hours after he had complained of a pain in his chest which was not at the time regarded as serious, Mathias F. Kaag, for many years a well known china merchant in Fort Wayne, died at 5:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at his home, 1229 Cass street.

Mr. Kaag was able to be about the house the entire day and it was only after eating the evening meal that he suffered the fatal attack. The family physician was called and diagnosed the case as neuralgia. Mr. Kaag was seated in a chair reading the evening paper when he was stricken and he died before a physician could arrive. Heart trouble presumably hastened death.

The deceased was born in Wuertemburg, Germany, August 13, 1845, but came to America and directly to Fort Wayne over fifty years ago. In early life he was employed in the store of his brother-in-law, the late H. N. Ward, but later embarked in business on his own account, founding the china store which later became one of the important mercantile enterprises of the city.

Besides the grief-stricken wife, Mr. Kaag is survived by two sons and a daughter, Charles F. W. Kaag, Fred G. Kaag and Mrs. Luther H. Kiel, all of Fort Wayne. One grandchild and one half-sister, Mrs. Christiana Ward, all of Fort Wayne, also survive.

Private funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence, Rev. Samuel Wagenhals officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

STEINBRENNER.

Frederick J. Steinbrenner, proprietor of the confectionery store at 1426 Broadway, died at his home next door at 9 o'clock Saturday evening. Death followed an extended illness due to complication of diseases. Mr. Steinbrenner was born in Fort Wayne but for many years was engaged in the soap business as a chemist at Cincinnati. He retired from this business several years ago on account of failing health, coming back to this city nearly a year ago.

Besides the widow the deceased is survived by two brothers, William, of Dayton, and Henry, of Cincinnati, and a sister, Mrs. William Helber, of Fort Wayne. He was a member of the Maccabee lodge.

BRUNNER.

Mrs. Nothberger Brunner, wife of Cornelius Brunner, of 334 West Main street, died at the family home Sunday noon. She had attained the age of 75 years. Death was due to senility and followed a comparatively short illness. The deceased was born and reared in Switzerland but came to Fort Wayne in 1869. Besides the husband she leaves four daughters, Mrs. H. P. Lacy, of Chicago; Mrs. E. E. Morrison, of Fort Wayne, and Miss Anna and Miss Rose Brunner, of Fort Wayne. Two grandchildren and one greatgrandchild survive. Mrs. Brunner was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church and of the Rosary and Altar societies and Sacred Heart league of the same congregation.

Funeral services Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at the St. Paul's Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

RAMSEY.

Mary Louise Ramsey, aged three days, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ramsey, of 520 Baltes avenue, died Sunday morning at the family home. The body will be shipped to Linn Grove, Ind., for interment.

KOCH.

Benedict Koch, aged 70 years, died at a local hospital Sunday evening following a brief illness. He is survived by a son Joseph, of Indiana Harbor, and a daughter who resides at Auburn. The body is being held at Ulmer's until relatives arrive.

HABECKER.

Miss Maria Habecker died Sunday evening at a local hospital following a brief illness due to pneumonia. She was the last of an old pioneer family and had resided here her entire life.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Lindenwood chapel. Interment at Lindenwood.

ADVERTISING EXPERT HERE.

H. J. McKenner, of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will speak this evening at the regular meeting of the Fort Wayne Retail Merchants' association at the Commercial club. Mr. McKnner is an expert on the subject of advertising and his address promises to be extremely instructive to the members of the association.

FIVE NEW HAVEN MEN MUST FACE NEW TRIAL

Other Six Former Directors Acquitted by Jury's Finding.

New York, Jan. 10.—Five former directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad today face the probability of another trial on charges of conspiracy to monpolize the railway traffic of New England. Concerning their guilt or innocence of this charge the jury in the first trial was unable to agree. The five men are William Rockefeller and Lewis Cass Ledyard, of New York; Charles Pratt, of Brooklyn; Charles F. Brooker, of Ansonia, Conn., and Edward Robbins, of New Haven, Conn. The other six former directors tried on the same charge were acquitted in a verdict returned at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

In announcing that he would move for a new trial for the five men, R. L. Batts, of counsel for the government, did not indicate when he would resume proceedings against them.

The verdict was returned Sunday after fifty-one hours of deliberation. The final vote on the five defendants upon whom the jurors could not agree stood 8 to 4 for acquittal.

The jurors were unkempt and weary when they arrived at the federal building in the morning from the uptown hotel where they had been quartered at night. None of them had for two days been given an opportunity to shave or to obtain clean linen.

The defendants were indicted on Feb. 26, 1915. The trial began Oct. 13 last. It was estimated that it entailed an expense to the government and defendants of three quarters of a million dollars.

INSANE MAN FINALLY TAKEN WHILE ASLEEP

Berlin, Ind., Jan. 10.—Jacob Barra, an insane man, who has been holding out against the officers since Dec. 6, having armed himself and barricaded his home south of the city, was captured today by William Garrigus, sheriff, and a posse of seven men.

They were notified by Barras' son that his father was asleep. He had been sitting up all night, taking short naps only. He was armed with a revolver, a doubled barreled shot gun, a sharpened ice pick and a sharpened corn knife. Barra has been confined to an institution for the insane twice.

COUNCILMEN STAND PAT ON PLANT SITE

Hold Fast by Demand for a Central Location for Crematory.

That the city council is strongly disposed to stand pat on its demand that the new garbage crematory be given a central location and the site of the present plant on North Clinton street be abandoned for that purpose was indicated in the conference held Saturday afternoon by the board of works with President William A. Bayer and Councilmen Jacob Hartman, G. A. Rogge, A. H. Keller and Frank J. Schlebecker, of the council's special committee on garbage plant, for the purpose of discussing the board's plans. The proposals submitted a week ago by nine concerns for building a new plant were gone over and the members of the committee were shown what the board has under consideration. The question of the plans is not at this time considered by the council to be the uppermost issue. That body wants a central location and for several months had had in mind certain property in Murray street as a most eligible site because it is situated on a steam railway line and is in practically the geographical and population center of the city. The board does not believe it can command enough money to acquire that site and at the same time pay for a modern incinerating plant. The garbage plant fund contains about $30,000. The proposals submitted for a new plant offer crematories ranging in price from $6,000 to $41,000. Another conference may be sought. The board probably will not award a contract until some understanding has been reached with the council for that body must approve the contract.

FINDS DEAD BODY ON ENGINE PILOT

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 10.—Stretched across the pilot of his engine, Engineer John Riehl, of Lake Shore passenger train 64, found the unconscious form of Anton Crany, thought to have been a resident of South Bend, when he reached the division roundhouse at Elkhart Sunday night. Crany died in an Elkhart hospital a short time later. He had a South Bend paper, a program from a South Bend motion picture house and $61 in cash on his person. It is thought he was struck when the train passed through this city at 7:30. Police have been unable to locate relatives here.

MAYOR WILL TALK MUNICIPAL LIGHT

Mayor William J. Hosey has accepted an invitation to address a mass meeting of South Bend citizens, next Friday night, on the subject of the municipal ownership and operation of an electric light and power plant. The invitation came through Mayor Fred W. Keller, of that city, who has taken a prominent part in arrangements for the meeting, at which it is expected to launch a strong movement for municipal ownership in South Bend. Mayor Keller and other South Bend officials, who inspected Fort Wayne's plant and learned much of its successful operation while here a few weeks ago, have become enthusiasts. Superintendent Frank Dix, of the city plant, will accompany the mayor.

ROTARY CLUB TONIGHT.

Officers Recently Elected Will Be Installed at Banquet.

Installation of the new officers recently elected will be the principal feature of the first monthly banquet and meeting of the Fort Wayne Rotary club in 1916 at the Anthony hotel this evening. The gavel will be turned over to Frank Bohn, the new president, who will preside over the club during the ensuing year.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MAYOR M'CARTY IS GOING TO RESIGN

Chief Executive of Huntington Forced by Ill Health to Quit and Patrick Gorman Will Succeed Him.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 10.—Believing that by reason of his long illness he may not be physically able for many months to come to give attention to public business, Mayor P. M. McCarty yesterday prepared his resignation as mayor for presentation to the council at its next regular meeting, which will be Tuesday evening. Although his many friends urged the Mayor to postpone his resignation for a little while with the hope that he might possibly become in better physical condition, he insisted that he was neither doing justice to himself nor the people in remaining in office when for so long a time he has been unable to attend to his duties. The action of Mayor McCarty has been discussed among councilmen for several days, and the best step to follow in event the resignation should come up. When a majority of the councilmen were interviewed last evening the prevailing opinion was that some man should be selected who would act as mayor, and at the same time turn over the salary he drew to the family of Mr. McCarty. The councilmen have centered upon Pat Gorman. It is argued that Mr. Gorman can give his duties his attention, and at the same time is in a position financially to not look upon the salary as any inducement for acting as mayor in the place of Mr. McCarty for the city.

MONTPELIER W. R. C. INSTALLS.

Montpelier, Ind., Jan. 8.—One of the most enjoyable affairs in lodge circles for some time was the joint installation of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. in the I. O. O. F. hall. Mrs. Inez Twibell installed the newly named corps officers, while Mr. Lewis Reeves, of Hartford City, acted as installing officer for the post. Mrs. Bertha Twibell presented Mrs. Inez Twibell with a bouquet of carnations on behalf of the corps. Mr. Gray, past commander, Mr. Reeves, installing officer, and Mr. Adams, present commander, were each presented with a bouquet of the carnations by Mrs. Gay Millikan in behalf of the corps.

FUNERAL OF DECATUR WOMAN.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 10.—Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Susanah Ritter, who died at the home of her son, David Ritter, in this city. Mrs. Ritter was born in Ohio on October 20, 1832 and at death was 83 years, 2 months and 17 days old. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Roop and was reared in the vicinity of Willshire, Ohio. In young womanhood she was united in marriage to Tobias Ritter, who died many years ago. For a long time Mrs. Ritter had been in failing health, due to her increasing years. Mrs. Ritter is survived by three sons and two daughters.

THE LADY AND THE TIGER.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 10.—The first of the liquor law violation indictments returned by the grand jury at their November session was brought to trial in the circuit court today, when Mrs. Martha A. Wills, owner of the drug store at Sidney, will be tried. The trial is before a jury and the first in which the jury has been summoned during the December term. The indictment was returned against John B. Wills and Martha A. Wills, but before Wills was arrested he was informed that an indictment would probably be returned and he left the county for the state of Alabama in order to avoid arrest. As Mrs. Wills was part owner of the store she was arrested and gave bonds for her appearance.

WORKING ON NEW CLUE.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 10.—The authorities today were working on a new clew in the Rapp slaughter house robbery case. Instead of suspecting local talent, it is now believed that the theft was committed by someone living in a nearby town. A Ford auto truck was seen near the slaughter house on the night of the robbery and the officers have succeeded, it is said, in learning to whom the truck belonged. Two search warrants were issued today, but were not used, further investigation proving that there was not evidence enough against the men named in the affidavits to warrant searching their homes.

TYPHOID PATIENTS BETTER.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 10.—The condition of Mrs. A. J. Strauss and son Herman, who have been seriously ill at their home, corner Mitchell and Orchard street, with typhoid fever, is somewhat improved today. The temperaures of both patients are somewhat lower and hopes of their immediate recovery are now entertained. Investigation made on the part of the health officials has thus far revealed no apparent cause of the origin of the disease. Bottles of milk and water have been sent to the state department for analysis.

..SEIZES WOMAN IN DARK.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 10.—David Long, a local laborer, while laboring under the dementia of intoxicants, grabbed Mrs. Josephine Berry, an employe at a local restaurant, as she was crossing the Clover Leaf railroad tracks at a lonely point. She screamed and tore loose from his grasp, and called Night Patrolman Ed Wingfield, whom she found at the Clover Leaf station. Long pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge in Mayor Mock's court and went to jail for eleven days.

HEARS DIVORCE SUIT IN CAMERA.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 8.—The divorce case of Mrs. Hattie McDowell against Homer McDowell was continued here today behind closed doors in the circuit court, before Judge W. H. Eichhorn. Sensational evidence attracted a crowd of curious "buzzards." In addition to a fight on the decree of divorce is a fight over the custody of a six-year-old daughter.

CHURCH SOLD FOR MISSION.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 10.—The old United Presbyterian church, on West Cherry street, was sold Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clark, superintendent of the Cherry street mission, who will have the mission incoporated as a regular institution under the state laws.

JAY PHYSICIANS ELECT.

Portland, Ind., Jan. 10.—The Jay County Medical society in meeting here elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, Dr. C. W. Mackey, Portland; vice president, Dr. E. C. Garber, Dunkirk; secretary-treasurer, Dr. John S. Hickman, Pennville.

MRS. DUGAN ILL AT DECATUR.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Charles A. Dugan, of this city, is dangerously ill at her home with pneumonia and physicians are in almost constant attendance. Mrs. Dugan's mother, the late Mrs. Samantha Dorwin, one of the most widely known women of Decatur and Adams county, was buried Saturday afternoon from the Dugan residence.

When a man's efficiency is on the decline—when after a long day of effort the mass of work still stares him in the face—it's time to find out what's wrong.

Frequently a lack of certain necessary nutritive elements, in the daily diet, lessen mental and physical activity. A prime factor in efficiency is right feeding.

No food supplies, in such splendid proportion, all the rich nourishment of the field grains, for keeping the mental and physical forces upbuilt and in trim, as

Grape-Nuts

Made of whole wheat and malted barley this famous pure food supplies the vital mineral salts, often lacking in the ordinary daily diet, but imperative in building sturdy mental, physical and nervous energy.

Then, too, there's a wonderful return of power for the small effort required in the digestion of Grape-Nuts, which, with, cream or good milk supplies complete nourishment.

Bowser Salesmen Have Returned to Their Respective Districts.

A few of the Bowser Pacemakers remained over Sunday in the city, to spend the day with relatives and friends, but the majority of them left Friday night and Saturday for their respective homes and are no doubt today getting things in readiness for commencing an aggressive business campaign with the idea of accomplishing even more in 1916 than they did in 1915. Conditions at the local plant have resumed the normal also and business is being pushed along with all the vim the live wires back of it can generate. A new district office was organized and announced Saturday by General Manager S. B. Bechtel and next year there will be at least one more "bunch" of pacemakers at the convention. The new district office will be located at Memphis, Tenn., with H. W. Brown, formerly of the Atlanta office, at the head. Mr. Brown has been succeeded by H. C. Carpenter, manager of the New York city office. Another change involves the transfer of E. D. Carriger from Chicago, where he was assistant manager, to Louisville, to succeed E. J. Gallmeyer, transferred to Fort Wayne as editor of the Bowser Boomer.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Proverbs 13:5-18.

1 A wise son heareth his father's instruction. but a scorner heareth not rebuke.

2 A man shall eat good by the fruit of his mouth: but the soul of the transgressors shall eat violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life: but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction.

4 The soul of the sluggard desireth, and hath nothing: but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat.

5 A righteous man hateth lying: but a wicked man is loathsome, and cometh to shame.

6 Righteousness keepeth him that is upright in the way: but wickedness overthroweth the sinner.

7 There is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing; there is that maketh himself poor, yet hath great riches.

8 The ransom of a man's life are his riches: but the poor heareth not rebuke.

9 The light of the righteous rejoiceth: but the lamp of the wicked shall be put out.

10 Only by pride cometh contention: but with the well advised is wisdom.

11 Wealth gotten by vanity shall be diminished: but he that gathereth by labour shall increase.

12 Hope deferred maketh the heart sick: but when the desire cometh, it is a tree of life.

13 Whoso despiseth the word shall be destroyed: but he that feareth the commandment shall be rewarded.

14 The law of the wise is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death.

15 Good understanding giveth favour: but the way of transgressors is hard.

16 Every prudent man dealeth with knowledge: but a fool layeth open his folly.

17 A wicked messenger falleth into mischief: but a faithful ambassador is health.

18 Poverty and shame shall be to him that refuseth instruction: but he that regardeth reproof shall be honoured.

Candidates and Platforms

In the course of a recent address at Terre Haute, Arthur R. Robinson, of Indianapolis, who is contesting with James E. Watson and Harry S. New for the republican nomination for United States senator from Indiana, took occasion to discuss the candidate in his relation to the party platform. Mr. Robinson took the generally accepted position that it is not properly the province of the aspirant for office to attempt to dictate the platform of his party; that that duty is one delegated to duly constituted party authorities, and that too much meddling on the part of the candidate smacks of a dictatorship that is likely to be resented by the rank and file of the voters.

At the same time, Mr. Robinson holds, it is perfectly proper—if, indeed, not a positive duty—for the candidate to speak his mind on certain great moral question which may or may not be incorporated in the party platforms. Usually they are not. One of these in point is the issue of nation-wide prohibition, and Mr. Robinson has put new emphasis upon his declaration that if he is chosen to the United States senate from Indiana, he will vote to make the entire nation a "dry" nation. He desires the people of Indiana to clearly understand that fact, inasmuch as his party will probably decide against any expression of position in the matter in its state platform. It is very certain, also, that the people will want to know where their candidates stand on this question. Mr. Robinson's square-toed declaration has put his rivals in the hole in the matter, for it has been followed by a demand from many republican papers in Indiana that others emulate his candor and let the people know where they stand on something else than the question of tariff and preparedness. It will be a happy state of affairs if candidates can be forced to step outside the lines of party platforms and do some particularizing rather than so much generalizing. It can be done, too, without committing the political sacrilege of doing violence to the party platform.

An event of more than ordinary importance is the coming to Fort Wayne this week of Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel, noted physician, teacher, student and sociologist, for a series of addresses under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher clubs of the city. These addresses, to be given Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in various school buildings in the city, will be invaluable to those who are rearing children and to those who desire to know the whys and wherefores of correct living. Dr. Geisel is perhaps the foremost American authority in her special lines, and is everywhere recognized as a gifted woman whose life is consecrated to the highest usefulness. Do not neglect the opportunity to hear her.

The administration is said to have abandoned its effort to curb the congressional discussion of the president's foreign policy in dealing with ticklish situations brought about by the war, and has decided to give the solons unrestrained liberty in talking their various and several heads off if they care to do so. It had become very clear that unless some of them got an opportunity to do so before long, a good many of the surcharged statesmen were simply going to burst. Further weighting down of the safety valve would spell Danger with a big "D."

Many members of the progressive party in Indiana profess to be deeply pained by the fact that since his is the only petition filed for the bull moose nomination for governor, they will be forced to vote for J. Frank Hanly or nobody at all. They are now, it is said, basing hope on being able to frame a party platform that will cause Mr. Hanly to refuse the nomination. Altogether, there appears to be on exhibtions as much distress among the progressives as though there were danger of Mr. Ha ly's election on that ticket.

Speaking for the League to Enforce Peace, Ex-President Taft issues a statement to the general effect that business interests of the world favor the restoration of peace in Europe. It is assumed, however, that the business interests in this case do not include those manufacturers of war munitions who are making money so rapidly that their cashiers are some weeks behind in the work of counting profits.

One is led to infer, from certain intimations he dropped while in Fort Wayne, that Jim Watson entertains the conviction that despite the fact that Judge Olds delivered the Twelfth district to Harry New, when the Fort Wayne man got out of the senatorial race, the district isn't going to stay delivered. It must be admitted, too, that there are some surface indications that seem to justify the Rushville man's opinion

JOHNNY APPLESEED

(Dayton Herald)

The Canadian government is considering the advisability of erecting a monument in honor of the apple tree. It would do better to erect a lasting memorial to the man who, passing "through God's good greenwood chapel," planted the seed which was responsible for all the orchards of our boasted today. He may have been crazy—some folk held that he was, and we know that the Indians believed him to be of unsound mind, but he did a greater work for posterity than many a more conspicuous individual in the early history of our times.

More than a century ago a settler in Canada named McIntosh, when clearing a space in which to make a home in the wilderness, discovered among a number of wild apple trees one which bore fruit so well that he cultivated it and named it McIntosh red. That was one of Johnny Appleseed's products. He went far and wide through our northern border and over into Canada, with his scrip containing apple seed and Swedenborgian tracts, planting both the seed of material value, and, as he believed, of spiritual truth. He was a man of tenderness and mercy, and many was the time that he was able to save the outlying settlers by giving warning of the coming foe. The monument should be erected in honor of the man and not in honor of the thing that he made possible in the wilderness of the great northwest.

NOTICE!

The annual election of the Hamilton National Bank, of Fort Wayne, will take place at the office of said bank on Tuesday, January 11th, 1916, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 3 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing directors to serve during the ensuing year, and amending article three of the Articles of Association to read as follows: "The Directors shall consist of not less than seven or more than eleven stockholders." THE OTHER SIDE OF THE WAR

(Kansas City Star)

German scientists claim to have found a yeast that turns sugar into fat; and another kind of yeast that produces protein ,or meat, from sugar; and that they get from the air the nitric acid they need in making explosives; and have found a substitute for cotton.

"Raw stuffs which we can no longer import we have learned to produce sufficiently and in plenty, from the things we have," says a German newspaper.

English chemists have been busy, too, since the war began, and have found a substitute for milk, of which the London Lancet says: "It is chemically indistinguishable from cow's milk and physically shows close relation to it, having a round, sweet, fatty flavor not unlike that of rich milk. And yet, there is not a drop of milk nor animal matter in it, every part of it being of a vegetable origin."

After all, the world may find itself indebted to the war for blessings that come out of war's great necessities.

"TIZ" FOR SORE, TIRED FEET---AH!

"Tiz" is grand for aching swollen, tender, calloused feet or corns.

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, aching, tender, sweaty feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions.

No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "Tiz." "Tiz" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. "Tiz" cures your foot trouble so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never, hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25-cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear smaller shoes. Just once try "Tiz." Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it. —Advertisement.

KANSAN'S SHEEP ARE THRIVING ON WAR

L. M. Crawford's Flock, Held in Russia, Increased 66 Per Cent.

Cottonwood Falls, Kas., Jan. 10.—In a little town in southern Russian L. M. Crawford, sheep raiser of this country, has a flock of thoroughbred karakul sheep which is held there awaiting the end of the European war. It will be then before transportation facilities are available to convey the sheep to their new home on the Crawford sheep ranch in this county.

Again, if the report of the Russian authorities is true, and if the war lasts much longer, Mr. Crawford may have double the original number of karakuls he bought over there.

Shortly before the European war broke out, nearly a year and a half ago, Mr. Crawford purchased a drove of sixty karakuls from a Russian sheepman. They were started on the way to America to be added to the Crawford karakul herd here. The war came on, however, while they were in transit in southern Russia and there the shipment of karakuls was held.

Quite regularly every few months word is received from the little Russian town reporting the sheep safe and giving the number of the flock. Last, but not least, the reports always ask a remittance from the owner to cover what seem to be remarkably large feed bills.

According to the last account the sixty head had been increased to one hundred by the arrival of numerous lambs.

In Los Angeles, every hotel, apartment building and private house must have a tag on it bearing the name of the owner.

AN AZTEC T. R.

This statue was carved centuries before the real T. R. ever bared his teeth. The figure was an Aztec diety and in its day was worshiped pretty much as thousands in this country now worship our own Teddy. The statue was unearthed in the City of Mexico.

SHERIFF POST ARRESTED

Union County Official Charged in Affidavit With Murder.

Liberty, Ind., Jan. 10.—E. E. Post, sheriff of Union county, is under arrest, charged with the murder of Carlo Hurd, Christmas day. The affidavit was filed by Calvin Mise, colored, in the court of J. C. Smelser, justice of the peace. Post and a deputy went to the Mise home to investigate the report of a fight. Hurd resisted arrest, it is said, and the sheriff shot him through the heart. This is the first time in the history of Union county when an officer has been arrested for killing a man when acting officially and much discussion has been caused. Post's bond was placed at $10,000, which he provided.

PROMINENT FARMER TELLS OF RELIEF

Charles Austin Attributes Improvement to the Work of Tanlac.

Charles W. Austin, 65 years old, a prominent farmer, who lives near South Milford, Ind., 30 miles north of Fort Wayne, is one of the hundreds of people of this vicinity who heartily indorse and highly recommend Tanlac because of good they have derived from the Master Medicine's use. Mr. Austin said:

"Since early last spring I have suffered from rheumatism in my limbs. I slept very poorly and I had no appetite.

"I heard of Tanlac through the Fort Wayne newspapers and I decided to try the medicine. Since taking Tanlac my rheumatism has been relieved greatly. My appetite is now good and I sleep soundly each night. The first bottle of Tanlac brought results for me."

What Mr. Austin said Tanlac did for him the Master Medicine is doing for hundreds of other people of Fort Wayne and vicinity. Daily many people tell of the relief they have derived through use of Tanlac and the statements come from some of the best people of this community.

Tanlac is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, rheumatism, catarrhal complaints and the like and is a fine reconstructive tonic, having proved of vast benefit to thousands suffering from the after effects of hard coughs, colds, la grippe, pneumonia and the like.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Fort Wayne at the Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac man is explaining the new remedy. It also may be obtained at the other Meyer stores, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

SEEK STOLEN JEWELS VALUED AT $26,000

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—Jewels valued at $26,000 belonging to Lieut. Commander Cronin, U. S. N., and said by him to have been stolen from a trunk somewhere between Overbrook, Pa., and San Francisco, were being sought here today by detectives in the employ of the Wells-Fargo Express company. The trunk was shipped west when Commander Cronin was ordered from Pennsylvania to the Bremerton navy yard. The trunk was sealed when shipped and the seals, Commander Cronin reported, were intact when he opened the trunk here and found the jewelry missing.

OVER 300 NOW UNDER ARREST

Grand Jury Begins Investigation of Strike Rioting at Youngstown.

STEEL PLANTS WILL RESUME OPERATIONS

State Troops in Trains Nearby as Measure of Precaution.

Youngstown, Ohio, Jan. 10.—The grand jury today began an investigation into the rioting in Youngstown. More than 300 men have been arrested and a majority of these will be held pending the outcome of the probe which will be made under the direction of A. Henderson, prosecuting attorney of Mahoning county.

The gates of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company plant, which has been tied up because of a strike of laborers, were reopened today and preparations are being made to resume operations soon. Many former employes reported for duty and were at once put to work. The exact number to return was not made public. The furnaces are still banked, but workers were assigned to cleaning up and making repairs. No disturbances were reported.

Both regiments of the Ohio National Guard, which have been quartered on mill property since their arrival early Saturday, were removed last night. For the present they will continue to occupy their trains near the plant, but will be moved to quarters in other parts of the city and East Youngstown as soon as arrangements can be made.

Fred C. Croxton, mediator, sent here in an effort to settle the strike, continued his conference with representatives of the companies and employes today. Mr. Croxton conferred yesterday with James A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. He also plans to discuss the situation with W. J. Brady, of the Republic Iron and Steel company, whose employes are also on a strike.

SOUTH BEND POLES RAP RELIEF SCHEME

90 Per Cent. for Artists, 10 for Sufferers Not Acceptable Division.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 10.—South Bend Poles are up in arms against a Polish relief benefit planned for January 30 here. Mme. Franka Gordon Turgielewicz, eminent prima donna; Edward preiner, baritone, and Thaddeus de Wronski, of the Boston Opera company, are mentioned in the benefit musicale. Donald Johnson, one-armed pianist and protege of Paderewski, is another member of the company which was to give an entertainment from which money for Poland was to be derived.

At a meeting Saturday night all went well with addresses by Mayor Fred Keller, Mme. Gordon and Mme. Sohunska, of Chicago, a pupil of the prima donna, until it was learned that but 10 per cent of the proceeds was to go to Poland and that 90 per cent would be retained by the artists.

The meeting broke up in a row and Sunday, when final plans for the musicale were to be made, a petition of protest was circulated and signed by the mayor and other business men. "We favor a plan to raise money by subscription, all of which will go to the sufferers abroad, but withdraw absolutely from activities in any such ninety-ten plan as broached by this so-called national organization for relief of Poland," says the statement.

ITALIAN PRESS COMMENT.

Rome, Jan. 10.—"Germany pleads guilty," says the Giornale d'Italia, commenting on Germany's latest replies to America. The newspaper adds that Germany, by promising to give orders to insure the safety of passengers before ships are sunk implicitly admits that this was not done in the past, and she thus confesses crimes, the memory of which and the confession itself will be recorded in history.

Rushing the Bridge in Big East Youngstown Steel Strike

BUT THREE DEAD IN POWDER PLANT BLAST

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 10.—Three men were killed and a number injured in an explosion of smokeless powder early today at the plant of the DuPont Powder works at Carney's Point, N. J. It had been reported that a large number of men had lost their lives, but after an investigation the superintendent of the plant said that only three were dead.

The cause of the explosion is not known, but according to the superintendent there is no suspicion that the blast was due to outside agencies. The report that arrests had been made were denied.

The dead are: John Walsh, Nyack, N. Y.; Richard G. Barney, Philadelphia, and T. Wyndham, address not known.

The superintendent said the victims were employes but that they had no business in that part of the works where the explosion occurred. The blast was a terrific one and was felt twenty-five miles away. Wire communication with the plant was cut off by the shock with the result that the wildest rumors prevailed until daylight cleared up the extent of the accident. The property loss is small, as the explosion occurred in a small building of the plant. It was some distance from the main buildings.

ALL ANXIOUS TO HEAR MR. UNDERWOOD'S VIEW

Will Talk on Government Regulation of Transportation.

Chicago, Jan. 10. Unusual interest attaches to the mid-year meeting of the American Electric Railway association, to be held in Chicago, on February 4, owing to the fact that Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, has accepted an invitation to address the dinner, to be held on the evening of the 4th, in connection with the American Electric Railway Manufacturers' association and has taken as his topic, "Government Regulation and Our Transportation Systems."

Since President Wilson in his message to the Sixty-fourth congress, recommended an investigation by that body of the laws governing the transportation systems of the country, there has been much speculation as to just exactly what the administration had in mind, in suggesting such a proceeding.

Senator Underwood's prominence in the councils of his party, his familiarity with transportation affairs and his standing as a legislator, makes anything that he may say in regard to so important a subject of great moment and his coming address will be awaited by both transportation men and the general public with interest.

Two matters that are uppermost in the minds of public utility operators are down for discussion at this meeting. N. T. Guernsey, of New York, General Council of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, is on the program to discuss the first of these—"Valuation."

The second subject on the program is "Rate of Return," which in view of the attitude of public service commissions and other regulatory bodies in relation to the earning of utilities is a live issue.

In the membership of the association is embraced 37,000 out of the 41,000 miles of electric railways in the United States, as well as the most important mileage of Canada. Mexico, South America, Panama, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands are also represented.

TELLS OF NEEDS OF CHURCH IN BUSINESS

Hon. James P. Goodrich Speaks at First Presbyterian Church.

Emphasizing the need of the church in business, Hon. James P. Goodrich, of Winchester, delivered a splendid address Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church, the second of a series being given through the month of January by laymen under the auspices of the Men's club. The speaker declared that while the business man needs the church, the church also needs the business man; it does not need his money, but it needs the man and the good he may do in spreading the gospel and in promoting a better feeling and good will throughout the realm of business.

Mr. Goodrich declared that the church is the foremost factor in the battle to uphold a high standard of life with the present day mad rush for wealth and the greed for gold that permeates nearly all men. Many a man's character is divided into two apartments, he said, one labeled private and the other public. The speaker told of the downfall of Egypt, Greece, Rome and the countries of the old world due to loose morals and a lack of religious ideals. "Are we to meet with the same fate because we have not the time to give to the religion of our fathers?" he asked

Referring to Gen. Von Bernhardi's book, "The Next War," the speaker said that all the submarines, dreadnaughts and other tools and implements of warfare will be junk unless religious ideals be cultivated." He said he believed the church was rising to meet the situation that confronts it.

DR. SEAMAN AND WIFE HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Leap from Auto an Instant Before Machine is Hit by Train.

Dr. and Mrs. Kent L. Seaman, 331 West Creighton avenue, narrowly escaped death when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by Pennsylvania passenger train No. 2 on the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on the township line, about six miles east of the city at 9:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

They were returning in their big Chalmers Six from Decatur and just as they reached the railroad their engine went "dead." The next moment they saw the headlight of the approaching train and leaped from the machine. They had only gotten a short distance away when their car was struck and almost completely demolished. The train was brought to a stop and the physician and his wife were taken to Monroeville.

The train was in charge of Engineer Jerry McCarthy and Conductor F Rogers.

WILL STRENGTHEN STATE LAWS.

South Carolina Legislature Has Important Matters Before It.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 10.—Bills to make illegal in South Carolina employment of children less than 14 years old, and to amend the new prohibition laws so that only one quart of liquor per month may be shipped into the state to any one individual instead of one gallon, as at present allowed, are expected to come before the South Carolina general assembly which convenes here in annual session. It also was said efforts might be made to make it illegal to ship any liquor into the state.

DYE WITNESS FOR STATE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10—William M. Dye, brother-in-law of Mary Friedley Price, for whose murder her husband, Frederick T. Price, is on trial in district court here, was among the witnesses for the state today. The state expects to complete its evidence before adjournment tomorrow. Among the witnesses it will call are Charles P. Etchison, of Washington, D. C., who, when arrested on joint indictment with Price, swore he saw Price kill Mrs. Price.

Miss Adelaide Baylor, of Indianapolis, who is at the head of vocational training in Indianapolis, and who is an undisputed authority in the work in Indiana, addressed the Woman's league at the Anthony hotel on Saturday afternoon, and not only said much that encouraged those already familiar with vocational work but enlightened something like two hundred other women whose ideas before were rather vague on this subject. Miss Baylor made it quite plain that vocational work means the education of the girl as well as the boy, along needed lines of endeavor and more especially along the lines of making a home not merely a pretty place in which to live, but one which is representative of woman's best handiwork, the work of her brains as well as of her hands, the outcome of well directed and scientific effort, not merely the blundering along in mere drudgery, hit or miss, doing possibly not as well as the woman of a century ago who had not half the things to solve difficulties with as the woman of today may use in her domestic life. Miss Baylor also made clear the fact that vocational work does not deal just with housework but with other avenues of work and many opportunities are open to women in business life for which they should be well qualified but that at no time should the home be lost sight of any more than should the married woman shut her eyes and ears to what is going on in the world outside her domain, thus placing herself in a position to be wholly unprepared for any unexpected effort on her part to cope with possible financial problems that sudden disaster may bring to her. Girls should be educated to be independent of effort no matter how much wealth they may possess and all girls should have a practical education in managing a home, in caring for their clothes, in handling the financial matters pertaining to a home such as buying, selecting and caring for household articles and paying the bills. In summing the matter up Miss Baylor declared that every girl should be trained to take care of herself in some kind of work whether there appears to be need of it or not. Mrs. Fauve, president of the Woman's league, presided at the meeting with Mrs. O. N. Guldlin as chairman pro tem for the home economics department of the league which had the program for the day in charge. Mrs. Guldlin introduced Miss Baylor in place of the regular chairman, Mrs. Lee Ninde, who could not take active part. A musical program was given by Gaston Bailhe, violinist, accompanied by Miss Edith Foster; Miss Pauline Heckman, soprano, accompanied by Miss Hiser, who arranged the program, and by Miss Constance Bogart, pianist. There was a very large attendance of league members and teachers from the schools. The hostesses for the afternoon were members of the two Shakespeare clubs, the Library Table and the Hebrew Benevolent society.

Mrs. Carrie Martin has returned from a two months' visit in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. William Lawson will be hostess on Wednesday for the Utile Culci club.

Miss Laura Ellert has returned from a three weeks' visit with her brother in New York city.

The Minuet club of the Boston Conservatory of Music held a social affair on Saturday evening.

Mrs. William Fox, of Thompson's Cove, N. Y., is visiting Mrs. Frank Rogers, of East Lewis street.

Mrs. J. E. Hall, of South Harrison street, has gone on a trip to Pittsburg, Philadelphia and New York.

Mrs. Oscar Ankenbruck entertained recently in honor of her sister, Mrs. Bernard Speath, of Davenport, Ia.

Fort Wayne Couple Married.

Frank B. Tyler and Miss Ada G. Repp, of Fort Wayne, Ind., were married Thursday by Judge F. H. Stone at the court house in Hillsdale, Mich.

THE SUFFRAGIST LUNCHEON.

Fort Wayne Women Gather to Hear Miss Stearns, of Milwaukee, Speak.

The local Equal Suffrage league, of which Miss Elizabeth Sihler is president and Miss Linda McKinnie is secretary, made a record for itself in the matter of success on Saturday at the Anthony hotel in the suffragist luncheon at 1:30 o'clock, at which an address was made by Miss Loutie E. Stearns, of Milwaukee. Musical numbers that brightened the program were furnished by Mrs. E. H. Kirkland, contralto soloist, accompanied by Miss Helene Clifford, and Miss Constance Bogart, pianist. Prominent club women of the city occupied a table at the luncheon with Miss Stearns and included Mrs. Clark Fairbank, president of the Indiana State Federation of Clubs; Mrs. A. E. Fauve, president of the Woman's league; Mrs. O. N. Guldlin, chairman for the time being of the Home Economics department of the league, and Miss Adelaide Baylor, of Indianapolis, who later in the afternoon addressed a meeting of the Woman's league on the subject of vocational work in public schools.

Miss Stearns made a vigorous and interesting address that sparkled at times with ridicule and charmed at other moments with its wit and raillery. However, there was also much sound argument and logic in it, notwithstanding the fun. For instance, Miss Stearns made a concrete example of herself in speaking of taxation without representation. She said that she has to pay a city, a county, a state and a state income tax; that she has to pay a tax on what her home would rent for were she not living in it. "They send me an income tax in Milwaukee, where I live and also in Madison, where I work," Miss Stearns adding that therefore she paid taxes under protest, since she had no voice in city, county or state affairs except to vote for school commissioner. "If a woman can vote as a stockholder in any corporation in the land, why can she not vote in the civic corporation of which she is a part?" asked Miss Stearns. "There is not a corporation in the world that discriminates against its women stockholders."

Lydia Lopokova, the Russian dancer, has just confirmed the report that she is engaged to marry Heywood Broun, dramatic critic on a New York newspaper.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

A ROLLICKING FARCE.

Sam Hardy and Vivian Martin at the Orpheum in "Over Night."

Piquant Vivian Martin and Sam Hardy, the cleverest light comedian on the American stage are featured in this joyous farce hit, "Over Night."

William A. Brady produced the play two years ago and it had a great vogue in the leading theaters of the country. The story is simple and leads to a number of highly amusing complications. Two newly married couples start on their honeymoons on a Hudson river steamer, in New York, and the four young people get separated. One husband gets left behind with a strange bride; the other bride goes forward with the second husband.

At a Catskill hotel the ill-assorted couples finally meet and re-arrange themselves.

Tomorrow will find Marguerite Snow at the Orpheum in "Rosemary." Paul Gilmore is in the cast.

AT KEITH PALACE

GEORGE PRIMROSE HIMSELF.

Celebrated Veteran of Minstrelsy is at the New Palace.

With that celebrated veteran of some 20,000 miles of minstrel parade and several tons of burnt cork, George Primrose himself is the prime attraction at the New Palace on the bill for the first four days of the week. Mr. Primrose, with Harry Silvers, Happy Jack Lambert and others of his first and second part trouping days is presenting some snatches from minstrelsy, with the gags and songs right up to the minute. Mr. Primrose himself sings one of his best known ballads and does the soft shoe dance that spread the name of Primrose over the country.

Kelly and Galvin, the actor and the Italian, sprang some of the laughiest laugh stuff you'll hear in many a day. The serious minded wop with his surprising twists of the English language, is the best character role of its sort that vaudeville ever gave Fort Wayne.

Mlle Amoros and Ben Mulvey's vaudeville cocktail is a bracing draught. DeWinters, the ventriloquist, has a novel little act. In the first place DeWinters is a girl, but she fakes a man's voice to a queen's taste for a portion of the act and then does a quick change that discloses her as a very winsome little miss. She is a clever mistress of the technique of ventriloquism.

Because Miss Bell was unable to make a train connection from Detroit Mr. Valentine, of the team of Valentine and Bell, worked alone in the opening performance. During the remainder of the engagement, however, both the artists will be on the job presenting their classy bicycle novelty.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Fort Wayne people will be very much interested in this week's attraction at the Temple theater. The play which will be presented all week by the Temple Players is "The Lure," a remarkable play of the white slave traffic by George Scarborough as the result of the personal investigations which he made into the conditions in New York city. It is not the kind of a play, however, that will offend anyone. On the other hand it is the kind of a production that carries with it a splendid moral lesson and is the kind of a production to which parents send their young people. It is also a thriller and is intensely interesting. The customary matinees will feature the entire week.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

MARY PICKFORD.

"The Foundling" a Great Picture at the Jefferson.

Mary Pickford was the magnet that drew crowds to the Jefferson yesterday. This wonderful little woman was at her best and the opinion of all that had the good fortune to see the picture was that this is her greatest creation. As the Foundling, one of the most sweetly pathetic characters she has ever impersonated on the screen, she achieves the rare distinction of surpassing herself. The characterization, one of tears and smiles, of pathos and tender sentiment, will undoubtedly rank among the greatest film creations of this unrivalled mistress of the screen. This with the last episode of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" is for the last times today.

"Jordan Is a Hard Road."

Tuesday only will Frank Campau, Owen Moore and Dorothy Gish be seen in "Jordan is a Hard Road," a fine play showing the power of goodness and love. The added attraction is a galaxy of Broadway favorites including William Collier, Joe Weber, Lew Fields, Sam Bernard, Mack Sennett, Joe Jackson, Ford Sterling, Polly Moran, Mae Busch and others. They will all positively appear.

WAVE OF LA GRIPPE HAS BEEN BROKEN

Fort Wayne physicians believe that the wave of grip or influenza that has been sweeping the city has been broken. In some cities throughout the country, however, the epidemic reached serious proportions. In Fort Wayne the fatalities have been comparatively few to date.

The principal symptoms of the disease are fever, aching, chills and sniffles. Just because you see more men than usual with red noses is no reason for believing the crop of inebriates has suddenly increased. Neither is a snuffling appearance, coupled with a watery eye, a sign that the bearer is weeping. The troubles is due to la grippe and nothing else.

La grippe is no longer a plebian disease. With the rapid rise in the price of drugs, which have soared so high that it takes a quarter to get a bitter taste of quinine, la grippe has become a disease which only the elite can afford to flirt with.

Plenty of rest is given as the best cure, but it cannot be afforded by the most of the victims. If everybody who has the grip were to go to bed the output of war supplies would be badly crippled.

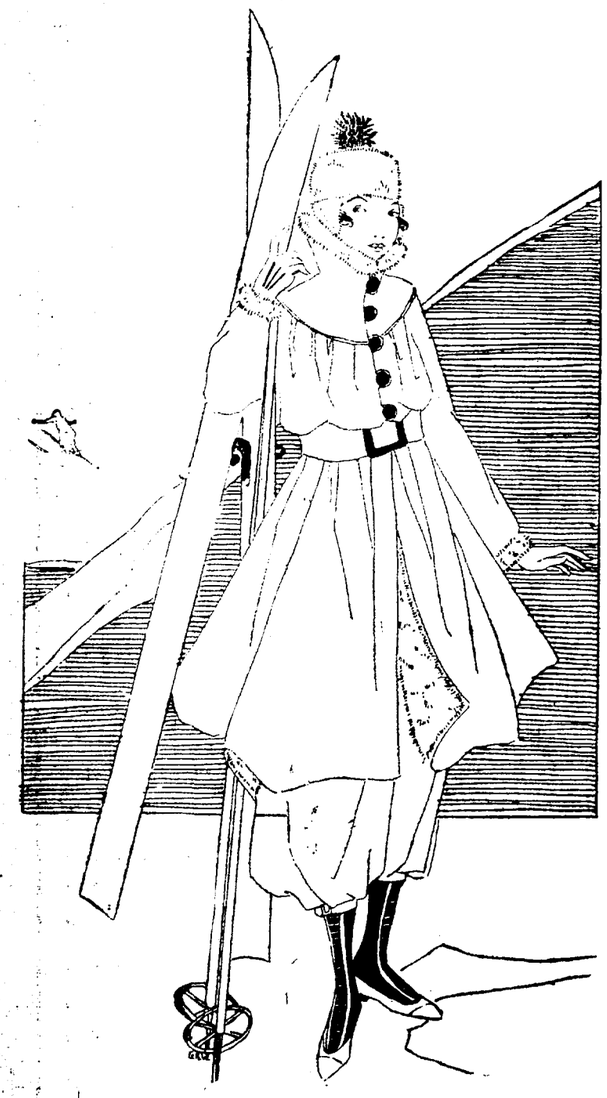
SH' SH' GIRL WHO SKIIS DOES SO WITHOUT SKIRTS



BY BETTY BROWN.

The winter girl reigns in the realm of fashion just now.

Foresighted designers may be planning spring modes but while she can make merry on skiis or skates the winter girl will give little thought to what she will wear next spring.

And the winter girl who skiis or skates is taking her out-door fun as true sport rather than pastime. Like the gir who rides or hunts, she has discarded skirts for the more convenient bloomers.

For a fashionable belle now popular at the famous winter resort, Chateau Frontenac in Quebec, Mme. Marguerite of the Fashion Art League of America has designed this boldly picturesque sport costume. It is made of pliable leather in West Point blue; the military coat is lined with squirrel skin; the English cap is of the same fur and the cuffs and collar are banded with squirrel.

BULL MOOSE LEADERS GATHER AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Several members of the progressive national committee arrived today to attend the meeting called for tomorrow, at which the time and place for holding the national convention will be decided upon. Practically all of the members of the national committee in the city have expressed themselves in favor of holding the convention here during the week ending June 10, when the republican national convention will be in session.

The republican convention has been set for June 7 and a number of progressive committeemen favor that date for the progressive convention, while a few say a day or two later would be preferrable. Committeemen will be the guests of George W. Perkins, of New York, chairman of the executive committee at a banquet tonight.

WAR CLAIMS VARY WIDELY

Constantinople advices given out today by the Overseas News agency. It is said the Turks have advanced to the main defenses of the British.

The main British army in Mesopotamia, according to these advices, is in retreat, 10,000 men having been left in Kut-el-Amara to cover the movement.

Germans Launch Offensive.

An offensive movement has been inaugurated by the German forces in the Champagne. Announcement was made by the war office today that French positions extending over several hundred yards at a point northwest of Massiges had been captured by the Germans. The conquered positions are near Maisons in the Champagne. The Germans captured 423 prisoners, including seven officers, five machine guns, and one large and seven small mine throwers.

A French counter-attack made to the east of the positions taken by the Germans failed.

A German air craft division attacked the rear guard establishments of the allies at Furnes.

On the eastern front an advance attempted by strong Russian detachments at Belestiany was repulsed.

DISPUTED IN LONDON.

London, Jan. 10.—(3:53 p. m.)—The Turks in Mesopotamia were in full retreat on January 9 with the British pursuing them, it was announced in the house of commons today by J. Austin Chamberlain, secretary for India.

There had been heavy fighting on both banks of the Tigres on January 7, Mr. Chamberlain's announcement stated, and the British had taken two Turkish guns and 700 prisoners.

No Losses in Dardanelles.

The British retirement from the Dardanelles was referred to by Premier Asquith in addressing the house of commons this afternoon.

"The house will learn with extreme gratification of the retirement of the force at Cape Helles (at the tip of the Gallippli peninsula) without the loss of a single life," the premier said.

"The whole retirement was conducted with minimum losses. These operations, taken in conjunction with the earlier ones from Suvla and Anzac are, I believe, without parallel in military or naval history."

CLAIMS OF THE FRENCH.

Paris, Jan. 10.—Heavy attacks were made yesterday by German troops on the Champagne, the war office announced today. The German attacks broke down with heavy losses, the statement says, and although they gained temporary foothold in French positions at various places they were subsequently driven out everywhere, except from portions of two advanced trenches.

Jacobs Music House

¶To mention Jacobs in Fort Wayne is to pronounce the word that stands for what is best in Piano Merchandising.

The Steinway Piano the leader

¶The strength of a name is well illustrated in the fact that when it is known that a Piano Merchant in a locality represents the Steinway Piano, his establishment at once has distinct prestige. This is true not merely because he has the agency for the most noted Piano in the World, but because it has been a fixed policy that only dealers of reputation and standing in their respective localities shall be appointed Steinway Representatives. In other words, it is the association of a Piano of world-wide fame with a Merchant who has won a position and standing in his particular locality. The Combination of the two makes the wareroom where the Steinway is displayed the natural rendezvous for people of the highest musical culture.

¶At Jacobs you have the advantage of seeing, comparing and testing side by side the finest and latest creations of the greatest Piano Builders. We offer the greatest values in the country. Our terms make it easy to own a high-grade Piano or Player.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.—Advertisement.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Tariff Commission Plan is Winning Friends on All Sides.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—By way of adding to arguments in favor of a permanent tariff commission—advocating this reform as a national business policy—the chamber of commerce of the United States declares in a pamphlet just issued, the proposal is not political. According to this authority before the tariff revision of 1909 was determined upon a commission was urged by advocates regardless of party. Every time there has been attempt in either house or senate to make it a party measure there have been affirmative votes from members of the opposing party.

In 1911 the members of the house committee on ways and means—the committee in which party lines are most closely drawn, the committee which bears the burden of the present method of formulating a new tariff, and the committee which accordingly understands most completely the inadequacy of the facts upon which tariff bills are now based—unanimously approved a bill for a permanent commission. Champ Clark, at the time the mincrity leader of the house and since speaker, said, "The demand for such a board is insistent and increasing. In fact, it is widespread and, in my judgment, should be heeded."

Where Business Is Concerned

For sixty years the tariff has been a source of constant friction between government and business, the national chamber document points out. Whatever the tariff policy determined through national elections, its application by congress has been accompanied by controversies regarding the facts of industry and commerce. As these facts have never been authoritatively ascertained, except in a few instances, business men quite regardless of political beliefs find the prosperity of their enterprises and that of their employees menaced by legislation based upon data which is inaccurate and incomplete. Under such conditions consideration of new tariff legislation inevitably causes apprehension and uncertainty throughout the entire business world.

Universal recognition is accorded to these circumstances. In calling congress into extraordinary session for the last revision of the tariff the president declared that among his purposes was a desire "that the business interests of the country may not be kept too long in suspense as to what the fiscal changes are to be to which they will be required to adjust themselves."

Idea Is Gaining

To prevent these disturbances, which have no excuse in any orderly system of national government, a permanent tariff commission is advocated by the chamber of commerce of the United States. In fact this is one of the earliest subjects which came before that body when it was organized. At the first annual meeting, in 1913, about 350 delegates who came from constituent organizations in some forty states adopted resolutions urgently advocating a commission. During the spring of 1913 in a referendum taken among the 343 commercial organizations then in the membership of the chamber, the votes cast were 715 in favor of a commission and 9 opposed. Each organization was entitled to from 1 to 10 votes according to the number of its membership. In 1915, the delegates in the third annual meeting unanimously reaffirmed the position of the national chamber, which had been determined in the referendum of 1913. At this meeting the delegates number almost 600 and formally represented 260 commercial organizations.

FORTUNE IN JUNK PILE

Twenty Thousand Dollars Paid Lafayette Dealer for Scrap Iron.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 10.— Oscar Winski, a local junk dealer, realized a fortune yesterday out of a pile of scrap iron he had been accumulating for the last six years. The heavy demands for old iron for use in making war materials for Europe, has advanced the price and a check for $20,000 was given Winski for his junk pile, which weighed 1,000 tons. A train of thirty-five cars will be used to transport it to the eastern purchaser, a large munition manufacturer.

SPEEDWAY RACES SHARED INTEREST

Indianapolis Program Had Much Attention at New York Auto Show.

New York, Jan. 10.—Perhaps no subject was of greater universal interest among the thousands of automobile owners gathered here during the automobile show than the coming season's speedway races.

During the automobile show, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the first built in the United States, issued its entry blanks for its sixth annual International Sweepstakes' Race, to be held in Indianapolis Tuesday, May 30, 1916.

The distance for this year's race is 300 miles. The opportunity to get rich "quick" is more potent for 1916 than ever before for the driver who is able to capture first place at Indianapolis, New York, Chicago and other speedway races.

There is just one little thing not to be overlooked, according to racing fans, and that is the word "quick." From the way the cars went faster and faster in 1915, the winning drivers have a most strenuous racing season ahead of them for this year. Veterans of the game believe that after the Indianapolis race, it will be practically possible to tell who will bank America's racing fortunes when the season is over, thus, aside from being the initial race sport of the year, the Indianapolis race will have even greater significance.

The Hoosier event will start at 1:30 p. m. and is for class "E" cars, non-stock 300 cubic inches piston displacement or under, maximum weight 2,500 pounds.

The management of the speedway, namely C. G. Fisher, president; A. C. Newby, first vice president; F. H. Wheeler, second vice president; J. A. Allison, secretary and treasurer, and T. E. Myers, general manager, have already opened the speedway's offices on North Capitol avenue, Indianapolis, and are busily preparing for the coming carnival of speed, which will initiate the new year.

It is interesting to note that every car must show a speed of at least eighty miles per hour in the official speed trials of one lap of the track in order to be eligible to start in the race. These speed trials are to be held on May 26th and 27th.

BOTTLE WITH NOTE IN IT PICKED UP

Had Been in Sea 16 Years and Writing Was Still Legible.

Houquiam, Wash., Jan. 10.—After floating about in the Pacific ocean for years, a bottle containing a note, probably written and throw noverboard by one of the officers of the schooner Transit, has been found on the beach by an Indian, Bob Wayne, near Moclips.

The note was dated Aug. 10, 1899, and was perfectly legible, though the writing and the paper were considerably faded. The message with the note read as follows:

"Schooner Transit, Aug. 10, 1899.—Ten days out from Honolulu, H. L., bound to San Francisco. Weather calm and baffling wind. All is well. Lat. 39 degrees 44 minutes north. Long. 156 degrees 7 minutes west. J. Peterson."

Wayne found the bottle on the beach after the record high tide of the winter, which followed several days of a heavy off-shore blow, which brought in a heavy surf.

Southern Mit of Ritchie M. is Most Dangerous, Says Kilbane.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 10.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, has fought across the country from coast to coast in the eight years he has been in the ring and has just come upon a left hand he says is the greatest in the game. It belongs to Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee lightweight.

"I thought when I beat Abe Attell for the featherweight title I had beaten the best left hand in the business, but I found a better one when I met Mitchell in Cincinnati the other day," said the champion.

"Mitchell had his left in my face all the time. There was not much sting to it when he used it for jabbing, but it was a tantalizing thing and it's going to do Mitchell a lot of good in his chase for the lightweight championship.

"Attell had a number of different ways of using his left, and it was always hard to tell what he was going to do with it. That left hand got him the championship and allowed him to keep it twelve years.

"Johnny Dundee has a good left. He makes odd use of it by leaping into the air and shooting it forward.

"Patsy Kline has a terrific wallop in his left, and Joe Rivers is not so bad, but none of them compare with this Mitchell chap.

Mitchell, according to Kilbane, makes it almost impossible for an opponent to try to "set" for a punch. The Milwaukee scrapper keeps shooting out the left in quick succession, and although there is not much power back of it sometimes, it is good enough to keep an opponent off his feet, and with it Ritchie is able, most of the time, to beat his antagonist to the punch.

There was something of a grudge between Kilbane and Mitchell as a result of a bout several months ago, and Kilbane went into their recent match determined to settle all doubt of supremacy. He tried harder for a knockout than in any other battle he has boxed in a long time.

The featherweight champion's efforts to step in and land a haymaker were repeatedly frustrated by Mitchell's left, which shot out time and again at just the right time to hold off his opponent.

"Mitchell has a bright future," said Kilbane. "At the rate he has improved in the past several months he ought to be champion in another year."

FRANK BIEMER TO ORGANIZE CLUB

Wants to Take Over Central League Franchise for Next Year.

For the first time since Jack Raidy locked up the gates of the Central ball park last fall Fort Wayne seems to have a chance to get into the professional game next summer. Frank Biemer, widely known in local sport and amusement enterprises, is taking it upon himself to organize a club to take over the holdings of William Klitzke et al., who now own the club. Today he is talking it over with the former owners, and there is a chance that they will get together. The outcome of the meeting will not be known for several days.

President Dickerson of the Central league, was in the city yesterday getting the factions together.

BUY HOME FOR ORPHANS

Masons of Jeffersonville Plan to Carry Out Wishes of James A. Holt

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 10.—Clark lodge, No. 40, Free and Accepted Masons, has accepted the offer of John C. Zulauf, president of the Citizens Trust company, to sell his home east of the city to the lodge, for approximately $25,000. The property is said to have cost more than twice that sum. The purchase is made by the lodge as trustee under the will of James A. Holt, who left an estate now valued at $250,000 to establish a Masonic Orphans' home in or near this city. The trust was accepted and then refused by the Indiana grand lodge, which finally declined to comply with the requirement to build here. The ten-year period of accumulation, designated in the will, ends in April, when the home will be established. Mr. Zulauf will live in New York, having two daughters in school in the east.

THE GIST OF IT.

"Last December I had a very severe cold and was nearly down sick in bed. I bought two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it was only a very few days until I was completely restored to health," writes O. J. Metcalf, Weatherby, Mo. If you would know the value of this remedy, ask any one who has used it. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

WILL BUILD COURTHOUSE

Commissioners of Carrol County Ask Authority to Issue Bonds.

Delphi, Ind., Jan. 10.—The county commissioners have voted for the erection of a new courthouse in Delphi at a cost of $171,000, and issued a requisition on the county council for that sum. The board found that at the present time the sum of $12,000 is in the treasury. This would be available. Authority was asked to borrow the remaining $150,000 and to issue bonds, to run not more than twenty years, with interest not to exceed 4½ per cent. The bonds are to mature in installments.

Clothing for the poor of Fort Wayne will be received at 1029 Fairfield avenue, and distributed to worthy people through the Fort Wayne Mother's club and the various charitable organizations. N1-15-tf

REDSKIN SHOWS CLASS AS COACH.

George Dietz, the Indian known as Lonestar when he was winning fame in football at Carlisle, has won fame as a coach. It was his team, representing Washington State university, which defeated Brown 14 to 0 when the team of the eastern college eleven made a trip to the Pacific coast.

Washington also beat the Oregon Aggies and on the victory over Brown gains rating with the good elevens of the east.

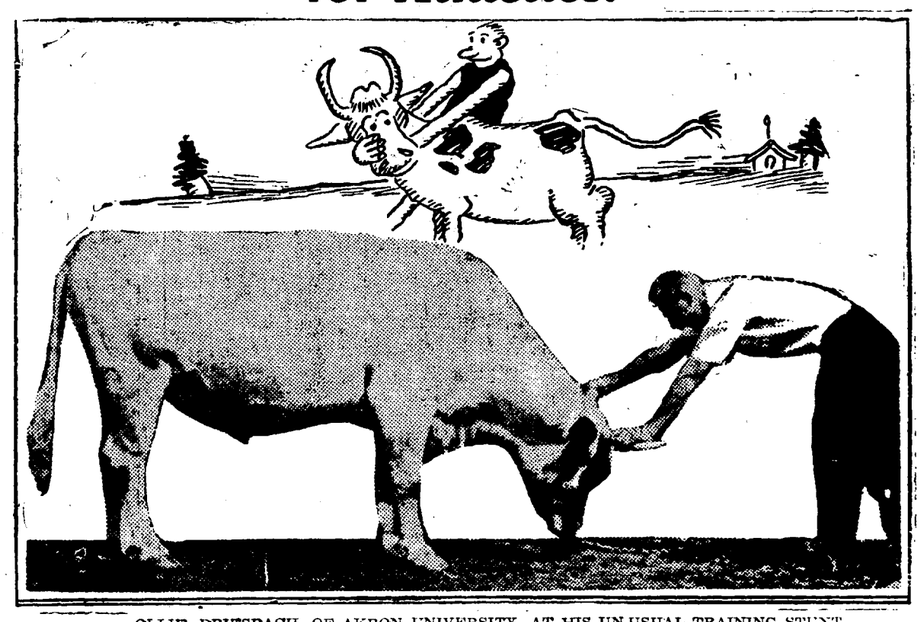
Collegian Wrestles Real Bull in Training for Athletics.



OLLIE DRIESBACH, OF AKRON UNIVERSITY, AT HIS UNUSUAL TRAINING STUNT.

Akron, O., Jan. 10.—Ollie Driesbach, of Akron university, wrestles a real live bull to develop muscles for use in athletics.

Driesbach is the strongest student at the college and attributes his strength to his unusual exercise. He is a candidate for the basketball team of this season and did such good work on the football team in 1915 he was elected captain for 1916.

Driesbach wrestles the bull almost every day. He walks into the pasture where the animal is kept, with a trainman's flag fastened at his belt. The flag never fails to attract the attention of the bull.

The athlete has been thrown several times in his workouts, but has always come back for more. He grabs the bull by the horn and wrestles with him in an effort to force the bull's head to the ground.

In some of the battles Driesbach has been tossed hither and thither as the bull has swung his head and ranted about, but the athlete has been able to hang on and save himself from injury.

Driesbach's arm and shoulder muscles are unusually well developed. His rare strength serves him so well that in basketball he can shoot the ball the full length of the gymnasium without turning his body.

The young athlete is unusual in his mode of life as well as in his selection of exercise. He camps out all summer long and at the end of each week in the winter.

Friends of Driesbach say that except in the field he never throws the bull. He is modest and unassuming.

BROWN HOLMES FEARS AMATEUR BALL WILL KILL THE PROFESSIONAL GAME

(By Brown Holmes).

The fact that a major league baseball club has failed in a city that stands foremost in the development of amateur baseball, is a matter that must be taken into consideration in figuring on the prosperity of the professional game. It is a matter that enters into the prospects of the sport even with the Federal league war eliminated.

In Cleveland the bankers handling the affairs of Charley Somers have ordered that his American league and American association clubs be sold. In the same city fans point with pride to two national amateur championship pennants won by Cleveland amateur teams.

During the past two years when only a handful of fans has been attracted to the Cleveland American league park, amateur contests staged on city playgrounds a few miles away attracted crowds estimated at from 50,000 to 80,000.

On Saturdays and Sundays when there have been more empty seats than filled ones at the fine, big league park, fans have crowded life sardines in a box on the hillsides of a natural amphitheater in another part of the city and yelled themselves hoarse as kid teams battled.

Cleveland is not the only city in which fans have taken strongly to the amateur game. The wave of popularity of amateur sports has been sweeping over the country several years. In baseball the development was so great intercity series were staged in 1915 and the White Autos of Cleveland went all the way to the Pacific coast for an east-west series for the championship of the country.

At first major league club owners encouraged amateur ball, looking upon the amateurs as feeders to the professional game and figuring that there would be benefits all around if the amateurs helped create a baseball atmosphere.

Little did the magnates know that in a short time the amateur game would actually threaten the health of their enterprise.

That such a thing has happened cannot be denied in view of the situation in Cleveland and the wonderful countrywide boom in amateur sports of all kinds.

There is nothing the club owners can do to change conditions. It is simply up to them to wait and see if, by offering a high class article of ball, with less commercialism involved, they can regain patronage lost during the past two years of inferior ball, due to the baseball war.

Until this is decided it behooves them to hold down a bit in their hopes for the future. The amateur proposition is getting bigger all the time.

EXPECTS CONTRACTS TODAY.

New Owner of Chicago Nationals to Consider Salary Question.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Charles Weeghman, new owner of the National league club, expects to receive today from Charles Thomas, president of the Cubs, the contract of the players attached to the team at the close of the 1915 season. Weeghman and Joe Tinker, who is to be manager of the club, have been in conference several days regarding the salaries called for in these contracts, many of which are said to be so high as to make necessary a readjustment of the proposed schedule of operating expenses during the coming season.

FARMER KILLS A BIG EAGLE

Elnora, Ind., Jan. 10.—Amos Ragle killed an eagle on his farm near here. The bird measured seven feet and five inches from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. It was first seen in the neighborhood about three weeks ago, when it carried off a goose from the farm of George Todd.

DOES SPEEDING IN RACING AUTOS GIVE PET DOGS HEART TROUBLE?

The newest disease is "auto heart" and the first victims, it has been found, are the pet dogs that ride daily with famous racers during their practice trials. "Silent Six," the pet bull owned by Mrs. Dario Resta, wife of the famous auto racer, is one of the first reported to be suffering from the new malady. "Silent Six" is here shown in a racing car with Mrs. Resta.

Kumagae, the champion of Japan, defeated Griffin singles championship last week.

TIGERS MAY LOSE $15,000 "BEAUT."

The Detroit American league club will be out $15,000 if Bill James, pitcher, bought from the St. Louis Americans, follows the advice of a physician in San Francisco, his home.

James, according to a report, is not strong and has been advised against leaving the Pacific coast climate. The Tigers bought James late last season, figuring he would give the club just the extra pitching punch needed to land the pennant. He worked in less than ten games.

Oldest Dance Master, By Crickety, Made New York Sit Up to See Him Fox Trot

The oldest dancing master in the country in action and inset portrait of Col. Kretlow, who is 71 years old and hails from Chicago.

New York, Jan. 10.—He is 71 years old, he wears a rubber collar and woolen socks and his whiskers, the flowing kind, reach half way to his waist—

But, by crickety, old Colonel Kretlow is still one of the best dancing masters in the country.

He hails from Chicago and has just proved the sensation at the convention here of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing.

Jealous rivals called him the "human fire trap," because of his rubber collar and his whiskers, which haven't been trimmed for 50 years. But the only thing the colonel burned up was the dancing floor of the McAlpin hotel.

Nor is that his only claim to distinctive dancing. The colonel, if it is convenient, prefers to take a cold bath just before going on the floor for an exhibition. He says it tones him up, gives him pep, and puts "spring" into his legs.

"You can say what you want about my rubber collar," he says, "but I want to tell you this—rubber collars are a lot more dressier than starch one's and much more economical."

Although Colonel Kretlow wears a frock coat when dancing, he is not a bit old-fashioned in his steps, no sir-e-e, he won't waste time on anything but the latest thing in fox trots.

And he must be good, for all the girls want to dance with him.

EVERYTHING IN THE STORE AT LESS DURING THE JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

THE WHITE SALE JOINS FORCES THIS WEEK WITH THE CLEARANCE SALE!

In the cheeriest and sunniest of factories where sanitary conditions are carefully looked after the undergarments for this JANUARY WHITE SALE of 1916 were made--painstakingly with great concern that they should be all we expected of them.

They have met our expectations, for better drafted, better made, more prettily trimmed, daintier, more truly beautiful undergarments were never made to sell at the prices of these.

Materials are snowy fresh, buttons of first quality; buttonholes and finish generally, perfect. That this sale should reach these requirements is a matter of course. But over and above this the Sale is full of new ideas, and is of peculiar interest to all women replenishing their inner wardrobes for the Summer ahead.

The great majority of the undermuslins included are of the moderately priced, durable sorts, which there is such a hue and cry after just now. Good muslins, fine nainsooks and cambrics, fine, firm embroideries, simple laces, all spandy fresh, are the foundations of this sale. And all these materials are made up to meet our standard for White Sales—cut over good patterns and beautifully stitched and finished.

Comptroller of Currency Tells of Vast Growth of the Banks.

Washington, Jan. 10.—"Development and growth never paralleled in the financial history of any country," is the way John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency describes in his annual report to congress, the operation of the national banks under his charge, during the period from October 1914, to November 1915, the first year under the federal reserve system. The report was today presented to congress.

Mr. Williams gives a comparative statement of the condition of the national banks to back up his statement. He shows that net resources of the banks increased in the year $1,743,878,648, that deposits increased $2,081,530,164 and that loans and discounts increased $917,450,502. Available cash increased in the same period $862,000,000 and on November 10, 1915, the reporting national banks had excess reserves of $891,000,000. Tables show the comparative condition of banks in 1895 and 1915. In September, 1895, there were 3,712 reporting banks with net deposits of $1,989,300,000 and loans and discounts of $2,059,408,402, while in November 1915 there were 7,617 reporting banks, with net deposits of $9,079,471,447, loans and discounts of $7,233,928,973.

Far Above Record

"The reserves held by the national banks November 10, 1915," says the report, "exceeded by $587,000,000 the greatest reserves ever held at any time prior to the passage of the federal reserve act. Loans and discounts amounted to more than the total loans and discounts of all banks, including national, state, savings and private banks and loan and trust companies—as late as the year 1902."

Mr. Williams says that the "banking power" of the United States—the capital surplus, circulation deposits, etc.,—of all reporting banks, national and otherwise, with an estimate of the figures for non-reporting banks, amounted in June 1915, to $25,397,100,000, an increase in a year of about $1,057,000,000. Savings bank depositors increased by 376,256 during the year ending last June, with total deposits of $4,997,706,013, an increase of $61,114,163. The average deposit, however, decreased from $444.36 to $442.83, while the number of banks increased from 2,100 to 2,159.

What He Recommends.

The comptroller's principal recommendation for legislation is for an amendment to the Bank law authorizing and directing the department of justice to bring suits against usurers upon information furnished either by the comptroller or through other sources.

Other recommendations given under a heading To Prevent Bank Failures, propose: To prohibit officers from borrowing from their own banks; to prevent loans to directors except with the approval of the board; to require officers and employees to give surety bonds; to limit direct and indirect loans to one individual, form or corporation; to prevent or limit overdrafts; to require certificates of deposit to be signed by two directors; to prevent erasures on the books o ofa bank; to limit interest paid on deposits; to authorize the establishment of branches in the United States; to permit branches in Alaska and insular possessions; to authorize minimum interest charges—which ordinarily might be usurious—on small loans and to authorize the comptroller to bring proceedings against directors for losses sustained by a bank through violation of the bank act.

The report renews the comptroller's recommendations of last year for other legislation, including the giving of authority to the comptroller to remove directors guilty of persistent violations of the bank act.

Why Banks Are Broken

"Banks," says Mr. Williams, "nearly always are broken, not by bank robbers, who have come from the outside, not by failure of customers to whom they have lent money, but by the tying up or dissipation of the banks' funds through loans to their own officers and directors, or else by direct defalcations and embezzlements by trusted officers. If these evils are remedied—and they can be remedied if certain simple and much needed amendments can be secured to the national bank act—failures among national banks can be reduced to a neglible number, or be absolutely eliminated."

Mr Wililams shows there were 14 failures during the 12 months ended October 31. In the last 50 years, he says, there were 208 failures attributable to criminal acts while injudicious or careless banking was responsible for 136 others.

The comptroller devotes much space to presenting his side of his fight with national banks to prevent the charging of usurious interest rates. He gives tables of loans by banks in different sections to back up his charge and says that complaints have come of this practice particularly directed against small banks in the south and southwest, west and northwest.

"It is time," says the report, "for all banks of this country to realize that the federal reserve act was framed to benefit not only the banks, but also the customers of the banks; that one of the great objects of the law was to decentralize the money of the country; to effect a more equitable distribution of capital and do away with the old system, by which the resources of our banks have been so greatly concentrated in a few cities or sections, there to be loaned out largely on speculative ventures, while in other regions money needed so urgently for the legitimate purposes of industry and of development has been scarce and often times obtainable only, if at all, at rates injurious if not prohibitory."

Mr. Williams says that usury unchecked means "depopulation, hopelessness, thriftlessness and resulting loss of producing capacity." He closes with the statement that intimate connection with the affairs of his office has shown that the large majority of American bankers are honest and anxious to obey the laws, patriotic and intent on building up their communities and the country.

Speaking of the federal reserve system, Mr. Williams says the withdrawal of reserve funds from banks in the large cities and their transfer to reserve banks has not caused the predicted "convulsion from which the whole country would suffer." "The business and commerce of the United States," he points out in this connection, "have not contracted. They have expanded to dimensions never before reached."

The report adds that if the reserve act is amended so that all reserves ultimately to be transferred to reserve banks be withdrawn now instead of at at the end of three years as the law now provides, there will be no disturbance or inconvenience to the national banks, which hold the funds to be transferred.

DECATUR NEWS.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 10.—Miss Ina Wright, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday here with Miss "Tonk" Meibers.

Mrs. John Niblick writes from West Palm Beach, Fla., that her sister, Mrs. Hattie Studebaker Obenauer, is recovering; that she is gaining strength slowly and that the family is greatly encouraged but that she is not yet out of danger.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heuer, Misses Grace and Ruby Miller, Bess Schrock, Freda Wemhoff, Mrs. F. M. Schirmeyer and Mrs. W. P. Schrock were among those from here who heard Mme. Louise Homer and the Baihle trio concert in Fort Wayne.

Miss Pearl Carpenter returned to Fort Wayne after a visit here with her grandmother, Mrs. John Coots. She was accompanied home by Leona Thompson.

Miss Corinne Leedy returned to Fort Wayne after a visit here with Miss Leah Hensley.

Mrs. E. Rockstroh returned to Fort Wayne after a visit here.

Miss Agnes Miller visited with relatives in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Jessie Deam was called to Indianapolis by the death of her brother, Rufus K. Allison, who died of a sudden attack of the heart. She was accompanied by Mrs. P. G. Hooper and Mrs. P. B. Thomas. Mrs. Allison is also quite ill.

Alfred Gehrig fell while playing basketball and sprained and bruised his shoulder.

Eugene Durkin, son of T. J. Durkin, was shot in the ankle by a large air rifle in the hands of a playmate. The stocking was carried in with the bullet, which penetrated the large tendon of the foot quite a depth and was then pulled out again with the stocking.

The funeral of Susannah Ritter, 83, was held this afternoon at the United Brethren church.

Miss Rose Conter entertained the Friday Night Bridge club in a pleasing way.

George A. Kinta went to Fort Wayne for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Lankenau.

The Daughters of Dorcas were entertained by Miss Flora Fledderjohann.

The Zion Lutheran Ladies' Aid elected Mrs. C. Boknecht president, Mrs. Fred Scheumann treasurer, and Miss Martha Koldewey secretary.

The jury failed to agree in the $25,000 breach of promise suit of Sarah Miller, 53, against Samuel Barger, a wealthy Magley farmer. A new trial will be held.

CASE IS DISMISSED WHEN STATE RESTS

Action Against the Maier Fur Co. Fails Because of a Defect.

After putting in three hours Monday morning listening to the testimony of the state in the action brought against the Maier Hide & Fur company, of West Columbia street, for maintaining a public nuisance, the city court sustained a motion of the counsel for defense and dismissed the suit. The ground of the motion was that the summons upon the defendant was faulty because the affidavit had not been read when it was served. A dozen witnesses for the state—business men and their employes on West Columbia street—had testified against the defendant to the effect that offensive orders came from the hide and fur store and the prosecution then rested. Attorneys Frank J. Belot and Joseph M. Haley for the defense then moveed a dismissal, which was granted. The state prepared a new summons to be served Monday afternoon and the case will be retried.

Ex-Convict Given Time to Get Out.

George Mitchell, an ex-convict arrested by Detective Sergeants Walter Immel and M. A. Rundell, was arraigned as a suspicious vagrant and promised to get out of town at once if given a chance. He was turned loose. Mitchell was sent to the Ohio penitentiary in October, 1911, for stabbing a man during a fight in Toledo. He served a year and a half and was released. His identification was established by Detective-Sergeant Joseph Brennan, of the Fort Wayne Bertillon bureau.

Other City Court Cases.

Percy Whitehead and Earl Harris, two 17-year-old lads arrested for vagrancy, were allowed to go, promising to find work. Whitehead ran away from his home in Goshen and the police were asked to look for him here. He told the court that he could not get along at home and there was nothing to be gained going back. Harris said he was a draughtman's assistant and left home in Grand Rapids because his job was paying him too little and he did not want to burden his parents.

Frank Rathert, charged with disorderly conduct, was having trouble in his home on North Clinton street and the police were called. He promised to be good and was allowed to go.

Ed Gillen, who was released from jail Saturday, picked up drunk Sunday and arraigned Monday, went to jail for another fifteen days.

Jim Gibson, a vagrant who was begging on the streets, drew $5 and costs and went to jail, while Henry Ryan, who was a nice sober vag, was given a chance to leave town.

Charles Rutherford and Curtis Hulbert, drunks, were turned loose.

HATTIE HAD COMPANY.

While Detective Sergeant W. F. Pappert was looking for a young girl the police department has been asked to apprehend he went into the apartments of Fannie Zaugg, a well known police character, at 622½ Clinton street, Monday morning. He found Hattie and Oscar Little under circumstances that warranted arrest and both were locked up on a charge of specific immorality. Little, who stands about 6 feet 6, is employed as a motorman on the city car lines. Hattie was much cast down because she expects to go into court this week to defend herself in a divorce suit.

NOTES OF THE POLICE.

George Coling, for twelve years a member of the Fort Wayne police department as patrolman and detective, but now employed as chief inspector of the Pennsylvania railway police, with headquarters in Pittsburg, is in the city visiting friends.

Chef of Police Charles Lenz is having trouble keeping the patrol beats properly covered owing to the number of his men who are sick. Patrolmen Greer, Kavanaugh, Laughlin and Murphy are off duty owing to attacks of grip and Lieut. Harry Grimme, day commandant, is at home trying to fight off an attack of the malady.

REV. F. A. SHERIDAN SPEAKS

To Members of Cathedral Holy Name and Married Men's Sodality.

Rev. F. A. Sheridan, C.S.V., member of the faculty of St. Viator's college at Bourbonnais, Ill., spoke to the members of the Holy Name society and Married Men's sodality of the Cathedral congregation at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning. These two organizations received holy communion at this service.

Rev. Sheridan delivered a masterly sermon on the aims and objects of the Holy Name society. He gave a vivid comparison of the members of the society to the Crusaders of old. While the latter set forth to rid the holy land of the Moslems, the former organization is engaged in battling against profanity, cursing and obscene language.

The Married Men's sodality met in the afternoon and elected the following officers: President, Arthur D. Kelker; Peter J. Reilly was chosen first assistant prefect; Thomas Quinn, second assistant; George Freinstine, secretary; Philip Lordier, treasurer; M. C. Robinson, sacristan, and Julian Henry, banner bearer. The annual report was presented by Treasurer Lordier, who was re-elected.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY [illegible]LY.

At St. Patrick's Catholic Churc[illegible]s Attended by 500 Men.

The Holy Name society rally at St. Patrick's Catholic church Sunday evening at which time Rev. William A. Bolger, C.S.C., delivered a powerful address, was attended by over 500 men of the congregation.

The gifted speaker, who is dean of the department of political economy at Notre Dame university, was heard in three sermons at St. Patrick's, Sunday. His initial discourse was at the 7:45 a. m. mass when the members of the Holy Name society received holy communion in a body. He delivered the second discourse at the high mass services at 10:30.

The men marched from the lyceum to the church at the evening service and occupied the main aisle pews. In his sermon Rev. Bolger emphasized the power of Christianity which transformed the old pagan world into Christendom. Reviewing existing conditions, the speaker made manifest that there can be no new basis for civilization, that no successful plans can be laid except on the foundation or on those principles established by Jesus Christ.

FOURTEEN ARE CONFIRMED.

Bishop John Hazen White Offificiates at Trinity Church.

Rt. Rev. John Hazen White, bishop of the Michigan City diocese, made his visitation at Trinity Episcopal church and administered the rites of confirmation to a class of fourteen members. Special music was given by the vested choir under the direction of Fred G. Church. A large congregation was present to witness the impressive ceremony.

The bisnop delivered the sermon, which was more in the nature of a personal talk to the members of the class. He spoke of the spiritual meaning of their acceptance of divine guidance and love and protecting care for the remainder of their lives.

In closing the bishop urged those who were confirmed to make it a daily rule of their lives to devote some portion of the day to meditation and prayer.

Bishop White left Sunday evening for New York city where he will be in attendance at a missionary gathering of the church.

BUILDING 400 FEET OF RETAINING WALL

Pennsylvania Puts Force of Men on Improvement at the 'Lights.

The maintenance-of-way department of the Pennsylvania took up the work of building a retaining wall between the spur siding at the Fort Wayne Electric works and the eastbound freight track of the main line this morning. The wall starts at a point about midway between Broadway and Fairfield avenue and runs east 400 feet, being eight feet high the greater portion of the distance. The "footing" will be seven feet wide and one and a half feet thick, constructed of concrete, and the retaining wall proper will be of reinforced concrete crib construction. C. W. Jenkins, of the engineering department, will have charge of the work. This wall will be built to support the main line tracks, along which it runs its full length.

TESTING "BUNCH" ENTERTAINED.

Former Foreman M. S. Willson is the Host at Banquet.

M. S. Willson, the retiring foreman of the testing department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, gave the men in the department a dinner at the Y. W. C. A. diningroom Saturday night. In the happy group surrounding the table were Rev. A. J. Folsom, A. L. Hadley, M. S. Willson, Ray Hoffman, George Ruck, George Blakesley, Ralph Craig, Samuel Anglin, Fred Smith, Charles Chatley, Andrew and Charles Braun, Fred Harding, Russ Harruff, R. C. Chase, J. Latham, Andrew Farrell, James Carman and several others. Speeches were made by Mr. Willson, Raymond Hoffman and Rev. Folsom. Mr. Willson was recently promoted from foreman of the testing department to the position of ispector in the engineering department and the dinner was in the nature of a farewell party to the testing "bunch," as he calls the men in the department. Raymond Hoffman, for several years assistant foreman was appointed foreman of the department. Mr. Willson occupied that position twenty-five years.

NICKEL PLATE AUXILIARY.

Division 513 Has Installed the Officers Recently Elected.

Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has installed the officers elected a month ago and starts the new year under most auspicious circumstances. The auxiliary continues to increase its membership and is otherwise in a prosperous condition. The new officers are: Past president, Mrs. T. E. Short; president, Mrs. M. J. Maroney; vice president, Mrs. F. M. Baldwin; secretary, Mrs. W. O. Granger; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Reed; insurance secretary, Mrs. Howard Mansfield; chaplain, Mrs. J. D. Moore; guard, Mrs. Charles F. Merriett; sentinel, Mrs. A. E. Evans; marshals, Mrs. C. H. Minser and Mrs. F. E. Fagan; pillars, Mrs. Myron Robbins, Mrs. John W. Sanburn and Mrs. O. L. Shearer, and musician, Mrs. W. C. Happle.

TWO MORE ENGINE CREWS.

G. R. & I. Prepares for Increasing Business.

The movement of freight over the G. R. & I., which has been steadily increasing for a week or two, has reached a point where more engine crews are needed and two passenger firemen were "set up" to freight engineers today. They were C. J. McDaniel and T. J. Ahern This increase in freight crews has been followed by the recall of two of the furloughed firemen. E. A. Parham, who was working on the farm, and E. W. Taylor, who was employed for several months at the Fort Wayne Electric works, were the men recalled and put in service as firemen.

ONLY FIFTY TO PURDUE.

Farmers Send Small Delegation to the Short Course.

Allen, Wells and Adams counties did not contribute the big delegation to the Purdue short course Monday expected of them. Agricultural Agent Clarence Henry, of Allen county, had the matter in hand and had arranged with the Wabash for a special train to carry upwards of 150 people. The special train ran all right, leaving the city at 11:30, but the passengers were only about one-third of the expected number, there being just fifty. The course continues three days and most of the party will not return until Thursday night or Friday morning. The special train was in charge of Conductor Freshour and Engineer Wagner and it consisted of six cars.

G. R. BLAKESLEY IN NEW POSITION

George W. Blakesley, for several years employed in the testing department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, left Saturday night for Kilbourne, Wis., where he takes charge of the extensive plant of the Southern Wisconsin Power company, which operates a lighting system. Some years ago Mr. Blakesley held a similar position at Mattoon, Ill., retiring when the management changed and returning to the Fort Wayne Electric works. He is an expert in his line and his services are always in demand. Mr. Blakesley is a son of Pennsylvania Conductor J. S. Blakesley.

BRAKEMAN LINDEMAN AT HOSPITAL.

R. R. Lindeman, a Grand Rapids and Indiana brakeman, is very sick at St. Joseph hospital. He was taken suddenly with appendicitis Saturday night and early Sunday morning was rushed to the hospital and operated upon. Last night his condition was said to be bad, but a change for the better has taken place and he will probably recover.

ATTENDING CORONER'S INQUEST.

Conductor Maurice Prindiville, Engineer E. O. Bradley and Fireman W. C. McCormick, of the Pennsylvania; were summoned to Warsaw today to attend the coroner's investigation into the death of Peter Mitterling, the man whose horse ran away and dashed onto the Pennsylvania tracks in front of fast train No. 48 Thursday, when both driver and animal were instantly killed. The signal bell was ringing announcing the approach of the train when the accident happened and it is said no blame attaches to the engine or train crew for the fatality.

MACHINISTS PLAN BUSY WEEK.

Machinist union, No. 70, expects a busy time this week. Tomorrow night the organization committee for the entire city will meet at the hall; Wednesday night the shop committee of the Fort Wayne Electric works will hold a session and Friday evening there will be other shop committee meetings.

Y. M. C. A. MEETINGS.

Tonight the committee of management of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. will meet in regular session and tomorrow night the membership committee will hold a meeting. The educational committee meets Friday and the regular shop meetings will be held at noon Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, making a busy week for the secretary and his assistant.

NEW ASSISTANT FILE CLERK.

Edward Klein, formerly employed as a stenographer in Chief Clerk W. L. Wilt's office of the Pennsylvania motive power department, has been promoted to the position of assistant file clerk. He succeeds Otto R. Roesener, who was called to Pittsburg and assigned special work several weeks ago.

BLACKSMITH HAS HAND HURT.

Blacksmith M. Feuchter, of the Pennsylvania shops, will be off duty a few days as the result of an injured hand. While at work this morning a piece of steel thrown out by the hammer struck the member and embedded itself in the flesh.

ATTENDED MUSSER FUNERAL.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, turned out largely to the funeral of its late brother, W. H. Musser, this afternoon. Services were held at 2:30 o'clock at the family home, 1231 Van Buren street.

I. CLEM RECOVERING.

Passenger Engineer I. Clem, of the G. R. & I., will soon be at work in the cab again, after a severe and at one time dangerous attack of pneumonia. He was confined to his home for about three weeks.

GONE TO KANSAS FOR A VISIT.

J. C. Peoples, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, and Mrs. Peoples left Saturday night for Kansas. They have relatives residing in several towns in that state and they will visit them two or three weeks.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Hammersmith Edgar Szink, of the Pennsylvania shops, is sick and off duty.

Machinist C. H. Knothe, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty today on account of sickness.

E. Miller, C. Decker and G. Roberts are new boilermakers' helpers at the Pennsylvania shops.

C. J. Dager, a Pennsylvania rivet heater, was the guest of friends in Chicago over Sunday.

C. T. Pidgeon, of the Pidgeon Millinery company, left yesterday for Hot Springs, Ark., to spend a few days.

George Francisco, Wabash paymaster, was here this morning handing out wage checks to employes of the company.

Machinist J. Newman, of the brake department of the Pennsylvania round house, is sick and off duty.

R. J. Fisher leaves tonight for Pittsburg in the interest of the Bass Foundry and Machine company.

Machinist C. W. Berning is absent from the Pennsylvania erecting shops today on account of sickness.

G. R. Bennett, a Pennsylvania flue welder, who had a finger injured a week ago, resumed work this morning.

A. E. Stapleford, cashier for the Nickel Plate at Stony Island, was in Fort Wayne yesterday with friends.

Frank D. Post, of the Wabash master mechanic's office, spent Sunday with relatives and friends in Chicago.

J. Mastordonato, who had a foot badly injured ten days ago, resumed work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

E. W. Koehl, clerk for Assistant Shop Foreman M. W. Kemp, is at his desk again after a visit with friends in Chicago Saturday and Sunday.

Among the passengers on train No. 9 on the Wabash this morning were J. J. Clem and W. A. Reynolds, who are going to Hot Springs and New Orleans.

William F. Mennewisch, a clerk in the Pennsylvania store room, failed to show up for work this morning on account of sickness.

O. C. Wright, assistant motive power engineer of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, is in Pittsburg on businss for the department.

After a week's illness John E. Scott, E. C. Nahrwold and James Pauley, boilermakers, reported for work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

F. J. Funck and F. Toently, tank repairmen, and J. Potoski, boilermakers' helper, are absent from the Pennsylvania shops on account of sickness.

A. L. Hadley, the head of the engineering department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is in Schenectady, N. Y., on business for the company.

Mrs. Sherwood Hinds, who has been seriously ill for some days, is now on the road to recovery. Mr. Hinds is the chief designer at the Bowser works.

Charles Moore, machinist in the Pennsylvania tool room, will return from Forest, Ohio, tonight. He spent several days there with relatives and friends.

Engineer F. E. Nikolai and Passenger Fireman F. S. Gross, of the G. R. & I., are sick with the grip. C. G. Grout, who had been sick, has resumed his place at the throttle.

Because of heavy business, Pennsylvania train No. 22, the Manhattan limited, yesterday afternoon was operated in two sections, running to Washington and New York.

C. H. Jockel, a helper in the Pennsylvania flue welding shop, had the nail torn from the index finger of his left hand this morning, when the digit was caught on the end of a flue.

Dispatcher G. D. Kaericher, an extra man in the Nickel Plate offices, is confined to his home with an attack of the grip. F. C. Evans, another dispatcher, has gone to Dennison, Ia., to spend a few days with relatives.

Floyd Allen, who recently resigned a position in the Pennsylvania pattern shop, is now working at that trade in the shops of the Acme Pattern company at Detroit. He writes that he has a good job and likes Detroit as a place to live in.

Passenger Engineer John Doescher and Yard Engineer J. M. Brown, of the Pennsylvania, are sick and off duty. Engineer W. Koch, who had been off duty a few days, resumed work this morning.

Former Ninth Ward Councilman H. G. Pinninger, now with the claims department at Toledo of the New York Central, spent Sunday in the city and called upon a number of his old friends. Mr. Pinninger was local station agent for the N. Y. C. two or three years.

Mrs. John L. Handy, of South Clinton street, is with her mother, who is quite sick, at Battle Creek, Mich. She went there about two weeks ago and the condition of her mother prevented her return. Mr. Handy is employed in the office of S. F. Bowser & Company.

The General Building and Investment company, of which A. L. Hadley, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is the president, will hold a meeting in the assembly room at the Fort Wayne Electric works tonight. The majority of the stockholders are connected with the Fort Wayne Electric works.

Road Foreman of Engines John H. Hanna, of the Pennsylvania, went to Pittsburg last night to attend to some business left in an unfinished condition when he received the appointment to his present office. He will return home tonight. Mr. Hanna's appointment became effective today.

The Pennsylvania cab building shop has been hard hit by the grip. Last week The Sentinel named several employes of the department who are sick, and today the list received two additions—Foreman J. C. Kingenberger and A. J. Bobay. None of the sick is in a serious condition.

Assistant Division Engineer H. T. Simpson, of the Pennsylvania, has secured a lease upon the dwelling house at 3018 South Webster street and will occupy it this week. His household effects are en route here now and will probably arrive tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson formerly resided in Terre Haute.

E. R. Borden, who had been spending a few days in the city, returned to his home in Chicago last night. The young man is employed in the testing department of the big shops of the Santa Fe. He is a graduate of Purdue and during the summer vacation of the university course he worked in the local Pennsylvania shops.

There is some talk of repeating the banquet held by the Sheet Metal Workers in the App hall on Sunday, January 2. It was one of the finest social events pulled off by a labor union in the city and the menu was great, being roast chicken with all the trimmings and a lot of delicacies. Among the attendance from out of town were men from Peru, Detroit, Toledo and Montpelier.

FORMER FORT WAYNE MAN WHO IS MAKING GOOD IN RAILWAY WORK

MENDELL A. KINNEY.

A former Fort Wayne man who is getting up in railway official ranks is Mendell A Kinney, at present the superintendent of motive power of the Hocking Valley railway, with headquarters in Columbus. He began his railway work on the Nickel Plate as an apprentice in the shops immediately after graduating from the Ashtabula high schools, in 1889, when he was seventeen years old. Soon after completing his apprenticeship, Mr. Kinney became the airbrake instructor of the Nickel Plate and in that capacity traveled over the entire line and became acquainted with all the engineers, firemen, shopmen and trainmen, as well as with the officials and the shop foremen. From 1893 to 1897 he served as a gang foreman in the Stony Island shops, being promoted in the latter year to foreman of the machine shop. Three years later, in 1900, he came to Fort Wayne to assume the foremanship of the company's round house and shops and remained here four years. Leaving the Nickel Plate in the spring of 1904, Mr. Kinney went to the Baltimore and Ohio as general foreman of the round house at Newark, Ohio, where he remained only a few months, when he went to Columbus as general foreman of the Hocking Valley. In August, 1907, he was promoted to master mechanic of that division of the Hocking Valley and October 1, 1910, he was appointed superintendent of motive power of the same road.

DODGE BROTHERS AMONG FIRST SIX

DETROIT CONCERN CLIMBS TO PROMINENT PLACE IN ONE YEAR.

Plant Now Covers 60 Acres and More Than $35,000,000 Worth Have Been Delivered to Retail Purchasers Since December, 1914.

New buildings under construction at the plant of Dodge Brothers, Detroit, will bring the total amount of floor space to approximately 60½ acres. This will make the establishment one of the largest motor car plants in the world.

The buildings are of steel, concrete and brick, and constructed along latest engineering plans with ample light and ventilation.

Few people have realized the immensity of the institution of Dodge Brothers. Although the first Dodge Brothers car was turned out only last December, and actual deliveries to owners started in January, the concern now ranks among the first six in automobile production.

More than thirty-five million dollars worth of cars have already been delivered and a large production is scheduled for next year.

Some idea of the magnitude of the business can be gained from the following figures:

An average of 100 carloads of material and supplies are received daily. More than 400 tons of coal are required in generating the steam used in the plant and 15,000 gallons of fuel oil are used in the heat treating and drop forge departments. About 225,000 pounds of steel are fabricated into parts each day and the foundries handle 35 tons of pig iron, 30,000 pounds of brass and 1,000 pounds of aluminum.

A striking feature of this immense enterprise is that the business is owned entirely by John F. and Horace E. Dodge. This is very impressive when it is known that only 14 years ago Dodge Brothers opened their first machine shop in Detroit in which they employed 11 men and both worked at machine and bench themselves.

They early established a reputation for quality work, in the making of automobile parts and built up a wonderful business in this line. But in 1914 they brought all their contracts for parts to a termination and turned their great facilities to the making of Dodge Brothers motor cars.

OVERLAND'S FREE SHOW OPENS TODAY

Fine Exhibit and Motion Pictures Certain to Draw Crowds.

The Overland Free Auto Show has arrived "with bells on."

This independent exhibit opened at noon today at the salesrooms of the Fort Wayne Overland company, 124-128 West Washington street, and it is not taking a long shot to say that this event is going to keep the crowd coming until midnight next Saturday when the show closes.

The decorator's art has converted the handsome Overland salesrooms into a fantasy of beauty, the glory and splendor of which has not before been seen in this city at an independent automobile show; and it is doubtful if the Overland and Willys-Knight models were ever shown with more brilliant trimmings than here seen; but this is not all There is a marvelous exhibit of Federal tires, for which this company has the special distribution in a big territory in northeastern Indiana and western Ohio: there is also an elaborate showing of accessories and car parts, in which the Overland does an extensive jobbing business through its territory.

FRED GASKINS,
President and Manager Fort Wayne Overland Company.

The people attending this show will also enjoy the Motion Picture feature which is a distinct departure in automobile shows. On a screen in the large garage of the Overland company is projected actual scenes taken at the great Willys-Overland factory, the biggest automobile making plant in the world. Here is seen the progress in the making of an Overland car, from the raw material to the finished product. A film showing the Federal Rubber Manufacturing plant and the processes of manufacture from the crude rubber to the finished product is show in all reality. The motion picture program includes other views, comic and otherwise, making it thoroughly interesting, amusing and educational. The garage where these pictures are shown is large enough to accommodate several hundred people at one time.

Good music is a part of the enjoyable treat furnished at this show, and introduced in Fort Wayne for the first time is the wonderful Unaphone, an instrument that is a marvel for sweet yet powerful tone that holds the listener spellbound.

In anticipating that which pleases the public, Manager Fred Gaskins has done well, for the Overland show is certainly a meritorious event that everybody should see. His enterprise in this exemplifies to some degree the great achievements he and his splendid organization have accomplished in Fort Wayne by building up a "million dollar a year business."

Big Auto Show opens Tuesday. Entrance on Jefferson St. Music afternoon and evening. 8-2t

ADVISORY BOARD MEETS.

A meeting of the advisory board of Wayne township will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening, when the work of checking over last year's business will be furnished. SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice the drinking of phosphated hot water before breakfast, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons in the bowels which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, biilous attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and refreshing effect upon the system.—Advertisement.

Mermaid, Soon an Heiress, Shocks Ship Passengers With Meager Costume.

Miss Marinet Browne

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 10.—On the way back from Waikiki beach and Honolulu, Miss Marinet Browne, a San Francisco mermaid, created a sensation on board the big liner Great Northern. The second day out she appeared on deck in a somewhat abbreviated bathing costume.

The more sedate passengers appeared shocked at first, but soon grew accustomed to the novelty. Miss Browne gave daily exhibitions in the big tank on shipboard and taught swimming to youngsters aboard, while interested passengers looked on. She is an expert swimmer, taking part in the various madcap stunts staged by daring girls here in the surf off the Cliff House.

The news that Miss Browne is soon to come into a comfortable fortune increased her popularity on the way over. She also rather shyly admitted that she had met a dashing young army officer at Honolulu and is planning a return trip.

COMING SHOW TO BE ONE GRAND SUCCESS

Poultry and Pet Stock Men Prepare to Astonish With Biggest Show.

Evidently, Fort Wayne has a right to get ready to be surprised and delighted when the big combined Triangle Poultry show and the first exhibit of the Fort Wayne Pet Stock association breaks loose on the 18th of January.

Summing up the situation today, Secretary J. J. Howenstein of the Poultry association, says: "There have been many surprises for us this year. Many big breeders who have never before exhibited their birds outside of the national shows are coming with their specimens which scooped the highest honors at the big places. Not only are all classes of birds well filled, but we are to have large displays of such varities as the Single Comb Black Leghorns, and others which are not at all common. An immense showing of White Wyandottes. Buff Plymouth Rocks and other varieties will satisfy all the fanciers, while we shall have a good many of the fancy birds to please the ladies and children and the hundreds who admire fine poultry without a technical knowledge of their value. The Chicago show had a display of seventeen bronze turkeys; we have twenty-three entries. These are but suggestions of what's doing and what will be done to provide the biggest poultry show Fort Wayne ever saw."

Pet Stock Exhibit Large

President C. S. Harris, of the Pet Stock association, announces that the entries for the pet stock show, to be given in connection with the poultry show in the Boss Manufacturing company building, on Calhoun street, two squares north of the court house, will not close until January 12.

Said Mr. Harris today: "We have had to refuse many applications from the boys and girls to exhibit their pets, because the show is conducted on the rules of the National association, which permits only members to exhibit, but the display will be an immense one. We are offering attractive prizes and many of them. A member of the association will attend the Chicago show and bring back many good pointers."

WAR BRIDE TELLS SECRETS

The most attractive girl at the Ft. Sheridan army post is so popular with the young officers that she is called the "War Bride." Her chief attraction is her beautiful complexion. To a friend, who was a society reporter, she told the secret. Every morning, and when she went out in the evening, she applied to her face and rubbed in with the finger tips a little corylok. Prepared corylok (vanishing face enamel) has been used in Paris for years. It is harmless and makes the skin soft, white and smooth. Be sure and get the corylok prepared, in original ounce jars, which contain proper formula for use. This "War Bride" also said that she used sulsage (medicinal mixture of sulphur and sage) to darken and rejuvenate her hair.—Advertisement.

GRABILL NEWS.

Grabill, Ind., Jan. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Tope went to Briceton, Ohio, to attend the funeral of the former's mother.

Arthur Wittmer has returned to Monroe, again, after spending a week here with his sister and husband, Dr. and Mrs. O. K. Hilty.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna Egly. Mrs. Grace Martz was leader and presented an interesting program.

The Missionary Sunday school held their annual election of officers for the ensuing year, with the following results: N. E. Grabill, superintendent; Eli Gerig, assistant superintendent; Ezra Roth, secretary; Miss Sarah Roth, assistant secretary; Amos Amstutz, treasurer; Safara Gerig, chorister; Miss Lillie Grabill, pianist, and Miss Lydia Roth, assistant pianist.

Owing to the fact that Rev. D. Y. Schultz was called to Chicago, the revival meetings at the Mennonite church have been discontinued for the present.

Rev. Solomon Klopfenstein, of Berne, has been here with relatives for a few days.

CHANGING THEIR ATTITUDE

Indiana Congressmen Less Favorable to Defense Plan, Dispatch Says.

Cincinnati, Jan. 10.—Members of the Indiana delegation have begun to balk at the preparedness program, says a Washington dispatch to Enquirer. The attitude of the delegation has changed perceptibly since several of them visited their districts during the holidays.

Representative Henry A. Barnhart, of the Thirteenth district, expressed his doubt about the wisdom of the program. Declaring that he placed small credence in the statements about the present poor military statue of the United States, he said:

"At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war they abused President McKinley because they said the country was not prepared and twenty men offered their services where one was needed. Ever since I have been a member of the congress we have been spending enormous sums on the army and navy. If it be true that we are not prepared then it would be well to have an investigation to ascertain what has become of this money."

Barnhart said he is in favor of strengthening the submarine facilities for defense, enlarging the coast defenses and flying machine equipment.

A Year's Growth in Good Will

A year ago this time Dodge Brothers enjoyed an enviable reputation as manufacturers of a very large volume of motor car parts.

This reputation aroused extraordinary expectations on the part of the public, when it was announced that they would build a motor car. Thousands of dealers were eager to represent them. Thousands of orders were placed by individual buyers.

But as manufacturers of motor cars Dodge Brothers were still on trial at the bar of public opinion.

The car as a car was an unknown quantity.

In January, 1915, a few of the cars were shipped from the factory; and a few individual good opinions began to be formed.

The growth of this volume of good opinion was in exact ratio, at first, to the growth of the volume of production.

But not many weeks had passed before the reputation of the car outstripped the capacity to produce.

The good news of its performance travelled faster than the supply—in sixty days' time there was a waiting list in all parts of the country.

Substantially the same state of affairs has existed ever since, and exists today, in spite of largely increased production.

There is a very pronounced and definite public opinion now in this country concerning Dodge Brothers car.

Nearly every man or woman you meet has a clear-cut idea of the kind of a car it is.

How friendly and how favorable that idea is you probably know so well that it is not necessary to go into details.

In twelve months' time the American people have bought more than thirty-five million dollars worth of Dodge Brothers cars.

This is a notable record for one year even in an industry which has been marked by many amazing achievements. For a first year, it stands absolutely unique and alone.

But the sales growth, to our way of thinking, is as nothing in importance, compared to the growth of a very favorable public opinion concerning the merits of the car.

This phase of the year's work is very gratifying to Dodge Brothers and to their representatives everywhere.

It goes without saying that Dodge Brothers will never do anything, or permit anything to be done, which might jeopardize the standing of the car with the American public

OFFICE SEEKERS ARE GETTING BUSY

With Primary Two Months Away There is No Time to Be Lost.

With the primary only a couple of months off office seekers and politicians are getting busy and soon the campaign will be on in full blast. Many conferences have already been held and both democrats and republicans are bestirring themselves for the big fight. Up to the present time the progressives have shown but little life in this section and whether they intend to even perfect an organization is not known.

At a meeting of the various democratic county chairmen, Saturday afternoon, at the Anthony hotel, it was decided to have Congressman John A. M. Adair, of the Eighth district, democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, spend a week in the Twelfth district. He will speak in the assembly room of the court house Wednesday evening, January 19, and in the afternoon a reception will be given in his honor at the Anthony hoel. The district love feast has been postponed to a later date.

Those present at the conference Saturday afternoon, which was called by District Chairman Edward G. Hoffman, were: E. C. Wemple, Lagrange, and Frank J. Dunten, Lagrange; H. A. Shoemaker, Columbia City; John Cleland, Albion; Ralph Thomas, Auburn. Mr. Hoffman represented W. A. Johnson, of Allen county.

Big Crowd Hears Watson.

A crowd that filled the assembly room of the court house to overflowing heard James E. Watson, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator, Saturday evening. Mr. Watson spent both Friday and Saturday in Fort Wayne and during those two days he held many conferences, shook many hands and greatly helped his candidacy locally. Of that there is no doubt.

"I will be nominated," he told a Sentinel reporter. "There are a couple dark spots in the state, but I think I will be able to clear these up before the primary. I was never more confident of success than I am at the present time."

In his address Saturday evening Mr. Watson devoted two hours to a discussion of the protective tariff, preparedness, the strengthening of the merchant marine, Wilson's Mexican policy, a reunited republican party and closed with a modest appeal in behalf of his own candidacy. He was given a most enthusiastic ovation.

A meeting of the Allen county democratic central committee will be held in circuit court room, No. 2, next Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

COMPULSION

GERMAN AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK

Saving Is Usually Accomplished by Compulsion

In Life Insurance you HAVE to make REGULAR payments or LOSE your policy.

When you buy a lot you must KEEP UP your payments or LOSE the lot.

There are Savings Banks in Germany where you LOSE your principal if you don't deposit SO MUCH every week.

The best kind of Compulsion is when, AS YOUR OWN BOSS, YOU COMPEL YOURSELF.

This is what a Savings Account MAKES you do.

It's worth trying. If you once begin it you will keep it up.

MOTION PICTURES CREATING A NEW RACE

SECOND GENERATION of SILENT ACTORS and ACTRESSES to be BEAUTIFUL and TALENTED

By A. H. Giebler.

ACCORDING to Douglas Fairbanks, the well-known speaking stage player, who has adopted the screen for the proper expression of his art, the moving-picture industry will be instrumental in the birth of a new race.

A race of beautiful women and talented men who will possess such a rare combination of beauty, brains and wit, that they will be a super-race, a class that will stand far above any school of artistic endeavor yet produced—a race that will give to the coming generations the most finished and talented corps of entertainers the world has ever known.

"You see," said Fairbanks, in discussing his theory, "most of the recruits to the moving-picture ranks are young and good-looking. This is particularly true of the girls of the profession. These girls all have brains as well as youth and beauty. If they do not have brains they do not last long.

"They learn the art of expressing their feelings and emotions, and become more beautiful and more charming through this ability. Their minds are stimulated, their wits are quickened by the training they receive in the studio. They are thrown in contact with keen men, whose business it is to develop the mental powers.

"The quality we call magnetism, for want of a better name, is nothing more than a trained mind speaking the language of love and life—the inarticulate but eloquent words of the heart and soul through facial and bodily expression.

"The moving-picture studio is a splendid school for this; there is a steady stimulation to the emotions, the lessons are constant; there is never any let-up, the players as well as the directors are always striving for the utmost height of artistic expression, and that only comes through constant practice and never-ending work.

"If a young girl is found with brains and a beautiful face, who does not know how to act, she is soon taught. First, she is shown that mere beauty will not serve, there must be something behind a comely countenance. A pretty face with no light to it is a mere mask.

"The possessor of a beautiful face soon learns this; then if she does not know how to feel a part, she is taught that. Give a director a girl with a beautiful face that photographs well and he will almost commit murder to teach its owner how to act.

"It is not only the novice who is kept under the whip of stimulation; the tried and trained player often needs and always gets the same stimulation that is given the amateur.

"To illustrate: I was in the studio watching the making of a close-up. An actress, whose name is a household word, had a ring. In the long-shot scene the ring is taken away from her—the close-up is to show the agony in her face. Only one of her arms showed in the picture; the hand of the other arm was between the assistant director's hands.

"'Give up that ring,' said the director.

"'I won't,' returned the actress.

"'Ready with the camera,' called the director.

"After the crank of the camera had begun to turn, the director's assistant bent over as near as he could and keep out of the picture.

"'Give up that ring,' he hissed. Then before the actress could reply, the assistant twisted her hand till she was in acute pain.

"The actress knew what was being done, she knew she was being stimulated to feel the part. She stood perfectly still, but her face set itself into lines of suffering.

"'I won't!' she said, between rigid jaws, with just the expression the director wanted.

"The close-up was a success. The suggestion of the mental pain was given her by the aid of physical pain. She registered the emotion perfectly.

"Another well-known actress playing opposite a prominent man in a picture reached the studio on a day when the director planned to make some tensely emotional scenes, in which the girl played.

"When she was rehearsed she did not show the mood for the proper expression of the part; she was inelastic; her emotional faculties were at very low ebb.

"The director decided that the only thing to do was to apply a stimulant, and one that would arouse her from her emotional lethargy—something that would be a severe shock.

"He walked up to her in an aggressive manner.

"'See here, Miss X.,' he bullied, 'you've got no possible excuse for being an actress. You get a big salary, but you can't act because you can't think. What right have you to the salary you draw?'

"The girl was speechless with anger; her emotions were aroused, all right, but the director was not satisfied; he wanted to be sure of his effect. So he gave her a shaking.

"'Now if you don't do what I want this time, and do it correctly, I'll get one of these extra girls to come up here and show you how to do it.'

"'You beast!' the girl managed to stammer, her features working, her whole mind speaking in her face. There was nothing wrong with her emotions now, or the means of expressing them.

"The director knew he had gained his end. He turned to the actress, all politeness.

"'Now that you are entirely emotional, Miss X.,' he said, 'we'll do the scene, and I wish to apologize for everything.'

"In this manner the players are being constantly taught.

"This stimulation to the emotions is kept up, not only in the manner indicated, but in a dozen other ways. The actors and directors are always working in perfect harmony in pursuit of the same end, the players to make their work as perfect as possible that they may win the plaudits of the world and the director that the finished product of his skill may fittingly compete with the finished product of a hundred other directors who are also striving for the same end.

"The result of this constant intellectual training quickens the intelligence, broadens the minds of the players of either sex, for the men are kept at the same fever heat of endeavor as the women. They marry, and their children will inherit from the parents not only their physical beauty, but their mental alertness. They will continue in the profession of their parents, and a new race will be the result."

There is much truth to Fairbanks' theory. Every actor or actress who expects to travel very far along the road to success as a picture player must have four primary requisites—youth, brains, health and beauty.

With these qualities they enter the studio, and with the education and stimulation that is given to the intelligence and the care that is taken of their health they develop far beyond the possibilities of any other calling.

"The work of the picture player is of the most pleasant character. It is highly profitable. Most of their work is done out in the open air and sunshine. They live pleasant lives and are always in an atmosphere of high artistic endeavor.

The picture players are clannish. The young men and women of the studios intermarry, seven weddings being reported from one studio recently. The children of these people will be the product of the most perfect system of natural eugenics in the world.

They will inherit their parents' beauty of face and form and intelligence. They will grow up in the rarified and artistic air of the studios and there may not be many diplomats or savants in their ranks, but there will be artists, clever and versatile to a superlative degree.

Many will ask why this condition has not come about through the intermarriage on the regular stage. Here are the answers to the argument:

The people of the regular stage are not always young and beautiful; indeed, most of the speaking-stage players are old and worn before they have attained anything like success, while the screen world shows many mere boys and girls already at the very top of the ladder of fame.

The picture-play game is essentially a game of youth and beauty. The regular stage player does not need beauty, he has the friendly make-up box and the hare's foot to cover the deficiencies of nature and the lines of time.

The regular actor repeats the lines that other men write in the play for him. His work is mechanical, he is a mere talking machine. He mouths the same stale lines day and night for an entire season at a time. There is no stimulus to the emotions as in motion-picture acting, where the player works in a new play each week.

The life of the regular actor is hard. He is buffeted about from town to town, and one-third of the time is out of work altogether.

The screen player has a comfortable home and the society of hundreds of his fellow-players.

The regular actor seldom marries, and when he does, and has children, he sometimes does not see them from one season to another. Very few of the regular stage players' children adopt the profession of their parents.

It is said that the children of Richard Mansfield were kept in utter ignorance of their father's work until his death.

The screen players' children are reared in the studio, they are actors almost from the cradle up. Their parents are anxious for their children to adopt the work because they know it is profitable.

Douglas Fairbanks is right. The moving pictures will breed a new race, such a race of entertainers as the world has never seen.

Moving Pictures Teach History

THOMAS A. EDISON once said, "Give me a motion-picture machine and I'll teach more history in fifteen minutes than instructors and text-books can drill into the minds of pupils in a month."

There is no doubt but the average man, the man of the shop and office, who has perhaps been denied the opportunity of a classical education, has a better working knowledge of contemporary history and geography than had the college-bred men of fifteen or twenty years ago. And all this has been accomplished with the moving-picture camera and the projection machine.

The makers of pictures are realizing the importance of the great educational value of the films from a geographical and historical standpoint, and spare neither time nor money to make the pictures correct.

You may sit in the theater and see the main street of Tecumseh, Tenn., and know that you are looking at actual photographs of the places. The search for exactness in local color and topography is not confined to the travel or educational pictures, a drama or comedy that has a scene or character of any historical value is given the proper setting and background.

A woman residing in Springfield, Ill., relates an incident that illustrates the search for local color on the part of the film producers.

"I had passed the Lincoln home hundreds of times," she said, in speaking of the occurrence, "without giving the place any more than the hurried attention we bestow on a place we are familiar with, no matter how rich in association it may be, but one day, as I approached the Lincoln house, I was stopped in wonder and amazement.

"Just as I was within a few feet of the house a tall gaunt figure wearing the familiar tall hat and shawl, came from the house, walking slowly, with bent head and eyes downcast, and face set in lines of the sorrows of the nation we know he carried in his heart during his last days.

"I was dumfounded with the utter realism of the thing. It was Abraham Lincoln come to life, walking out of his house to the street, and I was there witnessing the miracle. Then I heard a clicking sound and took another step that brought me back to earth. I took my eyes away from the ghosts of the past and saw a man with a moving-picture camera and another with a sheaf of papers. I had almost walked into a moving-picture drama.

"I learned afterward that the man playing the part of Lincoln was Ralph Ince, the Vitagraph actor, famous for his Lincoln characterizations, who had come all the way from Brooklyn, N. Y., with a company of actors, to take one picture of Lincoln in the spot where he had lived."

Neva Gerber's Farewell.

WHEN Neva Gerber left Santa Barbara, Cal., on the completion of her engagement with the American Company, she started in her automobile for Los Angeles, and before she got away her car looked like a wedding carriage with its wealth of beautiful flowers. All the players were sorry to see her go, and she will long remember her leave taking, even if it did leave her eyes moist.

FRENCH AND BRITISH ALL QUIT GALLIPOLI

Berlin, Jan. 10.—(Via Sayville.)—"The news of the definite failure of the Dardanelles expedition aroused enormous joy and satisfaction in Constantinople," says the Overseas news agency, in a message distributed today. "Bunting was displayed and the schools were closed."

"The Berlin newspapers," continues the message, "point out the loss of prestige which this means for the British, besides the enormous losses of men, ships and money. They recall the proud words of Mr. Asquith in parliament on the 9th of November, 1914, that the Turkish empire had committed suicide and had dug its own grave, and those of Mr. Churchill at a later date that through the Dardanelles lay the shortest route to triumphant peace. The newspapers further call attention to the fact that important Turkish contingents are now free for action in other fields."

Says Transport Was Sunk.

The sinking of a transport ship of the allies, filled with troops at the time of the withdrawal of the French and British forces from the tip of the Gallipoli peninsula, is reported in Constantinople dispatches given out today by the Overseas news agency.

ALL OUT SAFELY, SAYS LONDON.

London, Jan. 10.—British and French troops have been withdrawn entirely from Gallipoli. This announcement was made officially last night by the war office, which declares that the evacuation was completed without the loss of a single life. Only one British soldier, it is announced, was wounded, and of the great number of guns still remaining at Seddul Bahr, all save seventeen of the worn-out cannno were removed, and those left were destroyed.

CITY SCALES.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Higher cable quotations and falling off in Minneapolis and Duluth receipts helped give a lift today to the wheat market here. Besides there were reports of a scarcity of good milling wheat in Ohio and Indiana. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼c to ⅜c higher, with May at 126¼ to $1.26½ and July at $1.18½ to $1.18¾, were followed by substantial further gains, but then a moderate sag.

The close was weak, ⅝@¾c to 1⅜c net lower.

Export talk and foreign buying of futures made the corn market strong. After opening ½@⅝c up to ⅞c up, the market ascended a little further before beginning to react.

The close was steady at ⅛@¼c to ¼c net advance.

Commission houses were active in purchasing oats.

Provisions showed remarkable strength.

Vacant Rooms? Don't Worry

If you have not found a tenant for your room, there's no use despairing and "publishing" the fact all over in scare headlines.

"There are just as good tenants in the city as ever been gotten."

The best way to reach them is to place your "For Rent" ad. in the paper that the tenants read. In Fort Wayne nearly everyone takes The Sentinel and reads Sentinel want ads.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 10.—Nominal gains and losses attended the resumption of trading today, leading shares showing few noteworthy changes from last week's final quotations. Dealings at the outset lacked the animation of recent sessions, except in certain specialties such as coppers and oil. U. S. Steel opened with the smallest fractional gain but soon fell back and reactionary tendencies were later manifested by other leaders. Selling pressure became more market before the expiration of the first half hour, Steel, American Smelting, Mexican Petroleum and some of the active war issues then showing declines of one to three points.

Substantial recoveries from the early decline, precipitated in part by short selling, were made in the first hour, the rally in some instances making up more than half the loss. Pressure was renewed on the recovery, however, representative issus falling to or under previous minimums. Steel was the center of an active selling movement. New Haven was one of the few railroads to show strength, presumably on the outcome of the recent trial. Studebaker was among the weak specialties, declining 5⅛ to 154⅞. Bonds were lower.

THE WEATHER.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity (radius 20 miles): Much colder and fair tonight and Tuesday, with cold wave.
For Indiana: Much colder and generally fair tonight and Tuesday, with a cold wave.
For Ohio: Rain south, rain or snow north portion tonight, colder; Tuesday much colder, with a cold wave; fair except local snows near Lake Erie.
For Lower Michigan: Snow tonight, much colder, with a cold wave; Tuesday local snows and colder.
Shippers' forecast (radius 300 miles): Protect shipments during the next 24 to 36 hours from temperatures as follows: North, 5 to 10 degrees; east, 10 to 15; south, 15 to 20; west 10 to 10.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A storm of considerable energy overlies the lake region, and another is centered in Nevada and Idaho. The pressure is high along the Atlantic coast and another high of considerable magntude, accompanied by a cold wave, covers the northwestern states. The temperatures are generally above the seasonal average in eastern and southern sections. In the northwestern states and the Canadian northwest temperatures range from zero in the former to more than 30 degrees below zero in the latter districts. During the last 24 hours precipitation occurred quite generally in the northern tier of states, and in those states to the west of the Rocky mountains.

WILL EXTEND TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT

No Vacation to Be Taken Between November and February Terms.

There will not be the customary vacation of one week between terms of the circuit court when the November term end is reached January 20. Judge John W. Eggeman on Monday issued an order extending the term through the following week in order that business that there will not otherwise be time enough to dispatch may be cleared away before the February term begins February 5. The tribunal will continue to grind through the week that is customarily a vacation.

The circuit court has given judgment for the plaintiff in the suit of Horace Marriotte vs. Vern Morrison to replevin a cash register and a computing scale, decreeing that the plaintiff is entitled to immediate possession of the property.

In the suit of Christian Kiefer vs. the Miller Showcase company the circuit court has granted the petition of the receiver to employ labor and purchase materials to complete some unfinished work and orders.

The suit of Abraham and Isaac Weil et al. vs. the Crohen & Roden company, has been dismissed from the superior court.

Let His Wife Earn the Living.

In a voluminous complaint filed in the superior court Grace Wilson sets out at length and with much detail that her husband, Lester Wilson, was perfectly willing to let her go out to work as a domestic and canvassing for orders and to take in sewing to procure the means for supporting herself and little child, while he contributed nothing. She says that in the early part of the winter of 1913 he did this with perfect complacency and once when she returned home at night from her labors tired and hungry and asked him to go out and buy some meat for supper he said: "Meat- H—l, I don't buy meat for myself and I'm sure I won't buy any for you." She says also that he constantly nagged and quarreled and by his failure to provide and refusal to care for their child at home while she was out at work compelled her to place the little one in the home of others to be clothed, fed and cared for at her expense. They were married in 1907 and separated last October. The plaintiff asks a decree of absolute divorce, the custody of the child and $150 alimony. T. O. Nelson is her attorney.

Young Burglar Is Sentenced.

Raymond O'Brien, aged 23 years, was found guilty in the circuit court, Monday, on a charge of burglary and was sentenced to from two to fourteen years in the Indiana reformatory. O'Brien had pleaded guilty in the city court when arraigned for preliminary hearing, but insisted on making a fight in the circuit court, taking the ground that he was full of "dope" at the time he was accused of breaking into and robbing the dental office of Dr. E. L. Sieber, 916 Calhoun street, two weeks ago, and did not know what he did. The instruments, metal and narcotic drugs he stole from the Sieber office were found on him when he was arrested in Peru. Young O'Brien is a confirmed "dope fiend."

Notes of the Courts.

The suit of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad vs. the Indiana Lighting company has been set for trial in the circuit court March 3.

The circuit court has granted a change of venue to DeKalb county in the case of Theresa Kalbacher vs. Abraham Kiernan to recover $300 on a complaint for conversion.

WILL REPAIR A WASHOUT.

County Highway Superintendent William Tonkel went out to the northern part of the county Monday afternoon to direct the repairing of the Warner-Tonkel road, a line highway between Cedar Creke and Perry townships. There has been a washout about a mile north of the Cedar creek. Superintendent Tonkel had expected such an emergency and when the road was completed over a year purchased of the contractor a car load of crushed stone and this is on the ground about one hundred yards from the washcut.

COUNTY VITAL STATISTICS.

According to the report just compiled by Dr. E. M. Van Buskirk, county health officer, there were during the month of December 58 births and 32 deaths in the county during the month. During the same period there were five cases of diphtheria, three of them in the city and eight cases of scarlet fever, four of them in the city. There were also seven cases of measles and twenty-four of chickenpox.

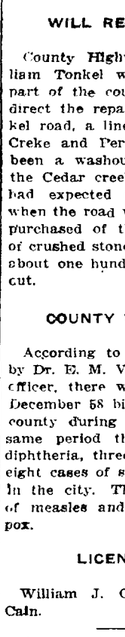
FINDS OLDEST DATED AMERICAN ANTIQUITY

Our Land Was Civilized 102 Years Before Christ, Says Savant.

By F. M. Kerby

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—The only man in the United States who can decipher the ancient glyphic inscriptions of the Maya, the early inhabitants of southern Mexico and northern Central America, has just identified the oldest American antiquity in existence.



Maya date of "102 B. C." courtesy of R. E. Ulbright, is composed

A small stone statue, found near Vera Cruz, Mexico, by a peon in 1902, has been identified by Sylvanus G. Morley of the Carnegie Institution as bearing an inscription showing that it was made 102 years before Christ. This is the oldest authenticated date in the New World.

The little image, which came to the United States national museum originally through the a rounded conical form, about 6 1-2 inches in height and 3 3-4 inches in diameter at the base. Its general outlines give the impression of an old Mexican idol or priest, in a cape or cassock.

On the front, sides and back of the figure are the peculiar characters called glyphs in which the Maya wrote their early history and achievements. So far, only dates can be deciphered.

Thirty years ago Maya inscriptions were a sealed book, but now the outline of Maya history can be followed by means of the calendric parts of the ancient inscriptions. Morley has outlined the fall of several cities in relation to one another, and has followed the course of the native development, even though the background cannot be filled in.

GAY FOX TROTS HELP STENOGS SPEED UP IN WRITING BUSINESS LETTERS.

Miss E. B. Dearborn helping a young typish speed up to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," played on the phono graph.

Should your New Year's duns have a gladsome, jingly ring to them, should your "please remit" reminders breathe forth the melody of the "Anvil Chorus" or the "Knockers' Serenade" here's the reason of it.

Typists now typewrite to music; they write duns to fox-trot tunes, legal documens to waltz and bills of sale to minuets. Not all, but a great many large business establishments now consider "canned" music a necessary part of their office equipment.

Instead of serving afternoon tea to revive the flagging spirits and limber fingers of weary typists some one turns on "Yanky Doodle" or "The Blue Danube" or "The Sari Waltz." Away go the typists' fingers dancing, prancing, one-stepping, trotting over the keyboard. "We must insist on immediate remittance" hums the ivory keys to the gay tune of "I don't know the meaning of care"; "we hope you will be interested in this choice piece of real estate," chirps the keys to the air of "The Blue Danube."

The typewriting-to-music scheme doesn't come out of Naples or Vienna. Its home is Red Bank, N. J., and Miss E B. Dearborn, director of business education in the Red Bank high school, is its author.

Turk and British Reports on Mesopotamia in Direct Conflict.

GERMANS LAUNCH DRIVE IN WEST

And Its Success is Very Promptly Disputed from Paris.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Reports on the progress of the campaign in Mesopotamia are widely divergent. Constantinople advices, through Berlin, declared the British main army was retreating from Kut-el-Amara, where a force of 10,000 men had been left to cover the retreat. It was announced in the British house of commons on the other hand that after heavy fighting on both banks of the Tigris, on Jan. 7, the Turks on Jan. 9 were in full retreat, with the British pursuing.

The British announcement recorded the capture of two Turkish guns and 700 prisoners. It was also made known that Lieut. Gen. Sir Percy Noel Lake had been appointed to succeed Gen. Sir John Eccles Nixon in command of the British Mesopotamian forces.

Berlin and Paris likewise give varying accounts of the result of the German offensive movement in the Champagne district. Berlin declares that about 700 yards of French trenches were taken and held against a counter attack. The French statement asserts that the German attacks broke down and that after securing a temporary foothold in the French positions at some points the Germans were afterward driven out, except from two small sections of advanced trenches.

The fighting in the Champagne, which evidently was of a violent character, was on ground which the French had taken in the great allied drive of last September.

Interment at Toulon, France, of the consuls of the Teutonic allies, who were arrested at Saloniki, is reported in a Paris message. The consuls have been placed on the French auxiliary cruiser Savoie.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—(Via Sayville.)—The British army at Kut-el-Amara, in Mesopotamia, has now been surrounded completely by the Turks, according to Eloquent Logansport Mooser Asks to Be Enrolled as Republican.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 10.—Frederick Landis, of Logansport, former congressman and one of the most prominent progressive leaders in Indiana, today wrote to Republican State Chairman Will H. Hays, asking to be enrolled again as a republican.

"In order that your poll books may be accurate in this respect," wrote Mr. Landis, "I wish you would enroll me as a republican."

Mr. Landis made the speech seconding the nomination of Hiram Johnson as the progressive candidate for vice president at the Chicago convention in 1912.

TROOP NO. 2 HERE; NO. 3 COMING SOON

Enthusiasm for Boy Scout Work Immense, Says L. O. Wetzel.

Boy Scout troop, No. 2, was organized last Saturday evening by State Scout Commissioner L. O. Wetzel, at the First Presbyterian church with a charter membership of nineteen boys. The next meeting of troop No. 2 will be held next Friday evening at which time Mr. Wetzel will be busily engaged at Trinity Episcopal church in bringing about the formation of troop No. 3.

Troop No. 2 is composed of a very enthusiastic group of young boys and each one promised to bring a new member to the meeting this coming Friday evening. F. B. Bradley and A. L. Pape were chosen scout masters of this new troop.

Mr. Wetzel states that the various churches of the city are becoming very much interested in the work and that he is getting calls daily when he is at home from various pastors, asking him to hurry up and get around to "our" church. Mr. Wetzel believes that the Boy Scout movement is firmly established and that the coming summer will see Fort Wayne with a troop which can be counted one of the best and the largest in the state.

Next Friday evening the state scout commissioner will be present at Trinity Episcopal church, where the enthusiasm is also running high. Messrs. Farrell and Patterson will be in charge of troop No. 3. Troop No. 1 was organized at the First M. E. church before the holiday season.

BIG AUTO SHOW OPENS TUESDAY

Half Million Dollars Worth of Cars Will Be on Display.

SOCIETY WILL HAVE NIGHT ALL ITS OWN

Meeting of Automobile Owners' Association is Held.

Northern Indiana's most elaborate, most spectacular and greatest automobile show will open Tuesday with the largest display of automobiles ever in Fort Wayne. The finishing touches are now being put on, the cars are being put in place and everything will be in readiness for the opining day.

Northern Indiana will be privileged to see practically the same display of cars as are shown in the big automobile shows in New York and Chicago. The total display of cars will aggregate a half million dollars, the cars ranging in price from $5,000 down. There will be 40,000 square feet of floor space, providing plenty of room to show the cars to advantage and to take care of the tremendous crowds. The Auto Trade association, under whose auspices the show is being given, is expecting a total attendance of 10,000. Last year there were 7,000 paid admissions.

Besides the display of automobiles, there will be the government's good roads' display of sixteen road models, which in itself will be well worth the price of admission. L. E. Boykin, assistant in road economic investigations of the United States office of public roads, will be in charge and explain the different models. The question of good roads is of great interest to every automobile owner. Music by a band and orchestra will be provided every afternoon and evening.

Elaborate Decorations.

The decorations are gorgeous and most artistic and will be entirely completed by evening. Green and white is the color scheme, with hundreds of red and white chrysanthemums scattered here and there throughout both the Riegel building and the building formerly occupied by Myers' livery. The lighting effect is also beautiful and well arranged. The entrance to the show will be on Jefferson street.

Society Night.

Society night will be observed on Thursday evening, for which special vaudeville acts have been engaged. Souvenirs will be given to the ladies. At the close of the show a banquet will be given at the Commercial club to the visiting representatives.

Company E will have two booths on the mezzanine floor. The Anti-Tuberculosis league will have another, and an effort is being made to get Boy Scout officials to make still another.

The Overland Show.

There is another automobile show in Fort Wayne this week of no little importance and one that will doubtless attract much attention. The Overland company will have a show all its own and independent of the show being given under the auspices of the Auto Trade association, in its mammoth garage and sales rooms on Washington boulevard, west. Overland cars of every kind will be displayed, with representatives from the factory on hand to explain in detail every part of the Overland car.

Owners' Association Meet.

A meeting of the directors of the Allen County Automobile Owners' association was held at noon Monday, at the Commercial club, at which time action

WILL CARRY CAUSE DIRECT TO PEOPLE

Wilson May Make Speeches to Secure Laws for National Defense.

Washington, Jan. 10.—President Wilson possibly may put the question of national defense before the country in a series of speeches as one means of getting the necessary legislation through congress. The president today received several invitations to speak at banquets here, in Baltimore and New York within the next month and other invitations are known to be coming.

Officials indicate today that the president might take advantage of the invitations to lay the administration plan for defense directly before the people. As soon as the submarine controversy is entirely cleared up the president intends to devote his whole attention to getting the national defense plans through congress.

Beginning tomorrow the president will confer frequently with house and senate leaders on the subject.

THREE BODIES TAKEN FROM SUNKEN PACKET

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Three bodies were recovered today from the wreck of the Pittsburg and Charleston packet Kanawha, which sank in the Ohio river near here last Wednesday night. Two were identified as Mrs. E. C. Atkinson and Mrs. Ulysses Begle, of Racine, Ohio, but the searchers were unable to identify the other, also a woman.

The bodies were found huddled together in one of the state rooms. The women apparently fled there when the storm struck the boat. The river began to fall more rapidly today, and it was expected that before night, fall search of the entire boat would be completed.

TWO HURT IN MORNING FIRE

Gasoline Tank in Automobile Explodes Causing Disastrous Blaze.

Fireman Schulz Receives an Electric Shock and Falls from Ladder.

A fireman was hurt and a jitney driver was painfully burned about the hands and narrowly escaped with his life when the gasoline tank in a Ford automobile exploded about 6:10 o'clock Monday morning in a barn in the rear of 1526 East Creighton avenue, burning the barn to the ground, together with the machine, ruined the home of Mrs. Christine Himbert, 2316 Winter street and did damage estimated at $3,000.

Fireman Fred Schulz fell from the top of a ladder when he came in contact with a live wire at the home of Mrs. Himbert. His injuries, however, were not serious and he soon revived from the shock.

Harry Dome, 1524 East Creighton avenue, was painfully burned about the hands and as he was but a few inches from the automobile when the explosion occurred, it is little less than miraculous that his injuries were not more serious. The barn in which the automobile was stored belonging to Gus Weichle, residing on Lillie street.

Spark Ignites Gasoline.

Dome had been operating the jitney bus for several weeks and Monday morning, when he started to pull his machine out, he found that he did not have sufficient gasoline. He had started the engine, which was running when he poured in more gasoline. Suddenly there was an explosion, the gasoline having been iguited by a spark, it is believed, from the engine, as no other cause can be assigned. Dome was between the machine and the side of the barn and he is still wondering how he got out. In a very few seconds the entire barn was in a mass of flames. Dome attempted to push his car out but found that he couldn't. It was then that he blistered his hands.

Flames Spread Rapidly.

The flames spread rapidly and soon the home of Mrs. Christine Himbert, a few feet east of the barn, had caught and before the arrival of the fire department the blaze had made rapid headway. An alarm was immediately turned in, but something was wrong and it didn't work. Mrs. Himbert's telephone also was out of commission. For that reason it was some little time after the fire had started that the department arrived. However, it did valiant work and succeeded in saving the surrounding buildings, all of which were scorched more or less. The damage to the Himbert property, together with contents, is estimated at $1,500, fully covered by insurance. The house and barn of E. Inman and a barn belonging

COURT DENIES WOMAN'S PLEA

No Separate Trial for Mrs. Mohr, Accused of Husband's Death.

Widow of Physician in Good Spirits as She Faces Court.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr, accused of having instigated three negroes to murder her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, a physician well known in this city and Newport, was placed on trial before Judge Charles F. Stearns in the superior court today. Mrs. Mohr is being tried jointly with Cecil V. Brown and Henry H. Spellman, who are charged with actual commission of the murder while the doctor and his secretary, Miss Emily O. Burger, were motoring toward Newport on the night of August 31 last. Mrs. Mohr was indicted as an accessory before the fact.

The three defendants pleaded not guilty when arraigned and the selection of a jury was begun. Owing to the reluctance of many veniremen to sit in a murder trial it is expected the work of empannelling the jury will be slow.

Mrs. Mohr, who has been at liberty under bail, entered the room dressed in mourning. She was pale, but appeared in good spirits.

Attorney Cushing asked for a separate trial for Mrs. Mohr, claiming that as alleged confessions by the negroes were to be introduced by the prosecution his client could not obtain a fair trial, but the court denied the motion.

Indictment against Dr. Mohr's negro chauffeur, George W. Healis, was quashed last week, when Healis was brought into court and did not contest a charge of manslaughter. It was disclosed in the preliminary hearings, the state will seek to show that Mrs. Mohr instigated Brown and Spellman to shoot her husband and induced Healis to stop the automobile in which Dr. Mohr was riding at the spot on a country road in West Barrington, where the murder took place.

LAST TRIBUTES PAID TO GEORGE L. ASHLEY

The Scottish Rite cathedral was filled Sunday afternoon to pay their last respects to George L. Ashley, who passed away suddenly a few days ago. Mr. Ashley was widely known as he had held many important positions, such as former Allen county recorder, treasurer of the Real Estate exchange and one of the best known business men in the city. The Scottish Rite Masons and Eastern Stars had charge of the services. The exchange members met at the Commercial club and marched to the cathedral, where seats were reserved for them. All other lodges to which Mr. Ashley belonged also attended in a body.

Rev. James Stewart, pastor of the Fort Wayne M. E. circuit, delivered the opening prayer, which was particularly impressive from the fact that it was largely through Mr. Ashley's influence that the speaker was reclaimed and converted at the Columbia street mission years ago, and he referred with deep feeling to the influence of Mr. Ashley upon his own life. Rev. C. Claud Travis, pastor of Wayne Street M. E. church, conducted the religious service, reading the twenty-third psalm and speaking briefly from the text, "I will fear no evil, for thou art with me." The interment occurred at Lindenwood.

"WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH," SAID NOTE LEFT BY GIRL.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 10.—John Robart, wealthy head of the Robart Welding works here, was shot today at his office by Lillian Piper, a waitress, who then shot herself through the head, dying soon afterward. Robart's recovery is doubtful.

The young woman claimed she had been wronged by Robart and that he had cast her off. A note pinned to her clothing read: "The wages of sin is death," and gave her father's name as Wm. Ogden, of Richmond, Va.

Very Near a Settlement in the Lusitania Case

Washington, Jan. 10.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Secretary Lansing today had another conference in the Lusitania negotiations which both agreed should be described as confidential.

The ambassador expects to confer with the secretary again inside of a week and not again on the subject. That fact is taken by those conversant with the status of the case to mean that Germany and the United States have approached a point in the negotiations where only one more exchange between Washington and Berlin will be necessary before the long controversy is ended.

American officials in all quarters described the situation as "very hopeful" and reflected the view that a satisfactory settlement is in sight which will include indemnities for the 115 American lives lost and some expression of regret or disavowal which will be mutually satisfactory to Germany and the United States.

President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and the German ambassador are practically the only officials in the secret of the negotiations, but it is known that the principal point which has been delaying the final settlement was the phraseology.

Germany has contended that the best disavowal she could offer was her orders to the submarine commander not to repeat such an incident and that she could not disavow the action although she regretted the loss of so many American lives. The United States has been contending that the disavowal should be expressed in some way.

DIES TWELVE HOURS AFTER ILLNESS CAME

Mathias F. Kagg, Prominent Business Man, Expires Suddenly.

But twelve hours after he had complained of a pain in his chest which was not at the time regarded as serious, Mathias F. Kaag, for many years a well known china merchant in Fort Wayne, died at 5:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his home, 1229 Cass street.

Mr. Kaag was able to be about the house the entire day and it was only after eating the evening meal that he suffered the fatal attack. The family physician was called and diagnosed the case as neuralgia. Mr. Kaag was seated in a chair reading the evening paper when he was stricken and he died before a physician could arrive. Heart trouble presumably hastened death.

The deceased was born in Wuertemburg, Germany, August 13, 1845, but came to America and directly to Fort Wayne over fifty years ago. In early life he was employed in the store of his brother-in-law, the late H. N. Ward, but later embarked in business on his own account, founding the china store which later became one of the important mercantile enterprises of the city.

Besides the grief-stricken wife, Mr. Kaag is survived by two sons and a daughter, Charles F. W. Kaag, Fred G. Kaag and Mrs. Luther H. Kiel, all of Fort Wayne. One grandchild and one half-sister, Mrs. Christiana Ward, all of Fort Wayne, also survive.

Private funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence, Rev. Samuel Wagenhals officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

STEINBRENNER.

Frederick J. Steinbrenner, proprietor of the confectionery store at 1426 Broadway, died at his home next door at 9 o'clock Saturday evening. Death followed an extended illness due to complication of diseases. Mr. Steinbrenner was born in Fort Wayne but for many years was engaged in the soap business as a chemist at Cincinnati. He retired from this business several years ago on account of failing health, coming back to this city nearly a year ago.

Besides the widow the deceased is survived by two brothers, William, of Dayton, and Henry, of Cincinnati, and a sister, Mrs. William Helber, of Fort Wayne. He was a member of the Maccabee lodge.

BRUNNER.

Mrs. Nothberger Brunner, wife of Cornelius Brunner, of 934 West Main street, died at the family home Sunday noon. She had attained the age of 75 years. Death was due to senility and followed a comparatively short illness. The deceased was born and reared in Switzerland but came to Fort Wayne in 1869. Besides the husband she leaves four daughters, Mrs. H. P. Lacy, of Chicago; Mrs. E. E. Morrison, of Fort Wayne, and Miss Anna and Miss Rose Brunner, of Fort Wayne. Two grandchildren and one greatgrandchild survive. Mrs. Brunner was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church and of the Rosary and Altar societies and Sacred Heart league of the same congregation.

Funeral services Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at the St. Paul's Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

RAMSEY.

Mary Louise Ramsey, aged three days, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ramsey, of 520 Baltes avenue, died Sunday morning at the family home. The body will be shipped to Linn Grove, Ind., for interment.

KOCH.

Benedict Koch, aged 10 years, died at a local hospital Sunday evening following a brief illness. He is survived by a son Joseph, of Indiana Harbor, and a daughter who resides at Auburn. The body is being held at Ulmer's until relatives arrive.

HABECKER.

Miss Maria Habecker died Sunday evening at a local hospital following a brief illness due to pneumonia. She was the last of an old pioneer family and had resided here her entire life.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Lindenwood chapel. Interment at Lindenwood.

ADVERTISING EXPERT HERE.

FIVE NEW HAVEN MEN MUST FACE NEW TRIAL

Other Six Former Directors Acquitted by Jury's Finding.

New York, Jan. 10.—Five former directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad today face the probability of another trial on charges of conspiracy to monpolize the railway traffic of New England. Concerning their guilt or innocence of this charge the jury in the first trial was unable to agree. The five men are William Rockefeller and Lewis Cass Ledyard, of New York; Charles Pratt, of Brooklyn; Charles F. Brooker, of Ansonia, Conn., and Edward Robbins, of New Haven, Conn. The other six former directors tried on the same charge were acquitted in a verdict returned at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

In announcing that he would move for a new trial for the five men, R. L. Batts, of counsel for the government, did not indicate when he would resume proceedings against them.

The verdict was returned Sunday after fifty-one hours of deliberation. The final vote on the five defendants upon whom the jurors could not agree stood 8 to 4 for acquittal.

The jurors were unkempt and weary when they arrived at the federal building in the morning from the uptown hotel where they had been quartered at night. None of them had for two days been given an opportunity to shave or to obtain clean linen.

The defendants were indicted on Feb. 26, 1915. The trial began Oct. 13 last. It was estimated that it entailed an expense to the government and defendants of three quarters of a million dollars.

INSANE MAN FINALLY TAKEN WHILE ASLEEP

Berlin, Ind., Jan. 10.—Jacob Barra, an insane man, who has been holding out against the officers since Dec. 8, having armed himself and barricaded his home south of the city, was captured today by William Garrigus, sheriff, and a posse of seven men.

They were notified by Barras' son that his father was asleep. He had been sitting up all night, taking short naps only. He was armed with a revolver, a doubled barreled shot gun, a sharpened ice pick and a sharpened corn knife. Barra has been confined to an institution for the insane twice.

COUNCILMEN STAND PAT ON PLANT SITE

Hold Fast by Demand for a Central Location for Crematory.

That the city council is strongly disposed to stand pat on its demand that the new garbage crematory be given a central location and the site of the present plant on North Clinton street be abandoned for that purpose was indicated in the conference held Saturday afternoon by the board of works with President William A. Bayer and Councilmen Jacob Hartman, G. A. Rogge, A. H. Koller and Frank J. Schlebecker, of the council's special committee on garbage plant, for the purpose of discussing the board's plans. The proposals submitted a week ago by nine concerns for building a new plant were gone over and the members of the committee were shown what the board has under consideration. The question of the plans is not at this time considered by the council to be the uppermost issue. That body wants a central location and for several months had had in mind certain property in Murray street as a most eligible site because it is situated on a steam railway line and is in practically the geographical and population center of the city. The board does not believe it can command enough money to acquire that site and at the same time pay for a modern incinerating plant. The garbage plant fund contains about $30,000. The proposals submitted for a new plant offer crematories ranging in price from $6,000 to $41,000. Another conference may be sought. The board probably will not award a contract until some understanding has been reached with the council for that body must approve the contract.

FINDS DEAD BODY ON ENGINE PILOT

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 10.—Stretched across the pilot of his engine, Engineer John Riehl, of Lake Shore passenger train 64, found the unconscious form of Anton Crany, thought to have been a resident of South Bend, when he reached the division roundhouse at Elkhart Sunday night. Crany died in an Elkhart hospital a short time later. He had a South Bend paper, a program from a South Bend motion picture house and $61 in cash on his person. It is thought he was struck when the train passed through this city at 7:30. Police have been unable to locate relatives here.

MAYOR WILL TALK MUNICIPAL LIGHT

Mayor William J. Hosey has accepted an invitation to address a mass meeting of South Bend citizens, next Friday night, on the subject of the municipal ownership and operation of an electric light and power plant. The invitation came through Mayor Fred W. Keller, of that city, who has taken a prominent part in arrangements for the meeting, at which it is expected to launch a strong movement for municipal ownership in South Bend. Mayor Keller and other South Bend officials, who inspected Fort Wayne's plant and learned much of its successful operation while here a few weeks ago, have become enthusiasts. Superintendent Frank Dix, of the city plant, will accompany the mayor.

ROTARY CLUB TONIGHT.

Officers Recently Elected Will Be Installed at Banquet.

Installation of the new officers recently elected will be the principal feature of the first monthly banquet and meeting of the Fort Wayne Rotary club in 1916 at the Anthony hotel this evening. The gavel will be turned over to Frank Bohn, the new president, who will preside over the club during the ensuing year.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MAYOR M'CARTY IS GOING TO RESIGN

Chief Executive of Huntington Forced by Ill Health to Quit and Patrick Gorman Will Succeed Him.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 10.—Believing that by reason of his long illness he may not be physically able for many months to come to give attention to public business, Mayor P. M. McCarty yesterday prepared his resignation as mayor for presentation to the council at its next regular meeting, which will be Tuesday evening. Although his many friends urged the Mayor to postpone his resignation for a little while with the hope that he might possibly become in better physical condition, he insisted that he was neither doing justice to himself nor the people in remaining in office when for so long a time he has been unable to attend to his duties. The action of Mayor McCarty has been discussed among councilmen for several days, and the best step to follow in event the resignation should come up. When a majority of the councilmen were interviewed last evening the prevailing opinion was that some man should be selected who would act as mayor, and at the same time turn over the salary he drew to the family of Mr. McCarty. The councilmen have centered upon Pat Gorman. It is argued that Mr. Gorman can give his duties his attention, and at the same time is in a position financially to not look upon the salary as any inducement for acting as mayor in the place of Mr. McCarty for the city.

MONTPELIER W. R. C. INSTALLS.

Montpelier, Ind., Jan. 8.—One of the most enjoyable affairs in lodge circles for some time was the joint installation of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. in the I. O. O. F. hall. Mrs. Inez Twibell installed the newly named corps officers, while Mr. Lewis Reeves, of Hartford City, acted as installing officer for the post. Mrs. Bertha Twibell presented Mrs. Inez Twibell with a bouquet of carnations on behalf of the corps. Mr. Gray, past commander, Mr. Reeves, installing officer, and Mr. Adams, present commander, were each presented with a bouquet of the carnations by Mrs. Gay Millikan in behalf of the corps.

FUNERAL OF DECATUR WOMAN.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 10.—Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Susanah Ritter, who died at the home of her son, David Ritter, in this city. Mrs. Ritter was born in Ohio on October 20, 1832 and at death was 83 years, 2 months and 17 days old. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Roop and was reared in the vicinity of Willshire, Ohio. In young womanhood she was united in marriage to Tobias Ritter, who died many years ago. For a long time Mrs. Ritter had been in failing health, due to her increasing years. Mrs. Ritter is survived by three sons and two daughters.

THE LADY AND THE TIGER.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 10.—The first of the liquor law violation indictments returned by the grand jury at their November session was brought to trial in the circuit court today, when Mrs. Martha A. Wills, owner of the drug store at Sidney, will be tried. The trial is before a jury and the first in which the jury has been summoned during the December term. The indictment was returned against John B. Wills and Martha A. Wills, but before Wills was arrested he was informed that an indictment would probably be returned and he left the county for the state of Alabama in order to avoid arrest. As Mrs. Wills was part owner of the store she was arrested and gave bonds for her appearance.

WORKING ON NEW CLUE.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 10.—The authorities today were working on a new clew in the Rapp slaughter house robbery case. Instead of suspecting local talent, it is now believed that the theft was committed by someone living in a nearby town. A Ford auto truck was seen near the slaughter house on the night of the robbery and the officers have succeeded, it is said, in learning to whom the truck belonged. Two search warrants were issued today, but were not used, further investigation proving that there was not evidence enough against the men named in the affidavits to warrant searching their homes.

TYPHOID PATIENTS BETTER.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 10.—The condition of Mrs. A. J. Strauss and son Herman, who have been seriously ill at their home, corner Mitchell and Orchard street, with typhoid fever, is somewhat improved today. The temperaures of both patients are somewhat lower and hopes of their immediate recovery are now entertained. Investigation made on the part of the health officials has thus far revealed no apparent cause of the origin of the disease. Bottles of milk and water have been sent to the state department for analysis.

..SEIZES WOMAN IN DARK.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 10.—David Long, a local laborer, while laboring under the dementia of intoxicants, grabbed Mrs. Josephine Berry an employe at a local restaurant, as she was crossing the Clover Leaf railroad tracks at a lonely point. She screamed and tore loose from his grasp, and called Night Patrolman Ed Wingfield, whom she found at the Clover Leaf station. Long pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge in Mayor Mock's court and went to jail for eleven days.

HEARS DIVORCE SUIT IN CAMERA.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 8.—The divorce case of Mrs. Hattie McDowell against Homer McDowell was continued here today behind closed doors in the circuit court, before Judge W. H. Eichhorn. Sensational evidence attracted a crowd of curious "buzzards." In addition to a fight on the decree of divorce is a fight over the custody of a six-year-old daughter.

CHURCH SOLD FOR MISSION.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 10. The old United Presbyterian church, on West Cherry street, was sold Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clark, superintendent of the Cherry street mission, who will have the mission incorporated as a regular institution under the state laws.

JAY PHYSICIANS ELECT.

Portland, Ind., Jan. 10.—The Jay County Medical society in meeting here elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, Dr. C. W. Mackey, Portland; vice president, Dr. E. C. Garber, Dunkirk; secretary-treasurer, Dr. John S. Hickman, Pennville.

MRS. DUGAN ILL AT DECATUR.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Charles A. Dugan, of this city, is dangerously ill at her home with pneumonia and physicians are in almost constant attendance. Mrs. Dugan's mother, the late Mrs. Samantha Dorwin, one of the most widely known women of Decatur and Adams county, was buried Saturday afternoon from the Dugan residence.

When a man's efficiency is on the decline—when after a long day of effort the mass of work still stares him in the face—it's time to find out what's wrong.

Frequently a lack of certain necessary nutritive elements, in the daily diet, lessen mental and physical activity. A prime factor in efficiency is right feeding.

No food supplies, in such splendid proportion, all the rich nourishment of the field grains, for keeping the mental and physical forces upbuilt and in trim, as

Grape-Nuts

Made of whole wheat and malted barley this famous pure food supplies the vital mineral salts, often lacking in the ordinary daily diet, but imperative in building sturdy mental, physical and nervous energy.

Then, too, there's a wonderful return of power for the small effort required in the digestion of Grape-Nuts, which, with, cream or good milk supplies complete nourishment.

Bowser Salesmen Have Returned to Their Respective Districts.

A few of the Bowser Pacemakers remained over Sunday in the city, to spend the day with relatives and friends, but the majority of them left Friday night and Saturday for their respective homes and are no doubt today getting things in readiness for commencing an aggressive business campaign with the idea of accomplishing even more in 1916 than they did in 1915. Conditions at the local plant have resumed the normal also and business is being pushed along with all the vim the live wires back of it can generate. A new district office was organized and announced Saturday by General Manager S. B. Bechtel and next year there will be at least one more "bunch" of pacemakers at the convention. The new district office will be located at Memphis, Tenn., with H. W. Brown, formerly of the Atlanta office, at the head. Mr. Brown has been succeeded by H. C. Carpenter, manager of the New York city office. Another change involves the transfer of E. D. Carriger from Chicago, where he was assistant manager, to Louisville, to succeed E. J. Gallmeyer, transferred to Fort Wayne as editor of the Bowser Boomer.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Proverbs 13:1-18.

1 A wise son heareth his father's instruction. but a scorner heareth not rebuke.

2 A man shall eat good by the fruit of his mouth: but the soul of the transgressors shall eat violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life: but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction.

4 The soul of the sluggard desireth, and hath nothing: but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat.

5 A righteous man hateth lying: but a wicked man is loathsome, and cometh to shame.

6 Righteousness keepeth him that is upright in the way: but wickedness overthroweth the sinner.

7 There is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing; there is that maketh himself poor, yet hath great riches.

8 The ransom of a man's life are his riches: but the poor heareth not rebuke.

9 The light of the righteous rejoiceth: but the lamp of the wicked shall be put out.

10 Only by pride cometh contention: but with the well advised is wisdom.

11 Wealth gotten by vanity shall be diminished: but he that gathereth by labour shall increase.

12 Hope deferred maketh the heart sick: but when the desire cometh, it is a tree of life.

13 Whoso despiseth the word shall be destroyed: but he that feareth the commandment shall be rewarded.

14 The law of the wise is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death.

15 Good understanding giveth favour: but the way of transgressors is hard.

16 Every prudent man dealeth with knowledge: but a fool layeth open his folly.

17 A wicked messenger falleth into mischief: but a faithful ambassador is health.

18 Poverty and shame shall be to him that refuseth instruction: but he that regardeth reproof shall be honoured.

Candidates and Platforms

In the course of a recent address at Terre Haute, Arthur R. Robinson, of Indianapolis, who is contesting with James E. Watson and Harry S. New for the republican nomination for United States senator from Indiana, took occasion to discuss the candidate in his relation to the party platform. Mr. Robinson took the generally accepted position that it is not properly the province of the aspirant for office to attempt to dictate the platform of his party; that that duty is one delegated to duly constituted party authorities, and that too much meddling on the part of the candidate smacks of a dictatorship that is likely to be resented by the rank and file of the voters.

At the same time, Mr. Robinson holds, it is perfectly proper—if, indeed, not a positive duty—for the candidate to speak his mind on certain great moral question which may or may not be incorporated in the party platforms. Usually they are not. One of these in point is the issue of nation-wide prohibition, and Mr. Robinson has put new emphasis upon his declaration that if he is chosen to the United States senate from Indiana, he will vote to make the entire nation a "dry" nation. He desires the people of Indiana to clearly understand that fact, inasmuch as his party will probably decide against any expression of position in the matter in its state platform. It is very certain, also, that the people will want to know where their candidates stand on this question. Mr. Robinson's square-toed declaration has put his rivals in the hole in the matter, for it has been followed by a demand from many republican papers in Indiana that others emulate his candor and let the people know where they stand on something else than the question of tariff and preparedness. It will be a happy state of affairs if candidates can be forced to step outside the lines of party platforms and do some particularizing rather than so much generalizing. It can be done, too, without committing the political sacrilege of doing violence to the party platform.

An event of more than ordinary importance is the coming to Fort Wayne this week of Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel, noted physician, teacher, student and sociologist, for a series of addresses under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher clubs of the city. These addresses, to be given Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in various school buildings in the city, will be invaluable to those who are rearing children and to those who desire to know the whys and wherefores of correct living. Dr. Geisel is perhaps the foremost American authority in her special lines, and is everywhere recognized as a gifted woman whose life is consecrated to the highest usefulness. Do not neglect the opportunity to hear her.

The administration is said to have abandoned its effort to curb the congressional discussion of the president's foreign policy in dealing with ticklish situations brought about by the war, and has decided to give the solons unrestrained liberty in talking their various and several heads off if they care to do so. It had become very clear that unless some of them got an opportunity to do so before long, a good many of the surcharged statesmen were simply going to burst. Further weighting down of the safety valve would spell Danger with a big "D."

Many members of the progressive party in Indiana profess to be deeply pained by the fact that since his is the only petition filed for the bull moose nomination for governor, they will be forced to vote for J. Frank Hanly or nobody at all. They are now, it is said, basing hope on being able to frame a party platform that will cause Mr. Hanly to refuse the nomination. Altogether, there appears to be on exhibitions as much distress among the progressives as though there were danger of Mr. Hanly's election on that ticket.

Speaking for the League to Enforce Peace, Ex-President Taft issues a statement to the general effect that business interests of the world favor the restoration of peace in Europe. It is assumed, however, that the business interests in this case do not include those manufacturers of war munitions who are making money so rapidly that their cashiers are some weeks behind in the work of counting profits.

One is led to infer, from certain intimations he dropped while in Fort Wayne, that Jim Watson entertains the conviction that despite the fact that Judge Olds delivered the Twelfth district to Harry New, when the Fort Wayne man got out of the senatorial race, the district isn't going to stay delivered. It must be admitted, too, that there are some surface indications that seem to justify the Rushville man's opinion

(Dayton Herald)

The Canadian government is considering the advisability of erecting a monument in honor of the apple tree. It would do better to erect a lasting memorial to the man who, passing "through God's good greenwood chapel," planted the seed which was responsible for all the orchards of our boasted today. He may have been crazy—some folk held that he was, and we know that the Indians believed him to be of unsound mind, but he did a greater work for posterity than many a more conspicuous individual in the early history of our times.

More than a century ago a settler in Canada named McIntosh, when clearing a space in which to make a home in the wilderness, discovered among a number of wild apple trees one which bore fruit so well that he cultivated it and named it McIntosh red. That was one of Johnny Appleseed's products. He went far and wide through our northern border and over into Canada, with his scrip containing apple seed and Sweedenborgian tracts, planting both the seed of material value, and, as he believed, of spiritual truth. He was a man of tenderness and mercy, and many was the time that he was able to save the outlying settlers by giving warning of the coming foe. The monument should be erected in honor of the man and not in honor of the thing that he made possible in the wilderness of the great northwest.

NOTICE!

The annual election of the Hamilton National Bank, of Fort Wayne, will take place at the office of said bank on Tuesday, January 11th, 1916, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 3 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing directors to serve during the ensuing year, and amending article three of the Articles of Association to read as follows: "The Directors shall consist of not less than seven or more than eleven stockholders." THE OTHER SIDE OF THE WAR

(Kansas City Star)

German scientists claim to have found a yeast that turns sugar into fat; and another kind of yeast that produces protein ,or meat, from sugar; and that they get from the air the nitric acid they need in making explosives; and have found a substitute for cotton.

"Raw stuffs which we can no longer import we have learned to produce sufficiently and in plenty, from the things we have," says a German newspaper.

English chemists have been busy, too, since the war began, and have found a substitute for milk, of which the London Lancet says: "It is chemically indistinguishable from cow's milk and physically shows close relation to it, having a round, sweet, fatty flavor not unlike that of rich milk. And yet, there is not a drop of milk nor animal matter in it, every part of it being of a vegetable origin."

After all, the world may find itself indebted to the war for blessings that come out of war's great necessities.

"TIZ" FOR SORE, TIRED FEET---AH!

"Tiz" is grand for aching swollen, tender, calloused feet or corns.

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, aching, tender, sweaty feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions.

No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "Tiz." "Tiz" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. "Tiz" cures your foot trouble so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never, hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25-cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear smaller shoes. Just once try "Tiz." Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it. —Advertisement.

KANSAN'S SHEEP ARE THRIVING ON WAR

L. M. Crawford's Flock, Held in Russia, Increased 66 Per Cent.

Cottonwood Falls, Kas., Jan. 10.—In a little town in southern Russian L. M. Crawford, sheep raiser of this country, has a flock of thoroughbred karakul sheep which is held there awaiting the end of the European war. It will be then before transportation facilities are available to convey the sheep to their new home on the Crawford sheep ranch in this county.

Again, if the report of the Russian authorities is true, and if the war lasts much longer, Mr. Crawford may have double the original number of karakuls he bought over there.

Shortly before the European war broke out, nearly a year and a half ago, Mr. Crawford purchased a drove of sixty karakuls from a Russian sheepman. They were started on the way to America to be added to the Crawford karakul herd here. The war came on, however, while they were in transit in southern Russia and there the shipment of karakuls was held.

Quite regularly every few months word is received from the little Russian town reporting the sheep safe and giving the number of the flock. Last, but not least, the reports always ask a remittance from the owner to cover what seem to be remarkably large feed bills.

According to the last account the sixty head had been increased to one hundred by the arrival of numerous lambs.

In Los Angeles, every hotel, apartment building and private house must have a tag on it bearing the name of the owner.

SHERIFF POST ARRESTED

Union County Official Charged in Affidavit With Murder.

Liberty, Ind., Jan. 10.—E. E. Post, sheriff of Union county, is under arrest, charged with the murder of Carlo Hurd, Christmas day. The affidavit was filed by Calvin Mise, colored, in the court of J. C. Smelser, justice of the peace. Post and a deputy went to the Mise home to investigate the report of a fight. Hurd resisted arrest, it is said, and the sheriff shot him through the heart. This is the first time in the history of Union county when an officer has been arrested for killing a man when acting officially and much discussion has been caused. Post's bond was placed at $10,000, which he provided.

PROMINENT FARMER TELLS OF RELIEF

Charles Austin Attributes Improvement to the Work of Tanlac.

Charles W. Austin, 65 years old, a prominent farmer, who lives near South Milford, Ind., 30 miles north of Fort Wayne, is one of the hundreds of people of this vicinity who heartily indorse and highly recommend Tanlac because of good they have derived from the Master Medicine's use. Mr. Austin said:

"Since early last spring I have suffered from rheumatism in my limbs. I slept very poorly and I had no appetite.

"I heard of Tanlac through the Fort Wayne newspapers and I decided to try the medicine. Since taking Tanlac my rheumatism has been relieved greatly. My appetite is now good and I sleep soundly each night. The first bottle of Tanlac brought results for me."

What Mr. Austin said Tanlac did for him the Master Medicine is doing for hundreds of other people of Fort Wayne and vicinity. Daily many people tell of the relief they have derived through use of Tanlac and the statements come from some of the best people of this community.

Tanlac is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, rheumatism, catarrhal complaints and the like and is a fine reconstructive tonic, having proved of vast benefit to thousands suffering from the after effects of hard coughs, colds, la grippe, pneumonia and the like.

Taniac is now being introduced in Fort Wayne at the Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac man is explaining the new remedy. It also may be obtained at the other Meyer stores, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

SEEK STOLEN JEWELS VALUED AT $26,000

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—Jewels valued at $26,000 belonging to Lieut. Commander Cronin, U. S. N., and said by him to have been stolen from a trunk somewhere between Overbrook, Pa., and San Francisco, were being sought here today by detectives in the employ of the Wells-Fargo Express company. The trunk was shipped west when Commander Cronin was ordered from Pennsylvania to the Bremerton navy yard. The trunk was sealed when shipped and the seals, Commander Cronin reported, were intact when he opened the trunk here and found the jewelry missing.

OVER 300 NOW UNDER ARREST

Grand Jury Begins Investigation of Strike Rioting at Youngstown.

State Troops in Trains Nearby as Measure of Precaution.

Youngstown, Ohio, Jan. 10.—The grand jury today began an investigation into the rioting in Youngstown. More than 300 men have been arrested and a majority of these will be held pending the outcome of the probe which will be made under the direction of A. Henderson, prosecuting attorney of Mahoning county.

The gates of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company plant, which has been tied up because of a strike of laborers, were reopened today and preparations are being made to resume operations soon. Many former employes reported for duty and were at once put to work. The exact number to return was not made public. The furnaces are still banked, but workers were assigned to cleaning up and making repairs. No disturbances were reported.

Both regiments of the Ohio National Guard, which have been quartered on mill property since their arrival early Saturday, were removed last night. For the present they will continue to occupy their trains near the plant, but will be moved to quarters in other parts of the city and East Youngstown as soon as arrangements can be made.

Fred C. Croxton, mediator, sent here in an effort to settle the strike, continued his conference with representatives of the companies and employes today. Mr. Croxton conferred yesterday with James A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. He also plans to discuss the situation with W. J. Brady, of the Republic Iron and Steel company, whose employes are also on a strike.

SOUTH BEND POLES RAP RELIEF SCHEME

90 Per Cent. for Artists, 10 for Sufferers Not Acceptable Division.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 10.—South Bend Poles are up in arms against a Polish relief benefit planned for January 30 here. Mme. Franka Gordon Turgielewicz, eminent prima donna; Edward preiner, baritone, and Thaddeus de Wronski, of the Boston Opera company, are mentioned in the benefit musicale. Donald Johnson, one-armed pianist and protege of Paderewski, is another member of the company which was to give an entertainment from which money for Poland was to be derived.

At a meeting Saturday night all went well with addresses by Mayor Fred Keller, Mme. Gordon and Mme. Sohunska, of Chicago, a pupil of the prima donna, until it was learned that but 10 per cent of the proceeds was to go to Poland and that 90 per cent would be retained by the artists.

The meeting broke up in a row and Sunday, when final plans for the musicale were to be made, a petition of protest was circulated and signed by the mayor and other business men. "We favor a plan to raise money by subscription, all of which will go to the sufferers abroad, but withdraw absolutely from activities in any such ninety-ten plan as broached by this so-called national organization for relief of Poland," says the statement.

ITALIAN PRESS COMMENT.

Rome, Jan. 10.—"Germany pleads guilty," says the Giornale d'Italia, commenting on Germany's latest replies to America. The newspaper adds that Germany, by promising to give orders to insure the safety of passengers before ships are sunk implicitly admits that this was not done in the past, and she thus confesses crimes, the memory of which and the confession itself will be recorded in history.

Rushing the Bridge in Big East Youngstown Steel Strike

BUT THREE DEAD IN POWDER PLANT BLAST

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 10.—Three men were killed and a number injured in an explosion of smokeless powder early today at the plant of the DuPont Powder works at Carney's Point, N. J. It had been reported that a large number of men had lost their lives, but after an investigation the superintendent of the plant said that only three were dead.

The cause of the explosion is not known, but according to the superintendent there is no suspicion that the blast was due to outside agencies. The report that arrests had been made were denied.

The dead are: John Walsh, Nyack, N. Y.; Richard G. Barney, Philadelphia, and T. Wyndham, address not known.

The superintendent said the victims were employes but that they had no business in that part of the works where the explosion occurred. The blast was a terrific one and was felt twenty-five miles away. Wire communication with the plant was cut off by the shock with the result that the wildest rumors prevailed until daylight cleared up the extent of the accident. The property loss is small, as the explosion occurred in a small building of the plant. It was some distance from the main buildings.

ALL ANXIOUS TO HEAR MR. UNDERWOOD'S VIEW

Will Talk on Government Regulation of Transportation.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Unusual interest attaches to the mid-year meeting of the American Electric Railway association, to be held in Chicago, on February 4, owing to the fact that Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, has accepted an invitation to address the dinner, to be held on the evening of the 4th, in connection with the American Electric Railway Manufacturers' association and has taken as his topic, "Government Regulation and Our Transportation Systems."

Since President Wilson in his message to the Sixty-fourth congress, recommended an investigation by that body of the laws governing the transportation systems of the country, there has been much speculation as to just exactly what the administration had in mind, in suggesting such a proceeding.

Senator Underwood's prominence in the councils of his party, his familiarity with transportation affairs and his standing as a legislator, makes anything that he may say in regard to so important a subject of great moment and his coming address will be awaited by both transportation men and the general public with interest.

Two matters that are uppermost in the minds of public utility operators are down for discussion at this meeting. N. T. Guernsey, of New York, General Council of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, is on the program to discuss the first of these—"Valuation."

The second subject on the program is "Rate of Return," which in view of the attitude of public service commissions and other regulatory bodies in relation to the earning of utilities is a live issue.

In the membership of the association is embraced 37,000 out of the 41,000 miles of electric railways in the United States, as well as the most important mileage of Canada. Mexico, South America, Panama, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands are also represented.

TELLS OF NEEDS OF CHURCH IN BUSINESS

Hon. James P. Goodrich Speaks at First Presbyterian Church.

Emphasizing the need of the church in business, Hon. James P. Goodrich, of Winchester, delivered a splendid address Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church, the second of a series being given through the month of January by laymen under the auspices of the Men's club. The speaker declared that while the business man needs the church, the church also needs the business man; it does not need his money, but it needs the man and the good he may do in spreading the gospel and in promoting a better feeling and good will throughout the realm of business.

Mr. Goodrich declared that the church is the foremost factor in the battle to uphold a high standard of life with the present day mad rush for wealth and the greed for gold that permeates nearly all men. Many a man's character is divided into two apartments, he said, one labeled private and the other public. The speaker told of the downfall of Egypt, Greece, Rome and the countries of the old world due to loose morals and a lack of religious ideals. "Are we to meet with the same fate because we have not the time to give to the religion of our fathers?" he asked

Referring to Gen. Von Bernhardi's book, "The Next War," the speaker said that all the submarines, dreadnaughts and other tools and implements of warfare will be junk unless religious ideals be cultivated." He said he believed the church was rising to meet the situation that confronts it.

DR. SEAMAN AND WIFE HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Leap from Auto an Instant Before Machine is Hit by Train.

Dr. and Mrs. Kent L. Seaman, 331 West Creighton avenue, narrowly escaped death when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by Pennsylvania passenger train No. 2 on the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on the township line, about six miles east of the city at 9:30 o'clock Sunday evening

They were returning in their big Chalmers Six from Decatur and just as they reached the railroad their engine went "dead." The next moment they saw the headlight of the approaching train and leaped from the machine. They had only gotten a short distance away when their car was struck and almost completely demolished. The train was brought to a stop and the physician and his wife were taken to Monroeville.

The train was in charge of Engineer Jerry McCarthy and Conductor F Rogers.

WILL STRENGTHEN STATE LAWS.

South Carolina Legislature Has Important Matters Before It.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 10.—Bills to make illegal in South Carolina employment of children less than 14 years old, and to amend the new prohibition laws so that only one quart of liquor per month may be shipped into the state to any one individual instead of one gallon, as at present allowed, are expected to come before the South Carolina general assembly which convenes here in annual session. It also was said efforts might be made to make it illegal to ship any liquor into the state.

DYE WITNESS FOR STATE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10—William M. Dye, brother-in-law of Mary Friedley Price, for whose murder her husband, Frederick T. Price, is on trial in district court here, was among the witnesses for the state today. The state expects to complete its evidence before adjournment tomorrow. Among the witnesses it will call are Charles D. Etchison, of Washington, D. C., who, when arrested on joint indictment with Price, swore he saw Price kill Mrs. Price.

Invitations have been issued to an auction bridge party to be given at the Commercial club on Monday, January 17, by Mrs. William H. Dreier, Mrs. Edward Gilmartin and the Misses Dreier.

Miss Adelaide Baylor, of Indianapolis, who is at the head of vocational training in Indianapolis, and who is an undisputed authority in the work in Indiana, addressed the Woman's league at the Anthony hotel on Saturday afternoon, and not only said much that encouraged those already familiar with vocational work but enlightened something like two hundred other women whose ideas before were rather vague on this subject. Miss Baylor made it quite plain that vocational work means the education of the girl as well as the boy, along needed lines of endeavor and more especially along the lines of making a home not merely a pretty place in which to live, but one which is representative of woman's best handiwork, the work of her brains as well as of her hands, the outcome of well directed and scientific effort, not mere ly the blundering along in mere drudgery, hit or miss, doing possibly not as well as the woman of a century ago who had not half the things to solve difficulties with as the woman of today may use in her domestic life. Miss Baylor also made clear the fact that vocational work does not deal just with housework but with other avenues of work and many opportunities are open to women in business life for which they should be well qualified for that at no time should the home be lost sight of any more than should the married woman shut her eyes and ears to what is going on in the world outside her domain, thus placing herself in a position to be wholly unprepared for any unexpected effort on her part to cope with possible financial problems that sudden disaster may bring to her. Girls should be educated to be independent of effort no matter how much wealth they may possess and all girls should have a practical education in managing a home, in caring for their clothes, in handling the financial matters pertaining to a home such as buying, selecting and caring for household articles and paying the bills. In summing the matter up Miss Baylor declared that every girl should be trained to take care of herself in some kind of work whether there appears to be need of it or not. Mrs. Fauve, president of the Woman's league, presided at the meeting with Mrs. O. N. Guldlin as chairman pro tem for the home economics department of the league which had the program for the day in charge. Mrs. Guldlin introduced Miss Baylor in place of the regular chairman, Mrs. Lee Ninde, who could not take active part. A musical program was given by Gaston Bailhe, violinist, accompanied by Miss Edith Foster; Miss Pauline Heckman, soprano, accompanied by Miss Hiser, who arranged the program, and by Miss Constance Bogart, pianist. There was a very large attendance of league members and teachers from the schools. The hostesses for the afternoon were members of the two Shakespeare clubs, the Library Table and the Hebrew Benevolent society.

Mrs. Carrie Martin has returned from a two months' visit in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. William Lawson will be hostess on Wednesday for the Uhle Club club.

Miss Laura Ellert has returned from a three weeks' visit with her brother in New York city.

The Minuet club of the Boston Conservatory of Music held a social affair on Saturday evening.

Mrs. William Fox, of Thompson's Cove, N. Y., is visiting Mrs. Frank Rogers, of East Lewis street.

Mrs. J. L. Hall, of South Harrison street, has gone on a trip to Pittsburg, Philadelphia and New York.

Mrs. Oscar Ankenbruck entertained recently in honor of her sister, Mrs. Bernard Sputh, of Davenport, Ia.

The South Side Tennis club are to be guests at a game of bridge next Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D Pond.

Mrs. L. V. Russell is planning to go to Tipton this week to visit her friend, Mrs. Burick, who recently was the guest of Mrs. Russell.

Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Rand entertained on Sunday Dr. Howard Norris, H. C. Fox, James Jewel and Harry Loring, all of South Whitley.

Mrs. Marshall Commavish, of Ewing street, will be hostess for the Wednesday Bridge club of which she is a member, this week.

Roy K. Parks, who had been visiting Ernest Fruechte, of Broadway, for a week, returned to his home in Columbus, O., on Monday.

Miss Sue Barnett has gone to Los Angeles, Cal., for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Bomer, with whom she will remain the rest of the winter.

Fort Wayne Couple Married.

Frank B. Tyler and Miss Ada G. Repp, of Fort Wayne, Ind., were married Thursday by Judge F. H. Stone at the court house in Hillsdale, Mich.

THE SUFFRAGIST LUNCHEON.

Fort Wayne Women Gather to Hear Miss Stearns, of Milwaukee, Speak.

The local Equal Suffrage league, of which Miss Elizabeth Sihler is president and Miss Linda McKinnie is secretary, made a record for itself in the matter of success on Saturday at the Anthony hotel in the suffragist luncheon at 1:30 o'clock, at which an address was made by Miss Loutie E. Stearns, of Milwaukee. Musical numbers that brightened the program were furnished by Mrs. E. H. Kirkland, contralto soloist, accompanied by Miss Helene Clifford, and Miss Constance Bogart, pianist. Prominent club women of the city occupied a table at the luncheon with Miss Stearns and included Mrs. Clark Fairbank, president of the Indiana State Federation of Clubs; Mrs. A. E. Fauve, president of the Woman's league; Mrs. O. N. Guldlin, chairman for the time being of the Home Economics department of the league, and Miss Adelaide Baylor, of Indianapolis, who later in the afternoon addressed a meeting of the Woman's league on the subject of vocational work in public schools.

Miss Stearns made a vigorous and interesting address that sparkled at times with ridicule and charmed at other moments with its wit and raillery. However, there was also much sound argument and logic in it, notwithstanding the fun. For instance, Miss Stearns made a concrete example of herself in speaking of taxation without representation. She said that she has to pay a city, a county, a state and a state income tax; that she has to pay a tax on what her home would rent for were she not living in it. "They send me an income tax in Milwaukee, where I live and also in Madison, where I work," Miss Stearns adding that therefore she paid taxes under protest, since she had no voice in city, county or state affairs except to vote for school commissioner. "If a woman can vote as a stockholder in any corporation in the land, why can she not vote in the civic corporation of which she is a part?" asked Miss Stearns. "There is not a corporation in the world that discriminates against its women stockholders."

BEAUTIFUL RUSSIAN DANCER TO WED AMERICAN NEWSPAPER MAN

AT THE ORPHEUM.

A ROLLICKING FARCE.

Sam Hardy and Vivian Martin at the Orpheum in "Over Night."

Piquant Vivian Martin and Sam Hardy, the cleverest light comedian on the American stage are featured in this joyous farce hit, "Over Night."

William A. Brady produced the play two years ago and it had a great vogue in the leading theaters of the country. The story is simple and leads to a number of highly amusing complications. Two newly married couples start on their honeymoons on a Hudson river steamer, in New York, and the four young people get separated. One husband gets left behind with a strange bride; the other bride goes forward with the second husband.

At a Catskill hotel the ill-assorted couples finally meet and re-arrange themselves.

Tomorrow will find Marguerite Snow at the Orpheum in "Rosemary." Paul Gilmore is in the cast.

AT KEITH PALACE

GEORGE PRIMROSE HIMSELF.

Celebrated Veteran of Minstrelsy is at the New Palace.

With that celebrated veteran of some 20,000 miles of minstrel parade and several tons of burnt cork, George Primrose himself is the prime attraction at the New Palace on the bill for the first four days of the week. Mr. Primrose, with Harry Silvers, Happy Jack Lambert and others of his first and second part trouping days is presenting some snatches from minstrelsy, with the gags and songs right up to the minute. Mr. Primrose himself sings one of his best known ballads and does the soft shoe dance that spread the name of Primrose over the country.

Kelly and Galvin, the actor and the Italian, sprang some of the laughiest laugh stuff you'll hear in many a day. The serious minded wop with his surprising twists of the English language, is the best character role of its sort that vaudeville ever gave Fort Wayne.

Mlle Amoros and Ben Mulvey's vaudeville cocktail is a bracing draught. DeWinters, the ventriloquist, has a novel little act. In the first place DeWinters is a girl, but she fakes a man's voice to a queen's taste for a portion of the act and then does a quick change that discloses her as a very winsome little miss. She is a clever mistress of the technique of ventriloquism.

Because Miss Bell was unable to make a train connection from Detroit Mr. Valentine, of the team of Valentine and Bell, worked alone in the opening performance. During the remainder of the engagement, however, both the artists will be on the job presenting their classy bicycle novelty.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Fort Wayne people will be very much interested in this week's attraction at the Temple theater. The play which will be presented all week by the Temple Players is "The Lure," a remarkable play of the white slave traffic by George Scarborough as the result of the personal investigations which he made into the conditions in New York city. It is not the kind of a play, however, that will offend anyone. On the other hand it is the kind of a production that carries with it a splendid moral lesson and is the kind of a production to which parents send their young people. It is also a thriller and is intensely interesting. The customary matinees will feature the entire week.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

MARY PICKFORD.

Mary Pickford was the magnet that drew crowds to the Jefferson yesterday. This wonderful little woman was at her best and the opinion of all that had the good fortune to see the picture was that this is her greatest creation. As the Foundling, one of the most sweetly pathetic characters she has ever impersonated on the screen, she achieves the rare distinction of surpassing herself. The characterization, one of tears and smiles, of pathos and tender sentiment, will undoubtedly rank among the greatest film creations of this unrivalled mistress of the screen. This with the last episode of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" is for the last times today.

"Jordan Is a Hard Road."

Tuesday only will Frank Campau, Owen Moore and Dorothy Gish be seen in "Jordan is a Hard Road," a fine play showing the power of goodness and love. The added attraction is a galaxy of Broadway favorites including William Collier, Joe Weber, Lew Fields, Sam Bernard, Mack Sennett, Joe Jackson, Ford Sterling, Polly Moran, Mae Busch and others. They will all positively appear.

WAVE OF LA GRIPPE HAS BEEN BROKEN

Fort Wayne physicians believe that the wave of grip or influenza that has been sweeping the city has been broken. In some cities throughout the country, however, the epidemic reached serious proportions. In Fort Wayne the fatalities have been comparatively few to date.

The principal symptoms of the disease are fever, aching, chills and sniffles. Just because you see more men than usual with red noses is no reason for believing the crop of inebriates has suddenly increased. Neither is a snuffling appearance, coupled with a watery eye, a sign that the bearer is weeping. The troubles is due to la grippe and nothing else.

La grippe is no longer a plebian disease. With the rapid rise in the price of drugs, which have soared so high that it takes a quarter to get a bitter taste of quinine, la grippe has become a disease which only the elite can afford to flirt with.

Plenty of rest is given as the best cure, but it cannot be afforded by the most of the victims. If everybody who has the grip were to go to bed the output of war supplies would be badly crippled.

BULL MOOSE LEADERS GATHER AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Several members of the progressive national committee arrived today to attend the meeting called for tomorrow, at which the time and place for holding the national convention will be decided upon. Practically all of the members of the national committee in the city have expressed themselves in favor of holding the convention here during the week ending June 10, when the republican national convention will be in session.

The republican convention has been set for June 7 and a number of progressive committeemen favor that date for the progressive convention, while a few say a day or two later would be preferrable. Committeemen will be the guests of George W. Perkins, of New York, chairman of the executive committee at a banquet tonight.

Constantinople advices given out today by the Overseas News agency. It is said the Turks have advanced to the main defenses of the British.

The main British army in Mesopotamia, according to these advices, is in retreat, 10,000 men having been left in Kut-el-Amara to cover the movement.

Germans Launch Offensive.

An offensive movement has been inaugurated by the German forces in the Champagne. Announcement was made by the war office today that French positions extending over several hundred yards at a point northwest of Massiges had been captured by the Germans. The conquered positions are near Maisons in the Champagne. The Germans captured 423 prisoners, including seven officers, five machine guns, and one large and seven small mine throwers.

A French counter-attack made to the east of the positions taken by the Germans failed.

A German air craft division attacked the rear guard establishments of the allies at Furnes.

On the eastern front an advance attempted by strong Russian detachments at Belestinny was repulsed.

DISPUTED IN LONDON.

London, Jan. 10.—(3:53 p. m.)—The Turks in Mesopotamia were in full retreat on January 9 with the British pursuing them, it was announced in the house of commons today by J. Austin Chamberlain, secretary for India.

There had been heavy fighting on both banks of the Tigres on January 7, Mr. Chamberlain's announcement stated, and the British had taken two Turkish guns and 700 prisoners.

No Losses in Dardanelles.

The British retirement from the Dardanelles was refered to by Premier Asquith in addressing the house of commons this afternoon.

"The house will learn with extreme gratification of the retirement of the force at Cape Helles (at the tip of the Gallippli peninsula) without the loss of a single life," the premier said.

"The whole retirement was conducted with minimum losses. These operations, taken in conjunction with the earlier ones from Suvla and Anzac are, I believe, without parallel in military or naval history."

CLAIMS OF THE FRENCH.

Paris, Jan. 10.—Heavy attacks were made yesterday by German troops on the Champagne, the war office announced today. The German attacks broke down with heavy losses, the statement says, and although they gained temporary foothold in French positions at various places they were subsequently driven out everywhere, except from portions of two advanced trenches.

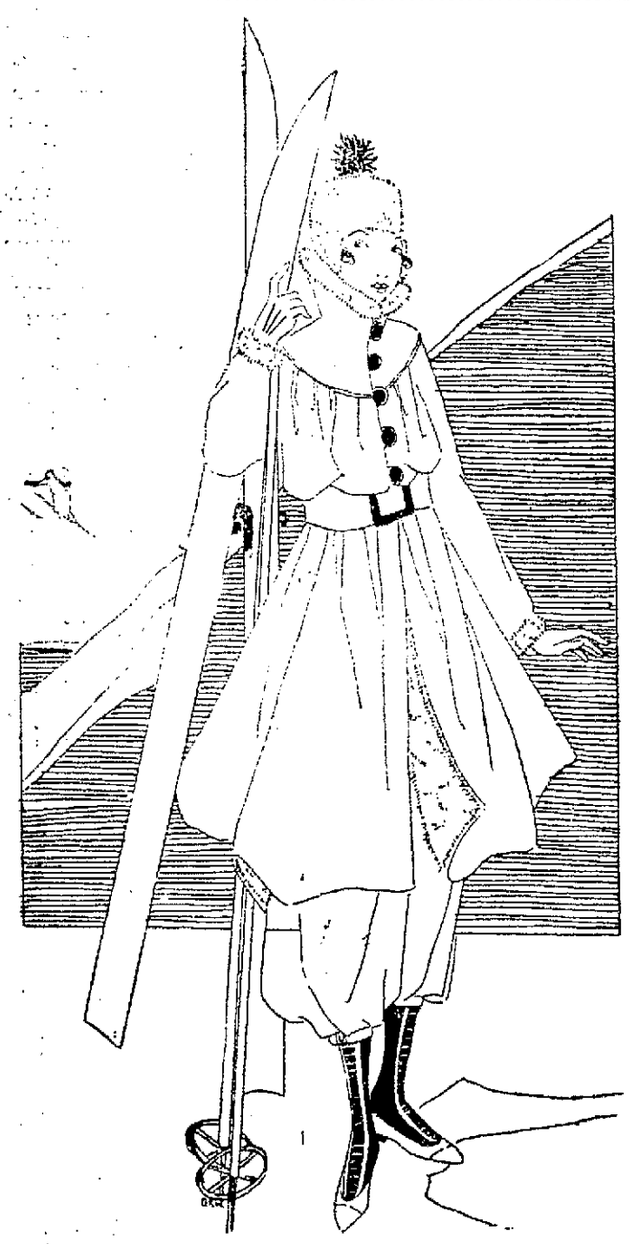
SH' SH' GIRL WHO SKIIS DOES SO WITHOUT SKIRTS



BY BETTY BROWN.

The winter girl reigns in the realm of fashion just now.

Foresighted designers may be planning spring modes but while she can make merry on skiis or skates the winter girl will give little thought to what she will wear next spring.

And the winter girl who skiis or skates is taking her out-door fun as true sport rather than pastime. Like the gir who rides or hunts, she has discarded skirts for the more convenient bloomers.

For a fashionable belle now popular at the famous winter resort, Chateau Frontenac in Quebec, Mme. Marguerite of the Fashion Art League of America has designed this boldly picturesque sport costume. It is made of pliable leather in West Point blue; the military coat is lined with squirrel skin; the English cap is of the same fur and the cuffs and collar are banded with squirrel.

Jacobs Music House

¶To mention Jacobs in Fort Wayne is to pronounce the word that stands for what is best in Piano Merchandising.

The Steinway Piano the leader

¶The strength of a name is well illustrated in the fact that when it is known that a Piano Merchant in a locality represents the Steinway Piano, his establishment at once has distinct prestige. This is true not merely because he has the agency for the most noted Piano in the World, but because it has been a fixed policy that only dealers of reputation and standing in their respective localities shall be appointed Steinway Representatives. In other words, it is the association of a Piano of world-wide fame with a Merchant who has won a position and standing in his particular locality. The Combination of the two makes the wareroom where the Steinway is displayed the natural rendezvous for people of the highest musical culture.

¶At Jacobs you have the advantage of seeing, comparing and testing side by side the finest and latest creations of the greatest Piano Builders. We offer the greatest values in the country. Our terms make it easy to own a high-grade Piano or Player.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.—Advertisement.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SAYS THE IDEA IS MAKING RAPID GAIN

Tariff Commission Plan is Winning Friends on All Sides.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—By way of adding to arguments in favor of a permanent tariff commission—advocating this reform as a national business policy—the chamber of commerce of the United States declares in a pamphlet just issued, the proposal is not political. According to this authority before the tariff revision of 1909 was determined upon a commission was urged by advocates regardless of party. Every time there has been attempt in either house or senate to make it a party measure there have been affirmative votes from members of the opposing party.

In 1911 the members of the house committee on ways and means—the committee in which party lines are most closely drawn, the committee which bears the burden of the present method of formulating a new tariff, and the committee which accordingly understands most completely the inadequacy of the facts upon which tariff bills are now based—unanimously approved a bill for a permanent commission. Champ Clark, at the time the minority leader of the house and since speaker, said, "The demand for such a board is insistent and increasing. In fact, it is widespread and, in my judgment, should be heeded."

Where Business Is Concerned

For sixty years the tariff has been a source of constant friction between government and business, the national chamber document points out. Whatever the tariff policy determined through national elections, its application by congress has been accompanied by controversies regarding the facts of industry and commerce. As these facts have never been authoritatively ascertained, except in a few instances, business men quite regardless of political beliefs find the prosperity of their enterprises and that of their employees menaced by legislation based upon data which is inaccurate and incomplete. Under such conditions consideration of new tariff legislation inevitably causes apprehension and uncertainty throughout the entire business world.

Universal recognition is accorded to these circumstances. In calling congress into extraordinary session for the last revision of the tariff the president declared that among his purposes was a desire "that the business interests of the country may not be kept too long in suspense as to what the fiscal changes are to be to which they will be required to adjust themselves."

Idea Is Gaining

To prevent these disturbances, which have no excuse in any orderly system of national government, a permanent tariff commission is advocated by the chamber of commerce of the United States. In fact this is one of the earliest subjects which came before that body when it was organized. At the first annual meeting, in 1913, about 350 delegates who came from constituent organizations in some forty states adopted resolutions urgently advocating a commission. During the spring of 1913 in a referendum taken among the 343 commercial organizations then in the membership of the chamber, the votes cast were 715 in favor of a commission and 9 opposed. Each organization was entitled to from 1 to 10 votes according to the number of its membership. In 1915, the delegates in the third annual meeting unanimously reaffirmed the position of the national chamber, which had been determined in the referendum of 1913. At this meeting the delegates number almost 600 and formally represented 260 commercial organizations.

WOMEN OF SEDENTARY HABITS.

Women who get but little exercise are likely to be troubled with constipation and indigestion and will find Chamberlain's Tablets highly beneficial. Not so good as a three or four-mile walk every day, but very much better than to allow the bowels to remain in a constipated condition. They are easy and pleasant to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

FORTUNE IN JUNK PILE

Twenty Thousand Dollars Paid Lafayette Dealer for Scrap Iron.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 10.— Oscar Winski, a local junk dealer, realized a fortune yesterday out of a pile of scrap iron he had been accumulating for the last six years. The heavy demands for old iron for use in making war materials for Europe, has advanced the price and a check for $20,000 was given Winski for his junk pile, which weighed 1,000 tons. A train of thirty-five cars will be used to transport it to the eastern purchaser, a large munition manufacturer.

SPEEDWAY RACES SHARED INTEREST

Indianapolis Program Had Much Attention at New York Auto Show.

New York, Jan. 10.—Perhaps no subject was of greater universal interest among the thousands of automobile owners gathered here during the automobile show than the coming season's speedway races.

During the automobile show, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the first built in the United States, issued its entry blanks for its sixth annual International Sweepstakes' Race, to be held in Indianapolis Tuesday, May 30, 1916.

The distance for this year's race is 300 miles. The opportunity to get rich "quick" is more potent for 1916 than ever before for the driver who is able to capture first place at Indianapolis, New York, Chicago and other speedway races.

There is just one little thing not to be overlooked, according to racing fans, and that is the word "quick." From the way the cars went faster and faster in 1915, the winning drivers have a most strenuous racing season ahead of them for this year. Veterans of the game believe that after the Indianapolis race, it will be practically possible to tell who will bank America's racing fortunes when the season is over, thus, aside from being the initial race sport of the year, the Indianapolis race will have even greater significance.

The Hoosier event will start at 1:30 p. m. and is for class "E" cars, nonstock 300 cubic inches piston displacement or under, maximum weight 2,500 pounds.

The management of the speedway, namely C. G. Fisher, president; A. C. Newby, first vice president; F. H. Wheeler, second vice president; J. A. Allison, secretary and treasurer, and T. E. Myers, general manager, have already opened the speedway's offices on North Capitol avenue, Indianapolis, and are busily preparing for the coming carnival of speed, which will initiate the new year.

It is interesting to note that every car must show a speed of at least eighty miles per hour in the official speed trials of one lap of the track in order to be eligible to start in the race. These speed trials are to be held on May 26th and 27th.

BOTTLE WITH NOTE IN IT PICKED UP

Had Been in Sea 16 Years and Writing Was Still Legible.

Hoquiam, Wash., Jan. 10.—After floating about in the Pacific ocean for years, a bottle containing a note, probably written and thrown overboard by one of the officers of the schooner Transit, has been found on the beach by an Indian, Bob Wayne, near Moclips.

The note was dated Aug. 10, 1899, and was perfectly legible, though the writing and the paper were considerably faded. The message with the note read as follows:

"Schooner Transit, Aug. 10, 1899.—Ten days out from Honolulu, H. I., bound to San Francisco. Weather calm and baffling wind. All is well. Lat. 39 degrees 44 minutes north. Long. 156 degrees 7 minutes west. J. Peterson."

Wayne found the bottle on the beach after the record high tide of the winter, which followed several days of a heavy off-shore blow, which brought in a heavy surf.

Southern Mit of Ritchie M. is Most Dangerous, Says Kilbane.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 10.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, has fought across the country from coast to coast in the eight years he has been in the ring and has just come upon a left hand he says is the greatest in the game. It belongs to Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee lightweight.

"I thought when I beat Abe Attell for the featherweight title I had beaten the best left hand in the business, but I found a better one when I met Mitchell in Cincinnati the other day," said the champion.

"Mitchell had his left in my face all the time. There was not much sting to it when he used it for jabbing, but it was a tantalizing thing and it's going to do Mitchell a lot of good in his chase for the lightweight championship.

"Attell had a number of different ways of using his left, and it was always hard to tell what he was going to do with it. That left hand got him the championship and allowed him to keep it twelve years.

"Johnny Dundee has a good left. He makes odd use of it by leaping into the air and shooting it forward.

"Patsy Kline has a terrific wallop in his left, and Joe Rivers is not so bad, but none of them compare with this Mitchell chap.

Mitchell ,according to Kilbane, makes it almost impossible for an opponent to try to "set" for a punch. The Milwaukee scrapper keeps shooting out the left in quick succession, and although there is not much power back of it sometimes, it is good enough to keep an opponent off his feet, and with it Ritchie is able, most of the time, to beat his antagonist to the punch.

There was something of a grudge between Kilbane and Mitchell as a result of a bout several months ago, and Kilbane went into their recent match determined to settle all doubt of supremacy. He tried harder for a knockout than in any other battle he has boxed in a long time.

The featherweight champion's efforts to step in and land a haymaker were repeatedly frustrated by Mitchell's left, which shot out time and again at just the right time to hold off his opponent.

"Mitchell has a bright future," said Kilbane. "At the rate he has improved in the past several months he ought to be champion in another year."

FRANK BIEMER TO ORGANIZE CLUB

Wants to Take Over Central League Franchise for Next Year.

For the first time since Jack Raidy locked up the gates of the Central ball park last fall Fort Wayne seems to have a chance to get into the professional game next summer. Frank Biemer, widely known in local sport and amusement enterprises, is taking it upon himself to organize a club to take over the holdings of William Klutzke et al., who now own the club. Today he is talking it over with the former owners, and there is a chance that they will get together. The outcome of the meeting will not be known for several days.

President Tuckerson of the Central league, was in the city yesterday getting the factions together.

BUY HOME FOR ORPHANS

Masons of Jeffersonville Plan to Carry Out Wishes of James A. Holt

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 10.—Clark lodge, No. 40, Free and Accepted Masons, has accepted the offer of John C. Zulauf, president of the Citizens Trust company, to sell his home east of the city to the lodge, for approximately $25,000. The property is said to have cost more than twice that sum. The purchase is made by the lodge as trustee under the will of James A. Holt, who left an estate now valued at $250,000 to establish a Masonic Orphans' home in or near this city. The trust was accepted and then refused by the Indiana grand lodge, which finally declined to comply with the requirement to build here. The ten-year period of accumulation, designated in the will, ends in April, when the home will be established. Mr. Zulauf will live in New York, having two daughters in school in the east.

THE GIST OF IT.

"Last December I had a very severe cold and was nearly down sick in bed. I bought two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it was only a very few days until I was completely restored to health," writes O. J. Metcalf, Weatherby, Mo. If you would know the value of this remedy, ask any one who has used it. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

WILL BUILD COURTHOUSE

Commissioners of Carrol County Ask Authority to Issue Bonds.

Delphi, Ind., Jan. 10.—The county commissioners have voted for the erection of a new courthouse in Delphi at a cost of $171,000, and issued a requisition on the county council for that sum. The board found that at the present time the sum of $12,000 is in the treasury. This would be available. Authority was asked to borrow the remaining $150,000 and to issue bonds, to run not more than twenty years, with interest not to exceed 4½ per cent. The bonds are to mature in installments.

Clothing for the poor of Fort Wayne will be received at 1029 Fairfield avenue, and distributed to worthy people through the Fort Wayne Mother's club and the various charitable organizations. M1-15-tf

REDSKIN SHOWS CLASS AS COACH.

George Dietz, the Indian known as Lonestar when he was winning fame in football at Carlisle, has won fame as a coach. It was his team, representing Washington State university, which defeated Brown 14 to 0 when the team of the eastern college eleven made a trip to the Pacific coast.

Washington also beat the Oregon Aggies and on the victory over Brown gains rating with the good elevens of the east.

Collegian Wrestles Real Bull in Training for Athletics.

OLLIE DRIESBACH, OF AKRON UNIVERSITY, AT HIS UNUSUAL TRAINING STUNT.

Akron, O., Jan. 10.—Ollie Driesbach, of Akron university, wrestles a real live bull to develop muscles for use in athletics.

Driesbach is the strongest student at the college and attributes his strength to his unusual exercise. He is a candidate for the basketball team of this season and did such good work on the football team in 1915 he was elected captain for 1916.

Driesbach wrestles the bull almost every day. He walks into the pasture where the animal is kept, with a trainman's flag fastened at his belt. The flag never fails to attract the attention of the bull.

The athlete has been thrown several times in his workouts, but has always come back for more. He grabs the bull by the horn and wrestles with him in an effort to force the bull's head to the ground.

In some of the battles Driesbach has been tossed hither and thither as the bull has swung his head and ranted about, but the athlete has been able to hang on and save himself from injury.

Driesbach's arm and shoulder muscles are unusually well developed. His rare strength serves him so well that in basketball he can shoot the ball the full length of the gymnasium without turning his body.

The young athlete is unusual in his mode of life as well as in his selection of exercise. He camps out all summer long and at the end of each week in the winter.

Friends of Driesbach say that except in the field he never throws the bull. He is modest and unassuming.

BROWN HOLMES FEARS AMATEUR BALL WILL KILL THE PROFESSIONAL GAME

(By Brown Holmes).

The fact that a major league baseball club has failed in a city that stands foremost in the development of amateur baseball, is a matter that must be taken into consideration in figuring on the prosperity of the professional game. It is a matter that enters into the prospects of the sport even with the Federal league war elliminated.

In Cleveland the bankers handling the affairs of Charley Somers have ordered that his American league and American association clubs be sold. In the same city fans point with pride to two national amateur championship pennants won by Cleveland amateur teams.

During the past two years when only a handful of fans has been attracted to the Cleveland American league park, amateur contests staged on city playgrounds a few miles away attracted crowds estimated at from 50,000 to 80,000.

On Saturdays and Sundays when there have been more empty seats than filled ones at the fine, big league park, fans have crowded life sardines in a box on the hillsides of a natural amphitheater in another part of the city and yelled themselves hoarse as kid teams battled.

Cleveland is not the only city in which fans have taken strongly to the amateur game. The wave of popularity of amateur sports has been sweeping over the country several years. In baseball the development was so great intercity series were staged in 1915 and the White Autos of Cleveland went all the way to the Pacific coast for an east-west series for the championship of the country.

At first major league club owners encouraged amateur ball, looking upon the amateurs as feeders to the professional game and figuring that there would be benefits all around if the amateurs helped create a baseball atmosphere.

Little did the magnates know that in a short time the amateur game would actually threaten the health of their enterprise.

That such a thing has happened cannot be denied in view of the situation in Cleveland and the wonderful countrywide boom in amateur sports of all kinds.

There is nothing the club owners can do to change conditions. It is simply up to them to wait and see if, by offering a high class article of ball, with less commercialism involved, they can regain patronage lost during the past two years of inferior ball, due to the baseball war.

Until this is decided it behooves them to hold down a bit in their hopes for the future. The amateur proposition is getting bigger all the time.

EXPECTS CONTRACTS TODAY.

New Owner of Chicago Nationals to Consider Salary Question.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Charles Weeghman, new owner of the National league club, expects to receive today from Charles Thomas, president of the Cubs, the contract of the players attached to the team at the close of the 1915 season. Weeghman and Joe Tinker, who is to be manager of the club, have been in conference several days regarding the salaries called for in these contracts, many of which are said to be so high as to make necessary a readjustment of the proposed schedule of operating expenses during the coming season.

FARMER KILLS A BIG EAGLE

Elnora, Ind., Jan. 10.—Amos Ragle killed an eagle on his farm near here. The bird measured seven feet and five inches from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. It was first seen in the neighborhood about three weeks ago, when it carried off a goose from the farm of George Todd.

DOES SPEEDING IN RACING AUTOS GIVE PET DOGS HEART TROUBLE?

The newest disease is "auto heart" and the first victims, it has been found, are the pet dogs that ride daily with famous racers during their practice trials. "Silent Six," the pet bull owned by Mrs. Dario Resta, wife of the famous auto racer, is one of the first reported to be suffering from the new malady. "Silent Six" is here shown in a racing car with Mrs. Resta.

TIGERS MAY LOSE $15,000 "BEAUT."

The Detroit American league club will be out $15,000 if Bill James, pitcher, bought from the St. Louis Americans, follows the advice of a physician in San Francisco, his home.

James, according to a report, is not strong and has been advised against leaving the Pacific coast climate. The Tigers bought James late last season, figuring he would give the club just the extra pitching punch needed to land the pennant. He worked in less than ten games.

GRIFFITH AND DAWSON WIN.

California Men Take Far Eastern Tennis Victory at Manila.

Manila, Jan. 10.—Clarence J. Griffin, of California, who with William M. Johnston holds the American tennis championship in the doubles, and Ward Dawson, of California, won the far eastern lawn tennis doubles championship today by defeating the Japanese players, Kumagae and Mikami. Kumagae, the champion of Japan, defeated Griffin singles championship last week.

Will Give Away 50 Pounds to Get Bout

JACK DILLON.

Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, is in an odd position in the ring. He is willing to give away from twenty-five to fifty pounds, but has a hard time getting matches. Dillon was kept busy for awhile but treated his opponents so roughly that fighters of his weight began to dive for the cyclone cellar when he hove into sight.

Dillon weighs 175 pounds and has to go away out of his class for bouts. He will meet anyone. He'll let Fred Fulton, the Minnesota giant, come in at 225 pounds if he wishes, or he'll take on Jess Willard, who towers far above him, and weighs fifty pounds more.

GEORGE BENNETT HERE.

George Bennett, old time baseball star, and favorite of many seasons, but now a mere business man, was a visitor here Sunday, stopping at the Anthony hotel.

Oldest Dance Master, By Crickety, Made New York Sit Up to See Him Fox Trot

The oldest dancing master in the country in action and inset portrait of Col. Kretlow, who is 71 years old and hails from Chicago.

New York, Jan. 10.—He is 71 years old, he wears a rubber collar and woolen socks and his whiskers, the flowing kind, reach half way to his waist—

But, by crickety, old Colonel Kretlow is still one of the best dancing masters in the country.

He hails from Chicago and has just proved the sensation at the convention here of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing.

Jealous rivals called him the "human fire trap," because of his rubber collar and his whiskers, which haven't been trimmed for 50 years. But the only thing the colonel burned up was the dancing floor of the McAlpin hotel.

Nor is that his only claim to distinctive dancing. The colonel, if it is convenient, prefers to take a cold bath just before going on the floor for an exhibition. He says it tones him up, gives him pep, and puts "spring" into his legs.

"You can say what you want about my rubber collar," he says, "but I want to tell you this—rubber collars are a lot more dressier than starch one's and much more economical."

Although Colonel Kretlow wears a frock coat when dancing, he is not a bit old-fashioned in his steps, no sir-e-e, he won't waste time on anything but the latest thing in fox trots.

And he must be good, for all the girls want to dance with him.

EVERYTHING IN THE STORE AT LESS DURING THE JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

THE WHITE SALE JOINS FORCES THIS WEEK WITH THE CLEARANCE SALE!

In the cheeriest and sunniest of factories where sanitary conditions are carefully looked after the undergarments for this JANUARY WHITE SALE of 1916 were made--painstakingly with great concern that they should be all we expected of them.

They have met our expectations, for better drafted, better made, more prettily trimmed, daintier, more truly beautiful undergarments were never made to sell at the prices of these.

Materials are snowy fresh, buttons of first quality; buttonholes and finish generally, perfect. That this sale should reach these requirements is a matter of course. But over and above this the Sale is full of new ideas, and is of peculiar interest to all women replenishing their inner wardrobes for the Summer ahead.

The great majority of the undermuslins included are of the moderately priced, durable sorts, which there is such a hue and cry after just now. Good muslins, fine nainsooks and cambrics, fine, firm embroideries, simple laces, all spandy fresh, are the foundations of this sale. And all these materials are made up to meet our standard for White Sales—cut over good patterns and beautifully stitched and finished.

Corset Covers

—Dainty little corset covers of fine nainsook, trimmed with lace insertions, medallions and ribbon beadings; some have the new short sleeves; an extra special feature for the January White Sale at 39c

—Silk crepe de chine and nainsook corset covers, made with and without sleeves; some elaborately trimmed, others exquisite with dainty laces; values up to $2.50. January White Sale 89c

—Beautiful sheer nainsook gowns, in slip-over style with V neck lace yokes; others with embroidery yokes; some hand embroidered, and many plain with fine tucks; flesh and white; wonderful values in the January White Sale $1.00

—Slip-over gowns, well made and trimmed with embroidery and lace insertion; January White Sale 45c

—Night gowns of nainsook or fancy crepes in Empire effects; some elaborately trimmed; others with plain edging of embroidery or lace; January White Sale 89c

Comptroller of Currency Tells of Vast Growth of the Banks.

Washington, Jan. 10.—"Development and growth never paralleled in the financial history of any country," is the way John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency describes in his annual report to congress, the operation of the national banks under his charge, during the period from October 1914, to November 1915, the first year under the federal reserve system. The report was today presented to congress.

Mr. Williams gives a comparative statement of the condition of the national banks to back up his statement. He shows that net resources of the banks increased in the year $1,743,878,348, that deposits increased $2,081,530,164 and that loans and discounts increased $917,450,502. Available cash increased in the same period $862,000,000 and on November 10, 1915, the reporting national banks had excess reserves of $891,000,000. Tables show the comparative condition of banks in 1895 and 1915. In September, 1895, there were 3,712 reporting banks with net deposits of $1,089,300,000 and loans and discounts of $2,059,408,402, while in November 1915 there were 7,617 reporting banks, with net deposits of $9,079,471,447, loans and discounts of $7,233,928,973.

Far Above Record

"The reserves held by the national banks November 10, 1915," says the report, "exceeded by $587,000,000 the greatest reserves ever held at any time prior to the passage of the federal reserve act. Loans and discounts amounted to more than the total loans and discounts of all banks, including national, state, savings and private banks and loan and trust companies—as late as the year 1902."

Mr. Williams says that the "banking power" of the United States—the capital surplus, circulation deposits, etc.,—of all reporting banks, national and otherwise, with an estimate of the figures for non-reporting banks, amounted in June 1915, to $25,397,100,000, an increase in a year of about $1,057,000,000. Savings bank depositors increased by 176,256 during the year ending last June, with total deposits of $4,997,706,013, an increase of $61,114,163. The average deposit, however, decreased from $444.36 to $442.83, while the number of banks increased from 2,100 to 2,159.

What He Recommends.

The comptroller's principal recommendation for legislation is for an amendment to the Bank law authorizing and directing the department of justice to bring suits against usurers upon information furnished either by the comptroller or through other sources.

Other recommendations given under a heading To Prevent Bank Failures, propose: To prohibit officers from borrowing from their own banks; to prevent loans to directors except with the approval of the board; to require officers and employees to give surety bonds; to limit direct and indirect loans to one individual, form or corporation; to prevent or limit overdrafts; to require certificates of deposit to be signed by two directors; to prevent erasures on the books o ofa bank; to limit interest paid on deposits; to authorize the establishment of branches in the United States; to permit branches in Alaska and insular possessions; to authorize minimum interest charges—which ordinarily might be usurious—on small loans and to authorize the comptroller to bring proceedings against directors for losses sustained by a bank through violation of the bank act.

The report renews the comptroller's recommendations of last year for other legislation, including the giving of authority to the comptroller to remove directors guilty of persistent violations of the bank act.

Why Banks Are Broken

"Banks," says Mr. Williams, "nearly always are broken, not by bank robbers, who have come from the outside, not by failure of customers to whom they have lent money, but by the tying up or dissipation of the banks' funds through loans to their own officers and directors, or else by direct defalcations and embezzlements by trusted officers. If these evils are remedied—and they can be remedied if certain simple and much needed amendments can be secured to the national bank act—failures among national banks can be reduced to a negligible number, or be absolutely eliminated."

Mr Williams shows there were 14 failures during the 12 months ended October 31. In the last 50 years, he says, there were 208 failures attributable to criminal acts while injudicious or careless banking was responsible for 136 others.

The comptroller devotes much space to presenting his side of his fight with national banks to prevent the charging of usurious interest rates. He gives tables of loans by banks in different sections to back up his charge and says that complaints have come of this practice particularly directed against small banks in the south and southwest, west and northwest.

"It is time," says the report, "for all banks of this country to realize that the federal reserve act was framed to benefit not only the banks, but also the customers of the banks; that one of the great objects of the law was to decentralize the money of the country; to effect a more equitable distribution of capital and do away with the old system, by which the resources of our banks have been so greatly concentrated in a few cities or sections, there to be loaned out largely on speculative ventures, while in other regions money needed so urgently for the legitimate purposes of industry and of development has been scarce and often times obtainable only, if at all, at rates injurious if not prohibitory."

Mr. Williams says that usury unchecked means "depopulation, hopelessness, thriftlessness and resulting loss of producing capacity." He closes with the statement that intimate connection with the affairs of his office has shown that the large majority of American bankers are honest and anxious to obey the laws, patriotic and intent on building up their communities and the country.

Speaking of the federal reserve system, Mr. Williams says the withdrawal of reserve funds from banks in the large cities and their transfer to reserve banks has not caused the predicted "convulsion from which the whole country would suffer." "The business and commerce of the United States," he points out in this connection, "have not contracted. They have expanded to dimensions never before reached."

The report adds that if the reserve act is amended so that all reserves ultimately to be transferred to reserve banks be withdrawn now instead of at at the end of three years as the law now provides, there will be no disturbance or inconvenience to the national banks, which hold the funds to be transferred.

DECATUR NEWS.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 10.—Miss Ina Wright, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday here with Miss "Tonk" Melbers.

Mrs. John Niblick writes from West Palm Beach, Fla., that her sister, Mrs. Hattie Studebaker Obenauer, is recovering; that she is gaining strength slowly and that the family is greatly encouraged but that she is not yet out of danger.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heuer, Misses Grace and Ruby Miller, Bess Schrock, Freda Wemhoff, Mrs. F. M. Schirmeyer and Mrs. W. P. Schrock were among those from here who heard Mme. Louise Homer and the Baible trio concert in Fort Wayne.

Miss Pearl Carpenter returned to Fort Wayne after a visit here with her grandmother, Mrs. John Coots. She was accompanied home by Leona Thompson.

Miss Corinne Leedy returned to Fort Wayne after a visit here with Miss Leah Hensley.

Mrs. E. Rockstroh returned to Fort Wayne after a visit here.

Miss Agnes Miller visited with relatives in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Jessie Deam was called to Indianapolis by the death of her brother, Rufus K. Allison, who died of a sudden attack of the heart. She was accompanied by Mrs. P. G. Hooper and Mrs. P. B. Thomas. Mrs. Allison is also quite ill.

Alfred Gehrig fell while playing basketball and sprained and bruised his shoulder.

Eugene Durkin, son of T. J. Durkin, was shot in the ankle by a large air rifle in the hands of a playmate. The stocking was carried in with the bullet, which penetrated the large tendon of the foot quite a depth and was then pulled out again with the stocking.

The funeral of Susannah Ritter, 83, was held this afternoon at the United Brethren church.

Miss Rose Conter entertained the Friday Night Bridge club in a pleasing way.

George A. Kintz went to Fort Wayne for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Lankenau.

The Daughters of Dorcas were entertained by Miss Flora Fledderjohann.

The Zion Lutheran Ladies' Aid elected Mrs. C. Boknecht president, Mrs. Fred Scheumann treasurer, and Miss Martha Koldewey secretary.

The jury failed to agree in the $25,000 breach of promise suit of Sarah Miller, 53, against Samuel Barger, a wealthy Magley farmer. A new trial will be held.

CASE IS DISMISSED WHEN STATE RESTS

Action Against the Maier Fur Co. Fails Because of a Defect.

After putting in three hours Monday morning listening to the testimony of the state in the action brought against the Maier Hide & Fur company, of West Columbia street, for maintaining a public nuisance, the city court sustained a motion of the counsel for defense and dismissed the suit. The ground of the motion was that the summons upon the defendant was faulty because the affidavit had not been read when it was served. A dozen witnesses for the state—business men and their employes on West Columbia street—had testified against the defendant to the effect that offensive orders came from the hide and fur store and the prosecution then rested. Attorneys Frank J. Belot and Joseph M. Haley for the defense then moveed a dismissal, which was granted. The state prepared a new summons to be served Monday afternoon and the case will be retried.

Ex-Convict Given Time to Get Out.

George Mitchell, an ex-convict arrested by Detective Sergeants Walter Immel and M. A. Rundell, was arraigned as a suspicious vagrant and promised to get out of town at once if given a chance. He was turned loose. Mitchell was sent to the Ohio penitentiary in October, 1911, for stabbing a man during a fight in Toledo. He served a year and a half and was released. His identification was established by Detective-Sergeant Joseph Brennan, of the Fort Wayne Bertillion bureau.

Other City Court Cases.

Percy Whitehead and Earl Harris, two 17-year-old lads arrested for vagrancy, were allowed to go, promising to find work. Whitehead ran away from his home in Goshen and the police were asked to look for him here. He told the court that he could not get along at home and there was nothing to be gained going back. Harris said he was a draughtman's assistant and left home in Grand Rapids because his job was paying him too little and he did not want to burden his parents.

Frank Rathert, charged with disorderly conduct, was having trouble in his home on North Clinton street and the police were called. He promised to be good and was allowed to go.

Ed Gillen, who was released from jail Saturday, picked up drunk Sunday and arraigned Monday, went to jail for another fifteen days.

Jim Gibson, a vagrant who was begging on the streets, drew $5 and costs and went to jail, while Henry Ryan, who was a nice sober vag, was given a chance to leave town.

Charles Rutherford and Curtis Hulbert, drunks, were turned loose.

HATTIE HAD COMPANY.

While Detective Sergeant W. F. Pappert was looking for a young girl the police department has been asked to apprehend he went into the apartments of Fannie Zaugg, a well known police character, at 522½ Clinton street, Monday morning. He found Hattie and Oscar Little under circumstances that warranted arrest and both were locked up on a charge of specific immorality. Little, who stands about 6 feet 6, is employed as a motorman on the city car lines. Hattie was much cast down because she expects to go into court this week to defend herself in a divorce suit.

NOTES OF THE POLICE.

George Coling, for twelve years a member of the Fort Wayne police department as patrolman and detective, but now employed as chief inspector of the Pennsylvania railway police, with headquarters in Pittsburg, is in the city visiting friends.

Chef of Police Charles Lenz is having trouble keeping the patrol boats properly covered owing to the number of his men who are sick. Patrolmen Greer, Kavanaugh, Laughlin and Murphy are off duty owing to attacks of grip and Lieut. Harry Grimme, day commandant, is at home trying to fight off an attack of the malady.

IN THE CHURCHES

REV. F. A. SHERIDAN SPEAKS

To Members of Cathedral Holy Name and Married Men's Sodality.

Rev. F. A. Sheridan, C.S.V., member of the faculty of St. Viator's college at Bourbonnais, Ill., spoke to the members of the Holy Name society and Married Men's sodality of the Cathedral congregation at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning. These two organizations received holy communion at this service.

Rev. Sheridan delivered a masterly sermon on the aims and objects of the Holy Name society. He gave a vivid comparison of the members of the society to the Crusaders of old. While the latter set forth to rid the holy land of the Moslems, the former organization is engaged in battling against profanity, cursing and obscene language.

The Married Men's sodality met in the afternoon and elected the following officers: President, Arthur D. Kelker; Peter J. Reilly was chosen first assistant prefect; Thomas Quinn, second assistant; George Freinstine, secretary; Philip Lordier, treasurer; M. C. Robinson, sacristan, and Julian Henry, banner bearer. The annual report was presented by Treasurer Lordier, who was re-elected.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY RALLY.

At St. Patrick's Catholic Church Is Attended by 500 Men.

The Holy Name society rally at St. Patrick's Catholic church Sunday evening at which time Rev. William A. Bolger, C.S.C., delivered a powerful addfess, was attended by over 500 men of the congregation.

The gifted speaker, who is dean of the department of political economy at Notre Dame university, was heard in three sermons at St. Patrick's, Sunday. His initial discourse was at the 7:45 a. m. mass when the members of the Holy Name society received holy communion in a body. He delivered the second discourse at the high mass services at 10:30.

The men marched from the lyceum to the church at the evening service and occupied the main aisle pews. In his sermon Rev. Bolger emphasized the power of Christianity which transformed the old pagan world into Christendom. Reviewing existing conditions, the speaker made manifest that there can be no new basis for civilization, that no successful plans can be laid except on the foundation or on those principles established by Jesus Christ.

FOURTEEN ARE CONFIRMED.

Bishop John Hazen White Officiates at Trinity Church.

Rt. Rev. John Hazen White, bishop of the Michigan City diocese, made his visitation at Trinity Episcopal church and administered the rites of confirmation to a class of fourteen members. Special music was given by the vested choir under the direction of Fred G. Church. A large congregation was present to witness the impressive ceremony.

The bishop delivered the sermon, which was more in the nature of a personal talk to the members of the class. He spoke of the spiritual meaning of their acceptance of divine guidance and love and protecting care for the remainder of their lives.

In closing the bishop urged those who were confirmed to make it a daily rule of their lives to devote some portion of the day to meditation and prayer.

Bishop White left Sunday evening for New York city where he will be in attendance at a missionary gathering of the church.

BUILDING 400 FEET OF RETAINING WALL

Pennsylvania Puts Force of Men on Improvement at the 'Lights.

The maintenance-of-way department of the Pennsylvania took up the work of building a retaining wall between the spur siding at the Fort Wayne Electric works and the eastbound freight track of the main line this morning. The wall starts at a point about midway between Broadway and Fairfield avenue and runs east 400 feet, being eight feet high the greater portion of the distance. The "footing" will be seven feet wide and one and a half feet thick, constructed of concrete, and the retaining wall proper will be of reinforced concrete crib construction. C. W. Jenkins, of the engineering department, will have charge of the work. This wall will be built to support the main line tracks, along which it runs its full length.

TESTING "BUNCH" ENTERTAINED.

Former Foreman M. S. Willson is the Host at Banquet.

M. S. Willson, the retiring foreman of the testing department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, gave the men in the department a dinner at the Y. W. C. A. diningroom Saturday night. In the happy group surrounding the table were Rev. A. J. Folsom, A. L. Hadley, M. S. Willson, Ray Hoffman, George Ruck, George Blakesley, Ralph Craig, Samuel Anglin, Fred Smith, Charles Chatley, Andrew and Charles Braun, Fred Harding, Russ Harruff, R. C. Chase, J. Latham, Andrew Farrell, James Carman and several others. Speeches were made by Mr. Willson, Raymond Hoffman and Rev. Folsom. Mr. Willson was recently promoted from foreman of the testing department to the position of ispector in the engineering department and the dinner was in the nature of a farewell party to the testing "bunch," as he calls the men in the department. Raymond Hoffman, for several years assistant foreman was appointed foreman of the department. Mr. Willson occupied that position twenty-five years.

NICKEL PLATE AUXILIARY.

Division 513 Has Installed the Officers Recently Elected.

Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has installed the officers elected a month ago and starts the new year under most auspicious circumstances. The auxiliary continues to increase its membership and is otherwise in a prosperous condition. The new officers are: Past president, Mrs. T. E. Short; president, Mrs. M. J. Maroney; vice president, Mrs. F. M. Baldwin; secretary, Mrs. W. O. Granger; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Reed; insurance secretary, Mrs. Howard Mansfield; chaplain, Mrs. J. D. Moore; guard, Mrs. Charles F. Merriett; sentinel, Mrs. A. E. Evans; marshals, Mrs. C. H. Minser and Mrs. F. E. Fagan; pillars, Mrs. Myron Robbins, Mrs. John W. Sanburn and Mrs. O. L. Shearer, and musician, Mrs. W. C. Happle.

TWO MORE ENGINE CREWS.

G. R. & I. Prepares for Increasing Business.

The movement of freight over the G. R. & I., which has been steadily increasing for a week or two, has reached a point where more engine crews are needed and two passenger firemen were "set up" to freight engineers today. They were C. J. McDaniel and T. J. Ahern. This increase in freight crews has been followed by the recall of two of the furloughed firemen. E. A. Parham, who was working on the farm, and E. W. Taylor, who was employed for several months at the Fort Wayne Electric works, were the men recalled and put in service as firemen.

ONLY FIFTY TO PURDUE.

Farmers Send Small Delegation to the Short Course.

Allen, Wells and Adams counties did not contribute the big delegation to the Purdue short course Monday expected of them. Agricultural Agent Clarence Henry, of Allen county, had the matter in hand and had arranged with the Wabash for a special train to carry upwards of 150 people. The special train ran all right, leaving the city at 11:30, but the passengers were only about one-third of the expected number, there being just fifty. The course continues three days and most of the party will not return until Thursday night or Friday morning. The special train was in charge of Conductor Freshour and Engineer Wagner and it consisted of six cars.

G. R. BLAKESLEY IN NEW POSITION

George W. Blakesley, for several years employed in the testing department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, left Saturday night for Kilbourne, Wis., where he takes charge of the extensive plant of the Southern Wisconsin Power company, which operates a lighting system. Some years ago Mr. Blakesley held a similar position at Mattoon, Ill., retiring when the management changed and returning to the Fort Wayne Electric works. He is an expert in his line and his services are always in demand. Mr. Blakesley is a son of Pennsylvania Conductor J. S. Blakesley.

BRAKEMAN LINDEMAN AT HOSPITAL.

R. R. Lindeman, a Grand Rapids and Indiana brakeman, is very sick at St. Joseph hospital. He was taken suddenly with appendicitis Saturday night and early Sunday morning was rushed to the hospital and operated upon. Last night his condition was said to be bad, but a change for the better has taken place and he will probably recover.

ATTENDING CORONER'S INQUEST.

Conductor Maurice Prindiville, Engineer E. O. Bradley and Fireman W. C. McCormick, of the Pennsylvania, were summoned to Warsaw today to attend the coroner's investigation into the death of Peter Mitterling, the man whose horse ran away and dashed onto the Pennsylvania tracks in front of fast train No. 48 Thursday, when both driver and animal were instantly killed. The signal bell was ringing announcing the approach of the train when the accident happened and it is said no blame attaches to the engine or train crew for the fatality.

MACHINISTS PLAN BUSY WEEK.

Machinist union, No. 70, expects a busy time this week. Tomorrow night the organization committee for the entire city will meet at the hall; Wednesday night the shop committee of the Fort Wayne Electric works will hold a session and Friday evening there will be other shop committee meetings.

Y. M. C. A. MEETINGS.

Tonight the committee of management of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. will meet in regular session and tomorrow night the membership committee will hold a meeting. The educational committee meets Friday and the regular shop meetings will be held at noon Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, making a busy week for the secretary and his assistant.

NEW ASSISTANT FILE CLERK.

Edward Klein, formerly employed as a stenographer in Chief Clerk W. L. Wilt's office of the Pennsylvania motive power department, has been promoted to the position of assistant file clerk. He succeeds Otto R. Roesener, who was called to Pittsburg and assigned special work several weeks ago.

BLACKSMITH HAS HAND HURT.

Blacksmith M. Feuchter, of the Pennsylvania shops, will be off duty a few days as the result of an injured hand. While at work this morning a piece of steel thrown out by the hammer struck the member and embedded itself in the flesh.

ATTENDED MUSSER FUNERAL.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, turned out largely to the funeral of its late brother, W. H. Musser, this afternoon. Services were held at 2:30 o'clock at the family home, 1231 Van Buren street.

I. CLEM RECOVERING.

Passenger Engineer I. Clem, of the G. R. & I., will soon be at work in the cab again, after a severe and at one time dangerous attack of pneumonia. He was confined to his home for about three weeks.

GONE TO KANSAS FOR A VISIT.

J. C. Peoples, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, and Mrs. Peoples left Saturday night for Kansas. They have relatives residing in several towns in that state and they will visit them two or three weeks.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Hammersmith Edgar Szink, of the Pennsylvania shops, is sick and off duty.

Machinist C. H. Knothe, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty today on account of sickness.

E. Miller, C. Decker and G. Roberts are new boilermakers' helpers at the Pennsylvania shops.

C. J. Dager, a Pennsylvania rivet heater, was the guest of friends in Chicago over Sunday.

C. T. Pidgeon, of the Pidgeon Millinery company, left yesterday for Hot Springs, Ark., to spend a few days.

George Francisco, Wabash paymaster, was here this morning handing out wage checks to employes of the company.

Machinist J. Newman, of the brake department of the Pennsylvania round house, is sick and off duty.

R. J. Fisher leaves tonight for Pittsburg in the interest of the Bass Foundry and Machine company.

Machinist C. W. Berning is absent from the Pennsylvania erecting shops today on account of sickness.

G. R. Bennett, a Pennsylvania flue welder, who had a finger injured a week ago, resumed work this morning.

A. E. Stapleford, cashier for the Nickel Plate at Stony Island, was in Fort Wayne yesterday with friends.

Frank D. Post, of the Wabash master mechanic's office, spent Sunday with relatives and friends in Chicago.

J. Mastordonato, who had a foot badly injured ten days ago, resumed work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

E. W. Koehl, clerk for Assistant Shop Foreman M. W. Kemp, is at his desk again after a visit with friends in Chicago Saturday and Sunday.

Among the passengers on train No. 9 on the Wabash this morning were J. J. Clem and W. A. Reynolds, who are going to Hot Springs and New Orleans.

William F. Mennewisch, a clerk in the Pennsylvania store room, failed to show up for work this morning on account of sickness.

O. C. Wright, assistant motive power engineer of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, is in Pittsburg on busines for the department.

After a week's illness John E. Scott, E. C. Nahrwold and James Pauley, boilermakers, reported for work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

F. J. Funck and F. Toently, tank repairmen, and J. Potoski, boilermakers' helper, are absent from the Pennsylvania shops on account of sickness.

A. L. Hadley, the head of the engineering department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is in Schenectady, N. Y., on business for the company.

Mrs. Sherwood Hinds, who has been seriously ill for some days, is now on the road to recovery. Mr. Hinds is the chief designer at the Bowser works.

Charles Moore, machinist in the Pennsylvania tool room, will return from Forest, Ohio, tonight. He spent several days there with relatives and friends.

Engineer F. E. Nikolai and Passenger Fireman F. S. Gross, of the G. R. & I., are sick with the grip. C. G. Grout, who had been sick, has resumed his place at the throttle.

Because of heavy business, Pennsylvania train No. 22, the Manhattan limited, yesterday afternoon was operated in two sections, running to Washington and New York.

C. H. Jockel, a helper in the Pennsylvania flue welding shop, had the nail torn from the index finger of his left hand this morning, when the digit was caught on the end of a flue.

Dispatcher G. D. Kaercher, an extra man in the Nickel Plate offices, is confined to his home with an attack of the grip. F. C. Evans, another dispatcher, has gone to Dennison, Ia., to spend a few days with relatives.

Floyd Allen, who recently resigned a position in the Pennsylvania pattern shop, is now working at that trade in the shops of the Acme Pattern company at Detroit. He writes that he has a good job and likes Detroit as a place to live in.

Passenger Engineer John Doescher and Yard Engineer J. M. Brown, of the Pennsylvania, are sick and off duty. Engineer W. Koch, who had been off duty a few days, resumed work this morning.

Former Ninth Ward Councilman H. G. Pinninger, now with the claims department at Toledo of the New York Central, spent Sunday in the city and called upon a number of his old friends. Mr. Pinninger was local station agent for the N. Y. C. two or three years.

Mrs. John L. Handy, of South Clinton street, is with her mother, who is quite sick, at Battle Creek, Mich. She went there about two weeks ago and the condition of her mother prevented her return. Mr. Handy is employed in the office of S. F. Bowser & Company.

The General Building and Investment company, of which A. L. Hadley, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is the president, will hold a meeting in the assembly room at the Fort Wayne Electric works tonight. The majority of the stockholders are connected with the Fort Wayne Electric works.

Road Foreman of Engines John H. Hanna, of the Pennsylvania, went to Pittsburg last night to attend to some business left in an unfinished condition when he received the appointment to his present office. He will return home tonight. Mr. Hanna's appointment became effective today.

The Pennsylvania cab building has been hard hit by the grip. Last week The Sentinel named several employes of the department who are sick and today the list received two additions—Foreman J. C. Kingenberger and A. J. Bobay. None of the sick is in a serious condition.

Assistant Division Engineer H. T. Simpson, of the Pennsylvania, has secured a lease upon the dwelling house at 3018 South Webster street and will occupy it this week. His household effects are en route here now and will probably arrive tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson formerly resided in Terre Haute.

E. R. Borden, who had been spending a few days in the city, returned to his home in Chicago last night. The young man is employed in the testing department of the big shops of the Santa Fe. He is a graduate of Purdue and during the summer vacation of the university course he worked in the local Pennsylvania shops.

There is some talk of repeating the banquet held by the Sheet Metal Workers in the App hall on Sunday, January 2. It was one of the finest social events pulled off by a labor union in the city and the menu was great, being roast chicken with all the trimmings and a lot of delicacies. Among the attendance from out of town were men from Peru, Detroit, Toledo and Montpelier.

FORMER FORT WAYNE MAN WHO IS MAKING GOOD IN RAILWAY WORK

MENDELL A. KINNEY.

A former Fort Wayne man who is getting up in railway official ranks is Mendell A. Kinney, at present the superintendent of motive power of the Hocking Valley railway, with headquarters in Columbus. He began his railway work on the Nickel Plate as an apprentice in the shops immediately after graduating from the Ashtabula high schools, in 1889, when he was seventeen years old. Soon after completing his apprenticeship, Mr. Kinney became the airbrake instructor of the Nickel Plate and in that capacity traveled over the entire line and became acquainted with all the engineers, firemen, shopmen and trainmen, as well as with the officials and the shop foremen. From 1893 to 1897 he served as a gang foreman in the Stony Island shops, being promoted in the latter year to foreman of the machine shop. Three years later, in 1900, he came to Fort Wayne to assume the foremanship of the company's round house and shops and remained here four years. Leaving the Nickel Plate in the spring of 1904, Mr. Kinney went to the Baltimore and Ohio as general foreman of the round house at Newark, Ohio, where he remained only a few months, when he went to Columbus as general foreman of the Hocking Valley. In August, 1907, he was promoted to master mechanic of that division of the Hocking Valley and October 1, 1910, he was appointed superintendent of motive power of the same road.

NO MORE STOCK FOR PRESENT.

Empress Closes and Temple Will Vary Its Program.

Inasmuch as stock has been rather unprofitable in Fort Wayne the Empress theater closed its stock company Saturday and the Temple company will close next Saturday evening. Officials of the Empress Theater Amusement company are expected to take action this week on the future policy of the house, while Manager Frank Beamer, of the Temple theater, announces that the policy of his theater would not be restricted to any particular line of attractions, indicating that the booking may be varied.

DODGE BROTHERS AMONG FIRST SIX

DETROIT CONCERN CLIMBS TO PROMINENT PLACE IN ONE YEAR.

Plant Now Covers 60 Acres and More Than $35,000,000 Worth Have Been Delivered to Retail Purchasers Since December, 1914.

New buildings under construction at the plant of Dodge Brothers, Detroit, will bring the total amount of floor space to approximately 60½ acres. This will make the establishment one of the largest motor car plants in the world.

The buildings are of steel, concrete and brick, and constructed along latest engineering plans with ample light and ventilation.

Few people have realized the immensity of the institution of Dodge Brothers. Although the first Dodge Brothers car was turned out only last December, and actual deliveries to owners started in January, the concern now ranks among the first six in automobile production.

More than thirty-five million dollars worth of cars have already been delivered and a large production is scheduled for next year.

Some idea of the magnitude of the business can be gained from the following figures:

An average of 100 carloads of material and supplies are received daily. More than 400 tons of coal are required in generating the steam used in the plant and 15,000 gallons of fuel oil are used in the heat treating and drop forge departments. About 225,000 pounds of steel are fabricated into parts each day and the foundries handle 35 tons of pig iron, 30,000 pounds of brass and 1,000 pounds of aluminum.

A striking feature of this immense enterprise is that the business is owned entirely by John F. and Horace E. Dodge. This is very impressive when it is known that only 14 years ago Dodge Brothers opened their first machine shop in Detroit in which they employed 11 men and both worked at machine and bench themselves.

They early established a reputation for quality work, in the making of automobile parts and built up a wonderful business in this line. But in 1914 they brought all their contracts for parts to a termination and turned their great facilities to the making of Dodge Brothers motor cars.

OVERLAND'S FREE SHOW OPENS TODAY

Fine Exhibit and Motion Pictures Certain to Draw Crowds.

The Overland Free Auto Show has arrived "with bells on."

This independent exhibit opened at noon today at the salesrooms of the Fort Wayne Overland company, 124-128 West Washington street, and it is not taking a long shot to say that this event is going to keep the crowd coming until midnight next Saturday when the show closes.

The decorator's art has converted the handsome Overland salesrooms into a fantasy of beauty, the glory and splendor of which has not before been seen in this city at an independent automobile show; and it is doubtful if the Overland and Willys-Knight models were ever shown with more brilliant trimmings than here seen; but this is not all. There is a marvelous exhibit of Federal tires, for which this company has the special distribution in a big territory in northeastern Indiana and western Ohio; there is also an elaborate showing of accessories and car parts, in which the Overland does an extensive jobbing business through its territory.

FRED GASKINS,
President and Manager Fort Wayne Overland Company.

The people attending this show will also enjoy the Motion Picture feature which is a distinct departure in automobile shows. On a screen in the large garage of the Overland company is projected actual scenes taken at the great Willys-Overland factory, the biggest automobile making plant in the world. Here is seen the progress in the making of an Overland car, from the raw material to the finished product. A film showing the Federal Rubber Manufacturing plant and the processes of manufacture from the crude rubber to the finished product is show in all reality. The motion picture program includes other views, comic and otherwise, making it thoroughly interesting, amusing and educational. The garage where these pictures are shown is large enough to accommodate several hundred people at one time.

Good music is a part of the enjoyable treat furnished at this show, and introduced in Fort Wayne for the first time is the wonderful Unaphone, an instrument that is a marvel for sweet yet powerful tone that holds the listener spellbound.

In anticipating that which pleases the public, Manager Fred Gaskins has done well, for the Overland show is certainly a meritorious event that everybody should see. His enterprise in this exemplifies to some degree the great achievements he and his splendid organization have accomplished in Fort Wayne by building up a "million dollar a year business."

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice the drinking of phosphated hot water before breakfast, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons in the bowels which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and refreshing effect upon the system.—Advertisement.

Mermaid, Soon an Heiress, Shocks Ship Passengers With Meager Costume.

Miss Marinet Browne

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 10.—On the way back from Waikiki beach and Honolulu, Miss Marinet Browne, a San Francisco mermaid, created a sensation on board the big liner Great Northern. The second day out she appeared on deck in a somewhat abbreviated bathing costume.

The more sedate passengers appeared shocked at first, but soon grew accustomed to the novelty. Miss Browne gave daily exhibitions in the big tank on shipboard and taught swimming to youngsters aboard, while interested passengers looked on. She is an expert swimmer, taking part in the various madcap stunts staged by daring girls here in the surf off the Cliff House.

The news that Miss Browne is soon to come into a comfortable fortune increased her popularity on the way over. She also rather shyly admitted that she had met a dashing young army officer at Honolulu and is planning a return trip.

COMING SHOW TO BE ONE GRAND SUCCESS

Poultry and Pet Stock Men Prepare to Astonish With Biggest Show.

Evidently, Fort Wayne has a right to get ready to be surprised and delighted when the big combined Triangle Poultry show and the first exhibit of the Fort Wayne Pet Stock association breaks loose on the 18th of January.

Summing up the situation today, Secretary J. J. Howenstein of the Poultry association, says: "There have been many surprises for us this year. Many big breeders who have never before exhibited their birds outside of the national shows are coming with their specimens which scooped the highest honors at the big places. Not only are all classes of birds well filled, but we are to have large displays of such varities as the Single Comb Black Leghorns, and others which are not at all common. An immense showing of White Wyandottes, Buff Plymouth Rocks and other varieties will satisfy all the fanciers, while we shall have a good many of the fancy birds to please the ladies and children and the hundreds who admire fine poultry without a technical knowledge of their value. The Chicago show had a display of seventeen bronze turkeys; we have twenty-three entries. These are but suggestions of what's doing and what will be done to provide the biggest poultry show Fort Wayne ever saw."

Pet Stock Exhibit Large

President C. S. Harris, of the Pet Stock association, announces that the entries for the pet stock show, to be given in connection with the poultry show in the Boss Manufacturing company building, on Calhoun street, two squares north of the court house, will not close until January 12.

Said Mr. Harris today: "We have had to refuse many applications from the boys and girls to exhibit their pets, because the show is conducted on the rules of the National association, which permits only members to exhibit, but the display will be an immense one. We are offering attractive prizes and many of them. A member of the association will attend the Chicago show and bring back many good pointers."

WAR BRIDE TELLS SECRETS

The most attractive girl at the Ft. Sheridan army post is so popular with the young officers that she is called the "War Bride." Her chief attraction is her beautiful complexion. To a friend, who was a society reporter, she told the secret. Every morning, and when she went out in the evening, she applied to her face and rubbed in with the finger tips a little corylok. Prepared corylok (vanishing face enamel) has been used in Paris for years. It is harmless and makes the skin soft, white and smooth. Be sure and get the corylok prepared in original ounce jars, which contain proper formula for use. This "War Bride" also said that she used sulsage (medicinal mixture of sulphur and sage) to darken and rejuvenate her hair.—Advertisement.

GRABILL NEWS.

Grabill, Ind., Jan. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Tope went to Bricelon, Ohio, to attend the funeral of the former's mother.

Arthur Wittmer has returned to Monroe, again, after spending a week here with his sister and husband, Dr. and Mrs. O. K. Hilty.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna Egly. Mrs. Grace Martz was leader and presented an interesting program.

The Missionary Sunday school held their annual election of officers for the ensuing year, with the following results: N. E. Grabill, superintendent; Eli Gerig, assistant superintendent; Ezra Roth, secretary; Miss Sarah Roth, assistant secretary; Amos Amstutz, treasurer; Safara Gerig, chorister: Miss Lillie Grabill, pianist, and Miss Lydia Roth, assistant pianist.

Owing to the fact that Rev. D. Y. Schultz was called to Chicago, the revival meetings at the Mennonite church have been discontinued for the present.

Rev. Solomon Klopfenstein, of Berne, has been here with relatives for a few days.

CHANGING THEIR ATTITUDE

Indiana Congressmen Less Favorable to Defense Plan, Dispatch Says.

Cincinnati, Jan. 10.—Members of the Indiana delegation have begun to balk at the preparedness program, says a Washington dispatch to Enquirer. The attitude of the delegation has changed perceptibly since several of them visited their districts during the holidays.

Representative Henry A. Barnhart, of the Thirteenth district, expressed his doubt about the wisdom of the program. Declaring that he placed small credence in the statements about the present poor military statue of the United States, he said:

"At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war they abused President McKinley because they said the country was not prepared and twenty men offered their services where one was needed. Ever since I have been a member of the congress we have been spending enormous sums on the army and navy. If it be true that we are not prepared then it would be well to have an investigation to ascertain what has become of this money."

Barnhart said he is in favor of strengthening the submarine facilities for defense, enlarging the coast defenses and flying machine equipment.

A Year's Growth in Good Will

A year ago this time Dodge Brothers enjoyed an enviable reputation as manufacturers of a very large volume of motor car parts.

This reputation aroused extraordinary expectations on the part of the public, when it was announced that they would build a motor car. Thousands of dealers were eager to represent them. Thousands of orders were placed by individual buyers.

But as manufacturers of motor cars Dodge Brothers were still on trial at the bar of public opinion.

The car as a car was an unknown quantity.

In January, 1915, a few of the cars were shipped from the factory; and a few individual good opinions began to be formed.

The growth of this volume of good opinion was in exact ratio, at first, to the growth of the volume of production.

But not many weeks had passed before the reputation of the car outstripped the capacity to produce.

The good news of its performance travelled faster than the supply—in sixty days' time there was a waiting list in all parts of the country.

Substantially the same state of affairs has existed ever since, and exists today, in spite of largely increased production.

There is a very pronounced and definite public opinion now in this country concerning Dodge Brothers car.

Nearly every man or woman you meet has a clear-cut idea of the kind of a car it is.

How friendly and how favorable that idea is you probably know so well that it is not necessary to go into details.

In twelve months' time the American people have bought more than thirty-five million dollars worth of Dodge Brothers cars.

This is a notable record for one year even in an industry which has been marked by many amazing achievements. For a first year, it stands absolutely unique and alone.

But the sales growth, to our way of thinking, is as nothing in importance, compared to the growth of a very favorable public opinion concerning the merits of the car.

This phase of the year's work is very gratifying to Dodge Brothers and to their representatives everywhere.

It goes without saying that Dodge Brothers will never do anything, or permit anything to be done, which might jeopardize the standing of the car with the American public

OFFICE SEEKERS ARE GETTING BUSY

With Primary Two Months Away There is No Time to Be Lost.

With the primary only a couple of months off office seekers and politicians are getting busy and soon the campaign will be on in full blast. Many conferences have already been held and both democrats and republicans are bestirring themselves for the big fight. Up to the present time the progressives have shown but little life in this section and whether they intend to even perfect an organization is not known.

At a meeting of the various democratic county chairmen, Saturday afternoon, at the Anthony hotel, it was decided to have Congressman John A. M. Adair, of the Eighth district, democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, spend a week in the Twelfth district. He will speak in the assembly room of the court house Wednesday evening, January 19, and in the afternoon a reception will be given in his honor at the Anthony hoel. The district love feast has been postponed to a later date.

Those present at the conference Saturday afternoon, which was called by District Chairman Edward G. Hoffman, were: E. C. Wemple, Lagrange, and Frank J. Dunten, Lagrange; R. A. Shoemaker, Columbia City; John Cleland, Albion; Ralph Thomas, Auburn. Mr. Hoffman represented W. A. Johnson, of Allen county.

Big Crowd Hears Watson.

A crowd that filled the assembly room of the court house to overflowing heard James E. Watson, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator, Saturday evening. Mr. Watson spent both Friday and Saturday in Fort Wayne and during those two days he held many conferences, shook many hands and greatly helped his candidacy locally. Of that there is no doubt.

"I will be nominated," he told a Sentinel reporter. "There are a couple dark spots in the state, but I think I will be able to clear these up before the primary. I was never more confident of success than I am at the present time."

In his address Saturday evening Mr. Watson devoted two hours to a discussion of the protective tariff, preparedness, the strengthening of the merchant marine, Wilson's Mexican policy, a reunited republican party and closed with a modest appeal in behalf of his own candidacy. He was given a most enthusiastic ovation.

A meeting of the Allen county democratic central committee will be held in circuit court room, No. 2, next Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

BAD COLD QUICKLY BROKEN UP.

Mrs. Martha Wilcox, Gowanda, N. Y., writes: "I first used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy about eight years ago. At that time I had a hard cold and coughed most of the time. It proved to be just what I needed. It broke up the cold in a few days, and the cough entirely disappeared. I have told many of my friends of the good I received through using this medicine, and all who have used it speak of it in the highest terms." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement

MOTION PICTURES CREATING A NEW RACE

By A. H. Giebler.

ACCORDING to Douglas Fairbanks, the well-known speaking stage player, who has adopted the screen for the proper expression of his art, the moving-picture industry will be instrumental in the birth of a new race.

A race of beautiful women and talented men who will possess such a rare combination of beauty, brains and wit, that they will be a super-race, a class that will stand far above any school of artistic endeavor yet produced—a race that will give to the coming generations the most finished and talented corps of entertainers the world has ever known.

"You see," said Fairbanks, in discussing his theory, "most of the recruits to the moving-picture ranks are young and good-looking. This is particularly true of the girls of the profession. These girls all have brains as well as youth and beauty. If they do not have brains they do not last long.

"They learn the art of expressing their feelings and emotions, and become more beautiful and more charming through this ability. Their minds are stimulated, their wits are quickened by the training they receive in the studio. They are thrown in contact with keen men, whose business it is to develop the mental powers.

"The quality we call magnetism, for want of a better name, is nothing more than a trained mind speaking the language of love and life—the inarticulate but eloquent words of the heart and soul through facial and bodily expression.

"The moving-picture studio is a splendid school for this; there is a steady stimulation to the emotions, the lessons are constant; there is never any let-up, the players as well as the directors are always striving for the utmost height of artistic expression, and that only comes through constant practice and never-ending work.

"If a young girl is found with brains and a beautiful face, who does not know how to act, she is soon taught. First, she is shown that mere beauty will not serve, there must be something behind a comely countenance. A pretty face with no light to it is a mere mask.

"The possessor of a beautiful face soon learns this; then if she does not know how to feel a part, she is taught that. Give a director a girl with a beautiful face that photographs well and he will almost commit murder to teach its owner how to act.

"It is not only the novice who is kept under the whip of stimulation; the tried and trained player often needs and always gets the same stimulation that is given the amateur.

"To illustrate: I was in the studio watching the making of a close-up. An actress, whose name is a household word, had a ring. In the long-shot scene the ring is taken away from her—the close-up is to show the agony in her face. Only one of her arms showed in the picture; the hand of the other arm was between the assistant director's hands.

"'Give up that ring,' said the director.

"'I won't,' returned the actress.

"'Ready with the camera,' called the director.

"After the crank of the camera had begun to turn, the director's assistant bent over as near as he could and keep out of the picture.

"'Give up that ring,' he hissed. Then before the actress could reply, the assistant twisted her hand till she was in acute pain.

"The actress knew what was being done, she knew she was being stimulated to feel the part. She stood perfectly still, but her face set itself into lines of suffering.

"'I won't!' she said, between rigid jaws, with just the expression the director wanted.

"The close-up was a success. The suggestion of the mental pain was given her by the aid of physical pain. She registered the emotion perfectly.

"Another well-known actress playing opposite a prominent man in a picture reached the studio on a day when the director planned to make some tensely emotional scenes, in which the girl played.

"When she was rehearsed she did not show the mood for the proper expression of the part; she was inelastic; her emotional faculties were at very low ebb.

"The director decided that the only thing to do was to apply a stimulant, and one that would arouse her from her emotional lethargy—something that would be a severe shock.

"He walked up to her in an aggressive manner.

"'See here, Miss X.,' he bullied, 'you've got no possible excuse for being an actress. You get a big salary, but you can't act because you can't think. What right have you to the salary you draw?'

"The girl was speechless with anger; her emotions were aroused, all right, but the director was not satisfied; he wanted to be sure of his effect. So he gave her a shaking.

"'Now if you don't do what I want this time, and do it correctly, I'll get one of these extra girls to come up here and show you how to do it.' . . .

"'You beast!' the girl managed to stammer, her features working, her whole mind speaking in her face. There was nothing wrong with her emotions now, or the means of expressing them.

"The director knew he had gained his end. He turned to the actress, all politeness.

"'Now that you are entirely emotional, Miss X.,' he said, 'we'll do the scene, and I wish to apologize for everything.'

"In this manner the players are being constantly taught.

"This stimulation to the emotions is kept up, not only in the manner indicated, but in a dozen other ways. The actors and directors are always working in perfect harmony in pursuit of the same end, the players to make their work as perfect as possible that they may win the plaudits of the world and the director that the finished product of his skill may fittingly compete with the finished product of a hundred other directors who are also striving for the same end.

"The result of this constant intellectual training quickens the intelligence, broadens the minds of the players of either sex, for the men are kept at the same fever heat of endeavor as the women. They marry, and their children will inherit from the parents not only their physical beauty, but their mental alertness. They will continue in the profession of their parents, and a new race will be the result."

There is much truth to Fairbanks' theory. Every actor or actress who expects to travel very far along the road to success as a picture player must have four primary requisites—youth, brains, health and beauty.

With these qualities they enter the studio, and with the education and stimulation that is given to the intelligence and the care that is taken of their health they develop far beyond the possibilities of any other calling.

"The work of the picture player is of the most pleasant character. It is highly profitable. Most of their work is done out in the open air and sunshine. They live pleasant lives and are always in an atmosphere of high artistic endeavor.

The picture players are clannish. The young men and women of the studios intermarry, seven weddings being reported from one studio recently. The children of these people will be the product of the most perfect system of natural eugenics in the world.

They will inherit their parents' beauty of face and form and intelligence. They will grow up in the rarified and artistic air of the studios and there may not be many diplomats or savants in their ranks, but there will be artists, clever and versatile to a superlative degree.

Many will ask why this condition has not come about through the intermarriage on the regular stage. Here are the answers to the argument:

The people of the regular stage are not always young and beautiful; indeed, most of the speaking-stage players are old and worn before they have attained anything like success, while the screen world shows many mere boys and girls already at the very top of the ladder of fame.

The picture-play game is essentially a game of youth and beauty. The regular stage player does not need beauty, he has the friendly make-up box and the hare's foot to cover the deficiencies of nature and the lines of time.

The regular actor repeats the lines that other men write in the play for him. His work is mechanical, he is a mere talking machine. He mouths the same stale lines day and night for an entire season at a time. There is no stimulus to the emotions as in motion-picture acting, where the player works in a new play each week.

The life of the regular actor is hard. He is buffeted about from town to town, and one-third of the time is out of work altogether.

The screen player has a comfortable home and the society of hundreds of his fellow-players.

The regular actor seldom marries, and when he does, and has children, he sometimes does not see them from one season to another. Very few of the regular stage players' children adopt the profession of their parents.

It is said that the children of Richard Mansfield were kept in utter ignorance of their father's work until his death.

The screen players' children are reared in the studio, they are actors almost from the cradle up. Their parents are anxious for their children to adopt the work because they know it is profitable.

Douglas Fairbanks is right. The moving pictures will breed a new race, such a race of entertainers as the world has never seen.

Moving Pictures Teach History

THOMAS A. EDISON once said, "Give me a motion-picture machine and I'll teach more history in fifteen minutes than instructors and text-books can drill into the minds of pupils in a month."

There is no doubt but the average man, the man of the shop and office, who has perhaps been denied the opportunity of a classical education, has a better working knowledge of contemporary history and geography than had the college-bred men of fifteen or twenty years ago. And all this has been accomplished with the moving-picture camera and the projection machine.

The makers of pictures are realizing the importance of the great educational value of the films from a geographical and historical standpoint, and spare neither time nor money to make the pictures correct.

You may sit in the theater and see the main street of Tecumseh, Tenn., and know that you are looking at actual photographs of the places. The search for exactness in local color and topography is not confined to the travel or educational pictures, a drama or comedy that has a scene or character of any historical value is given the proper setting and background.

A woman residing in Springfield, Ill., relates an incident that illustrates the search for local color on the part of the film producers.

"I had passed the Lincoln home hundreds of times," she said, in speaking of the occurrence, "without giving the place any more than the hurried attention we bestow on a place we are familiar with, no matter how rich in association it may be, but one day, as I approached the Lincoln house, I was stopped in wonder and amazement.

"Just as I was within a few feet of the house a tall gaunt figure wearing the familiar tall hat and shawl, came from the house, walking slowly, with bent head and eyes downcast, and face set in lines of the sorrows of the nation we know he carried in his heart during his last days.

"I was dumfounded with the utter realism of the thing. It was Abraham Lincoln come to life, walking out of his house to the street, and I was there witnessing the miracle. Then I heard a clicking sound and took another step that brought me back to earth. I took my eyes away from the ghosts of the past and saw a man with a moving-picture camera and another with a sheaf of papers. I had almost walked into a moving-picture drama.

"I learned afterward that the man playing the part of Lincoln was Ralph Ince, the Vitagraph actor, famous for his Lincoln characterizations, who had come all the way from Brooklyn, N. Y., with a company of actors, to take one picture of Lincoln in the spot where he had lived."

Neva Gerber's Farewell.

WHEN Neva Gerber left Santa Barbara, Cal., on the completion of her engagement with the American Company, she started in her automobile for Los Angeles, and before she got away her car looked like a wedding carriage with its wealth of beautiful flowers. All the players were sorry to see her go, and she will long remember her leave taking, even if it did leave her eyes moist.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Higher cable quotations and falling off in Minneapolis and Duluth receipts helped give a lift today to the wheat market here. Besides there were reports of a scarcity of good milling wheat in Ohio and Indiana. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼c to ½c higher, with May at 126¼ to $1.26½ and July at $1.18½ to $1.18¾, were followed by substantial further gains, but then a moderate sag.

The close was weak, ⅝@¾c to 1⅜c net lower.

Export talk and foreign buying of futures made the corn market strong. After opening ½@⅝c up to ⅞c up, the market ascended a little further before beginning to react.

The close was steady at ⅛@¼c to ¼c net advance.

Commission houses were active in purchasing oats.

Provisions showed remarkable strength.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 10.—Nominal gains and losses attended the resumption of trading today, leading shares showing few noteworthy changes from last week's final quotations. Dealings at the outset lacked the animation of recent sessions, except in certain specialties such as coppers and oil. U. S. Steel opened with the smallest fractional gain but soon fell back and reactionary tendencies were later manifested by other leaders. Selling pressure became more market before the expiration of the first half hour, Steel, American Smelting, Mexican Petroleum and some of the active war issues then showing declines of one to three points.

Substantial recoveries from the early decline, precipitated in part by short selling, were made in the first hour, the rally in some instances making up more than half the loss. Pressure was renewed on the recovery, however, representative issus falling to or under previous minimums. Steel was the center of an active selling movement. New Haven was one of the few railroads to show strength, presumably on the outcome of the recent trial. Studebaker was among the weak specialties, declining 5⅛ to 154⅞. Bonds were lower.

THE WEATHER.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity (radius 20 miles): Much colder and fair tonight and Tuesday, with cold wave.
For Indiana: Much colder and generally fair tonight and Tuesday, with a cold wave.
For Ohio: Rain south, rain or snow north portion tonight, colder; Tuesday much colder, with a cold wave; fair except local snows near Lake Erie.
For Lower Michigan: Snow tonight, much colder, with a cold wave; Tuesday local snows and colder.
Shippers' forecast (radius 300 miles): Protect shipments during the next 24 to 36 hours from temperatures as follows: North, 5 to 10 degrees; east, 10 to 15; south, 15 to 20; west 10 to 10.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A storm of considerable energy overlies the lake region, and another is centered in Nevada and Idaho. The pressure is high along the Atlantic coast and another high of considerable magnitude, accompanied by a cold wave, covers the northwestern states. The temperatures are generally above the seasonal average in eastern and southern sections. In the northwestern states and the Canadian northwest temperatures range from zero in the former to more than 30 degrees below zero in the latter districts. During the last 24 hours precipitation occurred quite generally in the northern tier of states, and in those states to the west of the Rocky mountains.

FRENCH AND BRITISH ALL QUIT GALLIPOLI

Berlin, Jan. 10.—(Via Sayville.)—"The news of the definite failure of the Dardanelles expedition aroused enormous joy and satisfaction in Constantinople," says the Overseas news agency, in a message distributed today. "Bunting was displayed and the schools were closed."

"The Berlin newspapers," continues the message, "point out the loss of prestige which this means for the British, besides the enormous losses of men, ships and money. They recall the proud words of Mr. Asquith in parliament on the 9th of November, 1914, that the Turkish empire had committed suicide and had dug its own grave, and those of Mr. Churchill at a later date that through the Dardanelles lay the shortest route to triumphant peace. The newspapers further call attention to the fact that important Turkish contingents are now free for action in other fields."

Says Transport Was Sunk.

The sinking of a transport ship of the allies, filled with troops at the time of the withdrawal of the French and British forces from the tip of the Gallipoli peninsula, is reported in Constantinople dispatches given out today by the Overseas news agency.

ALL OUT SAFELY, SAYS LONDON.

London, Jan. 10.—British and French troops have been withdrawn entirely from Gallipoli. This announcement was made officially last night by the war office, which declares that the evacuation was completed without the loss of a single life. Only one British soldier, it is announced, was wounded, and of the great number of guns still remaining at Seddul Bahr, all save seventeen of the worn-out cannon were removed, and those left were destroyed.

Vacant Rooms? Don't Worry

If you have not found a tenant for your room, there's no use despairing and "publishing" the fact all over in scare headlines.

"There are just as good tenants in the city as ever been gotten."

The best way to reach them is to place your "For Rent" ad. in the paper that the tenants read. In Fort Wayne nearly everyone takes The Sentinel and reads Sentinel want ads.

MOTION PICTURES CREATING A NEW RACE

By A. H. Giebler.

ACCORDING to Douglas Fairbanks, the well-known speaking stage player, who has adopted the screen for the proper expression of his art, the moving-picture industry will be instrumental in the birth of a new race.

A race of beautiful women and talented men who will possess such a rare combination of beauty, brains and wit, that they will be a super-race, a class that will stand far above any school of artistic endeavor yet produced; a race that will give to the coming generations the most finished and talented corps of entertainers the world has ever known.

"You see," said Fairbanks, in discussing his theory, "most of the recruits to the moving-picture ranks are young and good-looking. This is particularly true of the girls of the profession. These girls all have brains as well as youth and beauty. If they do not have brains they do not last long.

"They learn the art of expressing their feelings and emotions, and become more beautiful and more charming through this ability. Their minds are stimulated, their wits are quickened by the training they receive in the studio. They are thrown in contact with keen men, whose business it is to develop the mental powers.

"The quality we call magnetism, for want of a better name, is nothing more than a trained mind speaking the language of love and life—the inarticulate but eloquent words of the heart and soul through facial and bodily expression.

"The moving-picture studio is a splendid school for this; there is a steady stimulation to the emotions, the lessons are constant; there is never any let-up, the players as well as the directors are always striving for the utmost height of artistic expression, and that only comes through constant practice and never-ending work.

"If a young girl is found with brains and a beautiful face, who does not know how to act, she is soon taught. First, she is shown that mere beauty will not serve, there must be something behind a comely countenance. A pretty face with no light to it is a mere mask.

"The possessor of a beautiful face soon learns this; then if she does not know how to feel a part, she is taught that. Give a director a girl with a beautiful face that photographs well and he will almost commit murder to teach its owner how to act.

"It is not only the novice who is kept under the whip of stimulation; the tried and trained player often needs and always gets the same stimulation that is given the amateur.

"To illustrate: I was in the studio watching the making of a close-up. An actress, whose name is a household word, had a ring. In the long-shot scene the ring is taken away from her—the close-up is to show the agony in her face. Only one of her arms showed in the picture; the hand of the other arm was between the assistant director's hands.

"'Give up that ring,' said the director.

"'I won't,' returned the actress.

"'Ready with the camera,' called the director.

"After the crank of the camera had begun to turn, the director's assistant bent over as near as he could and keep out of the picture.

"'Give up that ring,' he hissed. Then before the actress could reply, the assistant twisted her hand till she was in acute pain.

"The actress knew what was being done, she knew she was being stimulated to feel the part. She stood perfectly still, but her face set itself into lines of suffering.

"'I won't!' she said, between rigid jaws, with just the expression the director wanted.

"The close-up was a success. The suggestion of the mental pain was given her by the aid of physical pain. She registered the emotion perfectly.

"Another well-known actress playing opposite a prominent man in a picture reached the studio on a day when the director planned to make some tensely emotional scenes, in which the girl played.

"When she was rehearsed she did not show the mood for the proper expression of the part; she was inelastic; her emotional faculties were at very low ebb.

"The director decided that the only thing to do was to apply a stimulant, and one that would arouse her from her emotional lethargy—something that would be a severe shock.

"He walked up to her in an aggressive manner.

"'See here, Miss X.,' he bullied, 'you've got no possible excuse for being an actress. You get a big salary, but you can't act because you can't think. What right have you to the salary you draw?'

"The girl was speechless with anger; her emotions were aroused, all right, but the director was not satisfied; he wanted to be sure of his effect. So he gave her a shaking.

"'Now if you don't do what I want this time, and do it correctly, I'll get one of these extra girls to come up here and show you how to do it.'

"'You beast!' the girl managed to stammer, her features working, her whole mind speaking in her face. There was nothing wrong with her emotions now, or the means of expressing them.

"The director knew he had gained his end. He turned to the actress, all politeness.

"'Now that you are entirely emotional, Miss X.,' he said, 'we'll do the scene, and I wish to apologize for everything.'

"In this manner the players are being constantly taught.

"This stimulation to the emotions is kept up, not only in the manner indicated, but in a dozen other ways. The actors and directors are always working in perfect harmony in pursuit of the same end, the players to make their work as perfect as possible that they may win the plaudits of the world and the director that the finished product of his skill may fittingly compete with the finished product of a hundred other directors who are also striving for the same end.

"The result of this constant intellectual training quickens the intelligence, broadens the minds of the players of either sex, for the men are kept at the same fever heat of endeavor as the women. They marry, and their children will inherit from the parents not only their physical beauty, but their mental alertness. They will continue in the profession of their parents, and a new race will be the result."

There is much truth to Fairbanks' theory. Every actor or actress who expects to travel very far along the road to success as a picture player must have four primary requisites—youth, brains, health and beauty.

With these qualities they enter the studio, and with the education and stimulation that is given to the intelligence and the care that is taken of their health they develop far beyond the possibilities of any other calling.

"The work of the picture player is of the most pleasant character. It is highly profitable. Most of their work is done out in the open air and sunshine. They live pleasant lives and are always in an atmosphere of high artistic endeavor.

The picture players are clannish. The young men and women of the studios intermarry, seven weddings being reported from one studio recently. The children of these people will be the product of the most perfect system of natural eugenics in the world.

They will inherit their parents' beauty of face and form and intelligence. They will grow up in the rarified and artistic air of the studios and there may not be many diplomats or savants in their ranks, but there will be artists, clever and versatile to a superlative degree.

Many will ask why this condition has not come about through the intermarriage on the regular stage. Here are the answers to the argument:

The people of the regular stage are not always young and beautiful; indeed, most of the speaking-stage players are old and worn before they have attained anything like success, while the screen world shows many mere boys and girls already at the very top of the ladder of fame.

The picture-play game is essentially a game of youth and beauty. The regular stage player does not need beauty, he has the friendly make-up box and the hare's foot to cover the deficiencies of nature and the lines of time.

The regular actor repeats the lines that other men write in the play for him. His work is mechanical, he is a mere talking machine. He mouths the same stale lines day and night for an entire season at a time. There is no stimulus to the emotions as in motion-picture acting, where the player works in a new play each week.

The life of the regular actor is hard. He is buffeted about from town to town, and one-third of the time is out of work altogether.

The screen player has a comfortable home and the society of hundreds of his fellow-players.

The regular actor seldom marries, and when he does, and has children, he sometimes does not see them from one season to another. Very few of the regular stage players' children adopt the profession of their parents.

It is said that the children of Richard Mansfield were kept in utter ignorance of their father's work until his death.

The screen players' children are reared in the studio, they are actors almost from the cradle up. Their parents are anxious for their children to adopt the work because they know it is profitable.

Douglas Fairbanks is right. The moving pictures will breed a new race, such a race of entertainers as the world has never seen.

Moving Pictures Teach History

THOMAS A. EDISON once said, "Give me a motion-picture machine and I'll teach more history in fifteen minutes than instructors and text-books can drill into the minds of pupils in a month."

There is no doubt but the average man, the man of the shop and office, who has perhaps been denied the opportunity of a classical education, has a better working knowledge of contemporary history and geography than had the college-bred men of fifteen or twenty years ago. And all this has been accomplished with the moving-picture camera and the projection machine.

The makers of pictures are realizing the importance of the great educational value of the films from a geographical and historical standpoint, and spare neither time nor money to make the pictures correct.

You may sit in the theater and see the main street of Tecumseh, Tenn., and know that you are looking at actual photographs of the places. The search for exactness in local color and topography is not confined to the travel or educational pictures, a drama or comedy that has a scene or character of any historical value is given the proper setting and background.

A woman residing in Springfield, Ill., relates an incident that illustrates the search for local color on the part of the film producers.

"I had passed the Lincoln home hundreds of times," she said, in speaking of the occurrence, "without giving the place any more than the hurried attention we bestow on a place we are familiar with, no matter how rich in association it may be, but one day, as I approached the Lincoln house, I was stopped in wonder and amazement.

"Just as I was within a few feet of the house a tall gaunt figure wearing the familiar tall hat and shawl, came from the house, walking slowly, with bent head and eyes downcast, and face set in lines of the sorrows of the nation we know he carried in his heart during his last days.

"I was dumfounded with the utter realism of the thing. It was Abraham Lincoln come to life, walking out of his house to the street, and I was there witnessing the miracle. Then I heard a clicking sound and took another step that brought me back to earth. I took my eyes away from the ghosts of the past and saw a man with a moving-picture camera and another with a sheaf of papers. I had almost walked into a moving-picture drama.

"I learned afterward that the man playing the part of Lincoln was Ralph Ince, the Vitagraph actor, famous for his Lincoln characterizations, who had come all the way from Brooklyn, N. Y., with a company of actors, to take one picture of Lincoln in the spot where he had lived."

Neva Gerber's Farewell.

WHEN Neva Gerber left Santa Barbara, Cal., on the completion of her engagement with the American Company, she started in her automobile for Los Angeles, and before she got away her car looked like a wedding carriage with its wealth of beautiful flowers. All the players were sorry to see her go, and she will long remember her leave taking, even if it did leave her eyes moist.

FRENCH AND BRITISH ALL QUIT GALLIPOLI

Berlin, Jan. 10.—(Via Sayville.)—"The news of the definite failure of the Dardanelles expedition aroused enormous joy and satisfaction in Constantinople," says the Overseas news agency, in a message distributed today. "Bunting was displayed and the schools were closed."

"The Berlin newspapers," continues the message, "point out the loss of prestige which this means for the British, besides the enormous losses of men, ships and money. They recall the proud words of Mr. Asquith in parliament on the 9th of November, 1914, that the Turkish empire had committed suicide and had dug its own grave, and those of Mr. Churchill at a later date that through the Dardanelles lay the shortest route to triumphant peace. The newspapers further call attention to the fact that important Turkish contingents are now free for action in other fields."

Says Transport Was Sunk.

The sinking of a transport ship of the allies, filled with troops at the time of the withdrawal of the French and British forces from the tip of the Gallipoli peninsula, is reported in Constantinople dispatches given out today by the Overseas news agency.

ALL OUT SAFELY, SAYS LONDON.

London, Jan. 10.—British and French troops have been withdrawn entirely from Gallipoli. This announcement was made officially last night by the war office, which declares that the evacuation was completed without the loss of a single life. Only one British soldier, it is announced, was wounded, and of the great number of guns still remaining at Seddul Bahr, all save seventeen of the worn-out cannon were removed, and those left were destroyed.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Higher cable quotations and falling off in Minneapolis and Duluth receipts helped give a lift today to the wheat market here. Besides there were reports of a scarcity of good milling wheat in Ohio and Indiana. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼c to ⅜c higher, with May at 126¼ to $1.26½ and July at $1.13½ to $1.13¾, were followed by substantial further gains, but then a moderate sag.

The close was weak, ⅝@⅝c to 1⅛c net lower.

Export talk and foreign buying of futures made the corn market strong. After opening ½@⅝c up to ⅞c up, the market ascended a little further before beginning to react.

The close was steady at ⅛@¼c to ¼c net advance.

Commission houses were active in purchasing oats.

Provisions showed remarkable strength.

Vacant Rooms? Don't Worry

If you have not found a tenant for your room, there's no use despairing and "publishing" the fact all over in scare headlines.

"There are just as good tenants in the city as ever been gotten."

The best way to reach them is to place your "For Rent" ad. in the paper that the tenants read. In Fort Wayne nearly everyone takes The Sentinel and reads Sentinel want ads.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 10.—Nominal gains and losses attended the resumption of trading today, leading shares showing few noteworthy changes from last week's final quotations. Dealings at the outset lacked the animation of recent sessions, except in certain specialties such as coppers and oil. U. S. Steel opened with the smallest fractional gain but soon fell back and reactionary tendencies were later manifested by other leaders. Selling pressure became more market before the expiration of the first half hour, Steel, American Smelting, Mexican Petroleum and some of the active war issues then showing declines of one to three points.

Substantial recoveries from the early decline, precipitated in part by short selling, were made in the first hour, the rally in some instances making up more than half the loss. Pressure was renewed on the recovery, however, representative issus falling to or under previous minimums. Steel was the center of an active selling movement. New Haven was one of the few railroads to show strength, presumably on the outcome of the recent trial. Studebaker was among the weak specialties, declining 5⅛ to 154⅞. Bonds were lower.

THE WEATHER.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity (radius 20 miles): Much colder and fair tonight and Tuesday, with cold wave.

For Indiana: Much colder and generally fair tonight and Tuesday, with a cold wave.

For Ohio: Rain south, rain or snow north portion tonight, colder; Tuesday much colder, with a cold wave; fair except local snows near Lake Erie.

For Lower Michigan: Snow tonight, much colder, with a cold wave; Tuesday local snows and colder.

Shippers' forecast (radius 300 miles): Protect shipments during the next 24 to 36 hours from temperatures as follows: North, 5 to 10 degrees; east, 10 to 15; south, 15 to 20; west 10 to 10.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A storm of considerable energy overlies the lake region, and another is centered in Nevada and Idaho. The pressure is high along the Atlantic coast and another high of considerable magnitude, accompanied by a cold wave, covers the northwestern states. The temperatures are generally above the seasonal average in eastern and southern sections. In the northwestern states and the Canadian northwest temperatures range from zero in the former to more than 30 degrees below zero in the latter districts. During the last 24 hours precipitation occurred quite generally in the northern tier of states, and in those states to the west of the Rocky mountains.

WILL EXTEND TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT

No Vacation to Be Taken Between November and February Terms.

There will not be the customary vacation of one week between terms of the circuit court when the November term end is reached January 20. Judge John W. Eggeman on Monday issued an order extending the term through the following week in order that business that there will not otherwise be time enough to dispatch may be cleared away before the February term begins February 6. The tribunal will continue to grind through the week that is customarily a vacation.

The circuit court has given judgment for the plaintiff in the suit of Horace Marriotte vs. Vern Morrison to replevin a cash register and a computing scale, decreeing that the plaintiff is entitled to immediate possession of the property.

In the suit of Christian Kiefer vs. the Miller Showcase company the circuit court has granted the petition of the receiver to employ labor and purchase materials to complete some unfinished work and orders.

The suit of Abraham and Isaac Weil et al. vs. the Crohen & Roden company, has been dismissed from the superior court.

Let His Wife Earn the Living.

In a voluminous complaint filed in the superior court Grace Wilson sets out at length and with much detail that her husband, Lester Wilson, was perfectly willing to let her go out to work as a domestic and canvassing for orders and to take in sewing to procure the means for supporting herself and little child, while he contributed nothing. She says that in the early part of the winter of 1913 he did this with perfect complacency and once when she returned home at night from her labors tired and hungry and asked him to go out and buy some meat for supper he said: "Meat- H—l, I don't buy meat for myself and I'm sure I won't buy any for you." She says also that he constantly nagged and quarreled and by his failure to provide and refusal to care for their child at home while she was out at work compelled her to place the little one in the home of others to be clothed, fed and cared for at her expense. They were married in 1907 and separated last October. The plaintiff asks a decree of absolute divorce, the custody of the child and $150 alimony. T. O. Nelson is her attorney.

Young Burglar Is Sentenced.

Raymond O'Brien, aged 23 years, was found guilty in the circuit court, Monday, on a charge of burglary and was sentenced to from two to fourteen years in the Indiana reformatory. O'Brien had pleaded guilty in the city court when arraigned for preliminary hearing, but insisted on making a fight in the circuit court, taking the ground that he was full of "dope" at the time he was accused of breaking into and robbing the dental office of Dr. E. L. Sieber, 916 Calhoun street, two weeks ago, and did not know what he did. The instruments, metal and narcotic drugs he stole from the Sieber office were found on him when he was arrested in Peru. Young O'Brien is a confirmed "dope fiend."

Notes of the Courts.

The suit of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad vs. the Indiana Lighting company has been set for trial in the circuit court March 3.

The circuit court has granted a change of venue to DeKalb county in the case of Theresa Kalbacher vs. Abraham Kiernan to recover $300 on a complaint for conversion.

WILL REPAIR A WASHOUT.

County Highway Superintendent William Tonkel went out to the northern part of the county Monday afternoon to direct the repairing of the Warner-Tonkel road, a line highway between Cedar Creke and Perry townships. There has been a washout about a mile north of the Cedar creek. Superintendent Tonkel had expected such an emergency and when the road was completed over a year purchased of the contractor a car load of crushed stone and this is on the ground about one hundred yards from the washout.

COUNTY VITAL STATISTICS.

According to the report just compiled by Dr. E. M. Van Buskirk, county health officer, there were during the month of December 58 births and 32 deaths in the county during the month. During the same period there were five cases of diphtheria, three of them in the city and eight cases of scarlet fever, four of them in the city. There were also seven cases of measles and twenty-four of chickenpox.

FINDS OLDEST DATED AMERICAN ANTIQUITY

Our Land Was Civilized 102 Years Before Christ, Says Savant.

By F. M. Kerby

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—The only man in the United States who can decipher the ancient glyphic inscriptions of the Maya, the early inhabitants of southern Mexico and northern Central America, has just identified the oldest American antiquity in existence.

Maya date of "102 B. C." courtesy of R. E. Ulbright, is composed

A small stone statue, found near Vera Cruz, Mexico, by a peon in 1902, has been identified by Sylvanus G. Morley of the Carnegie Institution as bearing an inscription showing that it was made 102 years before Christ. This is the oldest authenticated date in the New World.

The little image, which came to the United States national museum originally through the

a rounded conical form, about 6 1-2 inches in height and 3 3-4 inches in diameter at the base. Its general outlines give the impression of an old Mexican idol or priest, in a cape or cassock.

On the front, sides and back of the figure are the peculiar characters called glyphs in which the Maya wrote their early history and achievements. So far, only dates can be deciphered.

Thirty years ago Maya inscriptions were a sealed book, but now the outline of Maya history can be followed by means of the calendric parts of the ancient inscriptions. Morley has outlined the fall of several cities in relation to one another, and has followed the course of the native development, even though the background cannot be filled in.

GAY FOX TROTS HELP STENOGS SPEED UP IN WRITING BUSINESS LETTERS.

Miss E. B. Dearborn helping a young typish speed up to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," played on the phono graph.

Should your New Year's duns have a gladsome, jingly ring to them, should your "please remit" reminders breathe forth the melody of the "Anvil Chorus" or the "Knockers' Serenade"? here's the reason of it.

Typists now typewrite to music; they write duns to fox-trot tunes, legal documens to waltz and bills of sale to minuets. Not all, but a great many large business establishments now consider "canned" music a necessary part of their office equipment.

Instead of serving afternoon tea to revive the flagging spirits and limber fingers of weary typists some one turns on "Yanky Doodle" or "The Blue Danube" or "The Sari Waltz." Away go the typists' fingers dancing, prancing, one-stepping, trotting over the keyboard. "We must insist on immediate remittance" hums the ivory keys to the gay tune of "I don't know the meaning of care"; "we hope you will be interested in this choice piece of real estate," chirps the keys to the air of "The Blue Danube."

The typewriting-to-music scheme doesn't come out of Naples or Vienna. Its home is Red Bank, N. J., and Miss E. B. Dearborn, director of business education in the Red Bank high school, is its author.

"Iron Horse" Ash Sifter

You place the ashes in the hopper.
You turn the crank.
The ashes drop into the barrel and the good coals run out into the awaiting bucket.

Little time or labor; no dust nor dirt; big saving in fuel bills. This ash sifter can be made to pay for itself in a very short while. You should have one in your home. Why not buy it now and begin your saving at once?
